Dedicatory

Mr. and Miss Central, Court and Attendants, Mr. Cowan, Class of 2004, Parents, and Honored Guests. Imagine your name cast in bronze and embedded in a large pink star surrounded by black terrazzo. Imagine thousands of tourists each year traveling millions of miles to catch a glimpse of your star. The sidewalks of eighteen blocks of Hollywood Boulevard, bisected by three blocks of Vine Street are almost littered with these unusual trinkets. The Hollywood Walk of Fame, lying in the shadows of movie studios, record companies, glamorous shops and, of course, a skyscraper, is a whimsical memorial to the achievements of actors, musicians, Mickey Mouse, and many others in the entertainment world.

When I viewed this collection a few years ago, I could not help but think how odd that being recognized on a sidewalk is as coveted as an Oscar, Grammy, or Tony Award. What is it about this star that makes it so special?

When I was in the second grade, (don't worry, this isn't a chicken or pig story) my mother signed me up to take piano lessons from one of the two old maids in my little town. Miss Jean would come to my school every week and quietly take me out of class and lead me down to the empty audition stage where an old piano resided behind the heavy, velvet curtains. There I would struggle with page after page of this very difficult book of music called Teaching Little Fingers to Play.

Each lesson would begin at the same place in the book, and end with struggling through a few measures of a new, more difficult piece. After thirty minutes I would give her two dollars my mother sent, and quickly go back to class. About the fourth or fifth lesson, after playing the first song in the book for her, she looked at me in the back and placed it in the bottom corner of that page of my book. Now, I had received stars before on a big wall chart in Sunday school for being present, or bringing my Bible to class, but I never thought it was all that special because it never really required any effort on my part. My parents made sure I was there, properly dressed, equipped with my Bible, and in the wintertime, a Kleenex in my pocket.

This star was so very different. I had EARNED this star by my own effort. I had practiced "Birthday Party" over and over at home. I had trained my little fingers to hit the right keys. I had learned each part perfectly, and I even knew how to play it without looking at the music. I was very proud of that star and the few that came afterwards. After a few years, though, the stars gave way to just checkmarks, but the meaning was still the same. I had earned them.

Today, you all have a star with your name on it somewhere in this gym. It is yours to take home and do with whatever you please. I know, it is just a piece of paper, but it represents something special, because all of your classmates from the past three years do not have a star here today. For various reasons, earning this recognition was not possible for them.

You have the right to be proud, and even be more proud of the certificate that will be handed to you on the 21st of May. You are the ones, perhaps with strong encouragement from parents or teachers, who made it through all the English papers, the algebra problems, the biology dissections, the Gateway exams, chemistry, performance tasks, summatives, and many other seemingly endless requirements. You will have met the goals, by your effort, indicating you are worthy of a star called a high school diploma. No one did this for you; it is yours, and can never be taken away.

It is my hope that this is not the last star you deserve and receive. Not only will further educational success, career success and even brighter one, but other facets of your life will add to your collection. Being a thankful son or daughter, a loving husband or wife, a patient mother or father, a good citizen, a trusted friend, an honest employee, a leader in the community or church, will earn you more stars.

American essayist Ralph Waldo Emerson wrote, "To laugh often and much; to win the respect of intelligent people and the affection of children - to leave the world a better place; to know even one life has breathed easier because you have lived. This is to have succeeded."

I see many success stories as I look out over the Class of 2004. I see those who have served as mentors, class leaders, office and teachers' aides, peer tutors, service club members, academic competitors, musicians, ROTC medallists, sports participants, cheerleaders, class clowns who made us "laugh often and much," and those who refused to succumb to the temptation of cheating for grades. I want to applaud you for earning your stars of success from Central High School.

You will always be a very special class for me. Not only for giving me this honor of being your dedicatory, but for the many memories we have shared together. Some of you sitting here today were with me in E-103, 2nd block, Sept. 11, 2001. Mr. Hill came on the intercom and announced for teachers to turn on the TV as there was "an event happening in New York and Washington." We sat quietly together watching the buildings fall and the Pentagon burn, and we knew we were witnessing a critical historical moment.

I felt a special bond with you that day. People from my generation sometimes ask, "Where were you when President Kennedy was shot?" And we all remember, "Where were you on 9/11?" I will remember being with you. The world is never the same after such "events", and I know it will not be the last. But my wish and hope is that in spite of major changes, you will continue to gather stars for yourselves, for our community, and for our country. Then others will breathe easier "because you have earned."

Continue to Shine, Class of 2004!

Journey to the Stars

On this stage of our lives the curtain falls closed.
What is in store for us now we still don't know.

We've walked together these past four years, but the time has come for a change.
We journey now towards a walk of the stars that seems so far away.

This new journey may be difficult and at times the path might be steep.
Look down deep inside of yourself and you'll find all the strength you need.

Do not worry if you stumble or fall along the way.
Just pick yourself back up again and go on with the day.

When critics make their harsh remarks, know that this much is true:
They have no idea what it's actually like to be walking in your shoes.

Every step we take puts us closer to our hopes and dreams.
The journey may not be easy, but the end will justify its means.

The path laid out in front of us was made for us to take.
Now amongst the stars, we walk and take our place.

—Lindsay Waggoner, CO 2004

The History of the Class of 2004

It's time to tell our red carpet for the 2003-2004 High School year. Back in 2003, each one made their debut as a freshman and have just completed their final sequel as seniors.

Looking on from their first roles, Capriil Hacker starred as president, Andrew Thomas as vice president, Courtney Smith as treasurer and Randy Carlson as secretary. Supporting actors from Student Council were Beth Cotter, Cand Ashley and John Matthews. Ryan Wilson starred his role as "The Fresh Prince" while Michael Davisport and Austin Hillman starred as the Purple Panthers football team with three others. Tom Morgan sat and off as the star golfer, and Scotty Adams ran for the cross-country team. Tim Took and another made the volleyball team district champs for the first time in Central's history. Blake Nichols, Joe Latch and Chris Knutke kicked several goals while Casey Freeman earned the lion. Women's Assembla on soccer, Ryan Merriman and Jared Munson, along with Chris Latch, defended the ball down the court as star varsity basketball players while Matt Whitliffe and two others did the same on JV. Courtney Dawson stepped in and kept the Lady Panthers team going with the help of four more players. Sandy Mealy served on the tennis team, and Rachel Logan ran on the track team. As wrestling cheerleaders, Morgan Stephenson, Tara Hoffman and two other smiling faces cheered on Corey Tompkins and two other warriors. The softball team starred Crystal Leaman and Holly Woodall as Jordan Roberts hit home runs for the baseball team and four Diamond Dolls showed their sporty, fifty-nine students made it through Cultural Studies with Mrs. Statton and Mr. Houghton. Casey Freeman served the Spanish Club as president while Melissa Marshall and Matt Campbell were leading French. The color guard earned three new members, and around 21 band members marched with Amy Hartman while Rachel Brown and Lauren Carroll sang in the freshman choir with 25 others. FCCLA had ten new faces, and Tommy Thompson helped out on the website team.

As they came back in the fall of 2003, the cast decided to make a sequel entitled Sophomores. This film included returning president, Capriil Hacker, Sandy Mealy served on the JV tennis team, and Rachel Logan ran on the track team. As wrestling cheerleaders, Morgan Stephenson, Tara Hoffman and two other smiling faces cheered on Corey Tompkins and two other warriors. The softball team starred Crystal Leaman and Holly Woodall as Jordan Roberts hit home runs for the baseball team and four Diamond Dolls showed their sporty, fifty-nine students made it through Cultural Studies with Mrs. Statton and Mr. Houghton. Casey Freeman served the Spanish Club as president while Melissa Marshall and Matt Campbell were leading French. The color guard earned three new members, and around 21 band members marched with Amy Hartman while Rachel Brown and Lauren Carroll sang in the freshman choir with 25 others. FCCLA had ten new faces, and Tommy Thompson helped out on the website team.

Back together again for the third time, this hit movie was given the name Juniors. A little bit of a change with the cast this year but not too much to confuse you from the previous hits. A new face in the officer's position, but not in sports was Courtney Dawson, she starred as the president of the state with John Matthews supporting her as the vice president while Randy Carlson costarred as both secretary / treasurer. Kara Brown joined the varsity cheerleading team and Ryan Merriman pulled out on the ground, while Katie Peck ran on the track team. Kathryn Koffler joined the boys' soccer team in Holly. They also known as "the cheerleaders" played for the girls team. Daniel Hall and Austin Hillman played on the baseball team and four Diamond Dolls cheered them on. Mr. Allen starred Central's bowling team that Les Gray and seven others played on. Some American Studies seniors were Alana Adams, Lorrell Simmons and three others. Courtney Lind and four others worked on the office and Natalie Ray was on the yearbook staff. This year Jennifer Johnson joined the concert choir. Seth Shaver and nine other students were in leadership. Amy Harrison served as the Chaplin of Student Council. Michael Magna was in FFA and two girls participated in FFA. Jordan Beatty was in the French club, and FCCLA had seven participants.

The classrooms have gathered back making their final debut entitled Seniors. This would be the last time that every cast member would be together before they would move on to follow their dreams. After this year, they would not meet again until their final - year reunion. Some minor changes as seniors were Randy Carlson as president, Erubika Payne as vice president, Courtney Dawson as secretary, Courtney Smith as treasurer, Senior Marshalls were Tiffany James, Tanner Beagan, Brittany Ottenger and Tequilla Johnson. Alternates were Adam Mellock, Peyton Price, Ryan Matthews and Beth Cotter. Michael Davisport won Mr. Football, and Michelle Whitliffe was the captain of the varsity cheerleading team with the help of Courtney Parham as captain. Erubika Payne and Randy Latham were crowned Homecoming King and Queen. For the second year in a row, the seniors had seen the powder puff and debated the puffs for the last time. Five seniors continued to play on the boys' soccer team and eight played on the baseball team. Eric Walters was the captain of the tennis team. Beth Cotter, for the last time, was the captain of the basketball team and Peyton Price served last time as the captain of the soccer team. Mike Campbell was on the bowling team and Dan Beatty was on the JV basketball team. Beth Walsh, Brittany Ottenger and two other wrestling cheerleaders, seven girls were in JV Tennis for their last year and six were in Tri-Hi. V. Brent Tison designed the school's web page. Juli Bailey and Darryl Orr along with fifteen others were in DECA and Robert Hardin was in FFA. Stephanie Swisher ran on the yearbook staff, the military ball. Tanner Beagan was crowned king and Miranda Heitersberg was crowned queen. The main event that took place in this year's hit movie was Senior Day. This is the day that the boys' Ryan and Katie were crowned in May. Senior Day was on Senior Day. On senior day the ensemble sang with new members. Alana Adams and Courtney Dawson with Brittany Ottenger also in Senior Day soloist. Matt Whitliffe was also crowned as prom king and Michelle Whitliffe was crowned prom queen. Valedictorian for the senior class was Capriil Hacker and Salutatorian was Katie Peck.

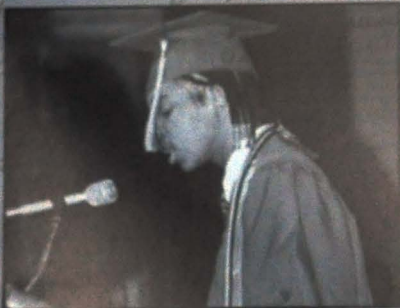

As far as these students making another movie about their high school accomplishments and experiences, that will never happen again for the class of 2004, but you are guaranteed to see them on the red carpet again for their many successes as they continue their journey to change the region other areas that life offers. Best of luck to each and every one of you and remember to always treat it in the land with all of your heart, and He shall direct your path.

Rewind 2004

The 1900s Group poses for a quick shot on the set.

Kenny Nicholson and Christa Turner perform as Sonny and Cher.

Fabian, Christina, Derrick, Kyndal, Carrie, Abby, and Alex relax before the show starts.

Looks like Dana Fine has had one too many.

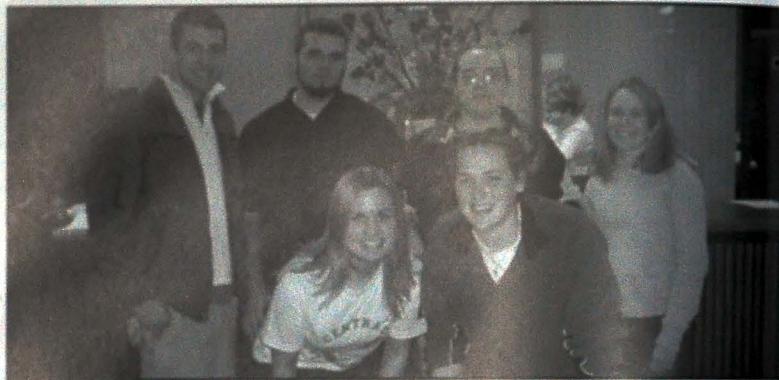

Everyone is relieved at the end of the show.

Congratulations

You are God's special gift to us. How sweet life is because you are in it. Trust in God always, and you will go far in life. We love you and are so proud of you.

Mom, Dad, and Maeghan

Our Son

Matt,
One of the best things you can accomplish on life's pathway is to be a walking example of the golden rule. Remember that the easiest path is not always the right choice. Nothing will ever be more important to us than your ultimate happiness and success in life. We are very proud to call you "son". We love you and may God always be with you.
Mom and Dad
