Foreword

THE American soldier is the chosen champion of humanity. Standing for liberty and justice throughout the world, he has given fresh courage and new hope to the down-trodden nations of the earth. He has renewed the confidence of mankind in its highest ideals and noblest aspirations, and Central High School is proud to have aided in his making.

The Class of 1919 stands ready to enter new fields of life. Now, as in the years to come, they hope that THE CHAMPION of 1919 will fling wide the flood-gates of memory, so that every field upon which the class standard shall be planted may be refreshed and enriched by the comradeship, frolic and fun of four happy years of work at Central High School; that this annual may also help to keep secure the noblest ideals and loftiest aspirations which the school has endeavored to implant.

SENIOR CLASS HISTORY

N the seventh month of the eighth year of the reign of Ziegler the Just and Mighty, the Class of 1919 spake unto me, saying, "Record the mighty deeds which we have accomplished while we have paused beneath the roof of this great temple of learning." After a great search among musty volumes and ancient manuscripts in many lands, I compiled the following archives:

"In the year of 1915 some 320 of the tribe of would-be Centralites gathered together unto a certain noted institution of learning — and we were sore afraid. But certain wise men spake unto us and said, 'Be not afraid, thou shalt suffer no harm.' And we forthwith raised our heads and were thankful.

"And certain wise creatures, called Professors, did speak words of great and profound wisdom into our eager ears, and great was our profit therefrom.

"We were sore afraid when we entered this vast temple of knowledge and heard the great multitude of superior beings there assembled cry in awe-inspiring volume — 'FISH.'

"But certain learned disciples had come from afar to drink of this fountain of knowledge, among them being Carl Brown, from East Chattanooga; Marvin Fundeburk from Rossville; Jesse Jones from East Dale; Leland Strickland from Mission Ridge, and other noted parasites from other sources. But upon seeing the vast multitude assembled before them, they began to implore the aid of 'Mama' to quell the agony of knees violently quaking one against the other, as it were.

"And certain others, being timid, bolted for the door and were never seen more. Among these were: Robert Price, Ernest Shadden, Wiley and Dewey Gross.

"In the year of our Lord, one thousand nine hundred and seventeen, there was great jubilation in the camp of the Parasites, otherwise known as Sophomores, when, upon the occasion of the great Oratorical Contest, one of our noble wind-jammers, one Ernest Bacon, was unanimously declared winner. Amid the camps of the Stalagmites, alias the Juniors, and the Stalactites, alias the Seniors, there was great weeping and wailing and gnashing of teeth as the Wright Medal was pinned upon the manly chest of one of our number.

"In the year that followed, noble actors and actresses from our camp presented with great success a play called "Twig of Thorn," given for the purpose of providing amusement and feasting for the dear departing Seniors, for we well knew they would be unable to earn another square meal strictly on their own merits. From all records, the play and banquet were highly successful. Yea, verily, more than so!

"Certain of our learned brethren, being dissatisfied with their state of being, deemed it highly necessary to change their beautiful white skins to an ebony hue, among them being Ellis Bathman, Randall Luten, George Farrell, and Edward Hatcher. Wise men agreed that each and all greatly benefited in appearance thereby.

"Certain of our brethren and sisters entertained and fondly cherished a musical ambition. They were: Ellis Bathman, eukelele; Creed Howard, trombone; Randall Luten, "hambone"; Mildred Kirk (alias the Spasomizer), vocal artist; Irene Davis, ivory expert; and others of great talent.

"And behold, among us there was a certain Israelite, recognized by his name and face, to be one 'Effie' Ward, who developed marvelous talent for oratory. In fact, his mouth was forever wagging in dictionary-disturbing discourse. He used great words with startling effect, but knew not the meaning of his high-sounding phrases. But a certain parasite from the 'Land of Caanan' instructed him concerning the marvelous gastric revolutions he accomplished. Like Paul at the feet of Gamaliel, he sat at the feet of the learned apostle of English, James Mishler.

"Among our learned disciples were several who believed firmly in the commandment, 'Love thy neighbor as thyself'—for they were extremely cautious about their selections for neighbor. The learned admirers of whom we speak were: John King, Ethel Ortmeier, Clarence Slaughter, Grace Gentry, Alfred Trotter, Irene Davis, and Frank Eldridge. But all the world loves a lover, so behold, 'Ye were loved.'

"Among our most learned students were several famous for one certain accomplishment or state of being, viz.: Dorothy Bachtel, poetry and satire; Mary Louise Barnes, moonlight strolls with McCallie boys; DuPre and Kirk, artists, being famed afar for their sketches of King and Ortmeier in the moonlight; Frank Eldridge, for caveman love-making; Cushman, famed for great size; McAlister, for leather lungs; Mishler, for love of the click of ivory balls and tiny black-dotted cubes; and last but not minutest, was Major King, who delighted in running his military boys up hills in hot weather."

Such are the records dug out of many a web-covered shelf and compiled for your pleasure and profit? But let us hear an end to all this: We have fought a good fight, kept faith in spite of financial difficulties in our Senior year, have finished the various and sundry prescriptions given us; so we know full well that our bodies shall be clothed in gray raiment, a flat mortar-board hat shall be jammed down to our beautiful ears, and with a hang-dog expression we shall receive the reward of our blind and implicitly trusting labors—a diploma.

Historian.

SENIOR CLASS PROPHECY

MISS KITTIE SCHOOLFIELD,
KASHGAR, CHINA.

Chattanooga, Tenn., Sept. 25, 1929.

From GERTRUDE TREWHITT.
Dearest Kittie:

I received your letter yesterday and certainly am glad to hear that you are getting along so well in your work. I sincerely hope that you do not teach the Chinese everything you learned at Central.

Speaking of Central reminds me that I know a great many things of interest to you. I suppose you know that Mary Louise Barnes married the young poet, Willis Guild. She was here on a visit last week, and I gave a luncheon and theatre party for her. I invited only Maurine Purser and Helen Merrill. Of course we first talked of our school days together and about different members of our class and what they are doing now.

James Mishler is president of the bank where all the property of the insane is taken care of. Elizabeth Moran is his private secretary.

Curtis Post is an aviator and has already made one trip to England.

Frieda Walldorf is married and lives in Louisiana.

Others who have entered the ranks of matrimony are: LeVerte Guthrie, Lucile Manning, Helen Gregg, and Maud LeCroy.

Harry Nelson is a professor of Science at Carson-Newman.

Loretta Duggan is teaching mathematics in the new high school at Wauhatchie.

Marvin Funderburk and Robert Flegall are demonstrators for the Ford. When they have no prospective customers, Zelma Frazier and Geraldine Zaugg, who are now Mrs. Funderburk and Mrs. Flegall, may be seen sitting in the back of the cars with sewing machines before them. These machines are run by an apparatus which is attached to the engine of the car. I am sure you will be interested to hear that Ira Knox invented this contrivance.

W. C. and Irene Peak are living at Red Bank. Irene is composing music, and W. C. thinks himself a second Tennyson. But here is one of his poems, and I will let you judge for yourself:

"I DON'T"

My parents told me not to smoke.

I don't.

Nor listen to an Irish joke.

I don't.

They made it clear I mustn't wink

At pretty girls, or even think

About intoxicating drink.

I don't.

To flirt or dance is very wrong.

I don't.

Wild youths chase women, wine and song.

I don't.

I kiss no girls—not even one.

I do not know how it is done.

You wouldn't think I'd have much fun.

I don't.

Annie Short is physical director at the Y. W. C. A. The other day a girl broke her arm while playing basket-ball. Annie at once picked up a small board that was close at hand, broke it into splints and bandaged the girl's arm. When the doctor arrived and made his examination, Annie asked if the bandage was on in the proper manner. The doctor told her that he had never seen a better bandage and that the only fault he could find was that she had bandaged the wrong arm.

Dr. and Mrs. Randle Luten (Mrs. Luten was formerly Edith Smith) are living in Seattle, Wash.

Virginia Steffner did almost as well as Edith. She married a book agent.

Raphael Livingston is head chemist at the Kaelbfeisch Chemical Company, and Clara Roberts is a stenographer there.

Carl Brown and Ethel Dailey are married and living happily (?) together in East Chattanooga.

Herman Lamb and Raulston Ward are preachers. They are both so progressive that no one seems able to keep up with them.

Ellis Bathman is writing a book on "Etiquette" and "How to Act At a Banquet."

Eugene Cushman is a civil engineer.

Buena Mowery and Virgia Murray have a private school at Hixon. One special feature of the school is fancy dancing. Buena teaches this.

Others teaching are: Mary Nicholson, Bertha Bryan, Margaret Callaway, and Bessie Campbell.

Jessie DuPre is a model in one of the large department stores of New York.

Grace Gentry and Erna Davis are married and living there.

Frank Eldridge and Irene Davis are married and living at Tunnel Hill, Georgia.

John Dodds and Edward Hatcher are playing in the movies. I saw John the other day in "The Romance of Jeremiah Jackson."

Jessie Jones married a girl from Rhode Island. I have heard that they do not get along very well because Jesse wants to do all of the talking.

Corinne Hancock has a beauty parlor in Chicago.

Elsie Hill married a widower. At church one night the preacher asked if anyone had ever heard of a person who was perfect. Elsie answered very promptly, "Yes, my husband's first wife."

Lionel Garnier and Annie Pope are dancing in the Follies, and I hear that they are making quite a success.

George Farrell is editor of "The Atlanta Journal." I think the great success he is making is due to the training he received while editor-in-chief of "THE CHAMPION."

Clarence Slaughter is in the United States Army and is stationed in the Philippines.

Nellie Carter married a baggage-master. Of course she has an annual pass. I have heard that she does nothing but ride from here to Tutululah.

Annie Mae Coster is manager of the Star Dry Cleaning Company.

Dora Fuller married Norman Ferguson about a year ago.

Gladys Jones married a preacher. I have heard that he has a larger congregation since he has married, and that his wife sings in the choir.

Dorothy Bachtel is a doctor out West. She has an aeroplane and is able to make calls in a very short length of time.

Gladys Haynes has a delicatessen shop. You remember that when a Senior she had a great affinity for a boy named Lemon. I do not think that she has overcome her fondness for lemons, because she uses them to flavor most all of her sweets.

Bertha Watson is working at Miller's. Maurine went in the other day to buy a collar and Bertha said that she would tell her something if she would promise not to tell. Of course Maurine promised. Bertha told her that Alfred Trotter and she were to be married next spring. Maurine told Mary Louise, Helen, and me because she knew that we would not tell a soul.

Of course everybody knows that John King married Ethel Ortmeier and that Dan Stone married Marguerite Milburn.

Francis Ward is running for United States senator. Chester McAlister is going around with him helping make stump speeches.

Mildred Kirk is with the Metropolitan Opera Company.

After luncheon we went to the Bijou. Creed Howard is director of the orchestra, and Roy McDonald plays the bass drum. We were rather surprised to discover that the two blackface comedians were Edwin Osborne and Leland Strickland.

Write real soon and tell me about some of your experiences in Kashgar.

Lovingly yours,

GERTRUDE.

SENIOR CLASS WILL

By EDWIN OSBORNE

WE, the Senior Class of Central High School, the County of Hamilton, State of Tennessee, being of supposedly sound and disposing mind and memory, do hereby make, publish and declare the following our last will and testament:

I, George Farrell, do hereby, with sorrowful heart, relinquish all my claims on "Strawberry Blondes" to Thurman Hudson, with the desire that he find them as charming as I have.

We, Mildred Kirk and Jessie DuPre, being authorized to dispose of our assets, do designate the following: our easel, brushes and paint to Louise Wilson, Dorothy Dalby and Eve Pirtle, hoping that they will hereafter display their art on paper only.

I, Jesse Jones, my property being unencumbered and subject to no liens, do hereby bequeath my deep voice to Edna Bass, to be used in making suffragette speeches.

We, W. C. Peak and James Mishler, do, with the greatest of pleasure, hereby will all our magazines to Ira Templeton and Morrell Morris, trusting that they will enjoy them in the study periods to come as we have in those passed.

We, the "Three Old Maids" (Dora Fuller, Mary Nicholson, and Gladys Haynes), do hereby, after much meditation, will our mirror, together with our place in the corner, to Glendon Seagle, Hazel Elliot and Dorothy Erd, wishing them more success with the boys in the future than we or they have had in the past.

I, Edwin Osborne, do in all solemnness, will my negro talent to the janitor, believing that after having received said talent he will be able to act more naturally.

We, Ellis Bathman and Randle Luten, do will and bequeath our great importance and high military authority to Carl Smith and Carrol Peak.

I, Raulston Ward, do hereby will my swagger walk to George Gurney, believing that it should not be taken away from Central.

I, Lionel Garnier, do, with regret, will my way with the ladies to Frank Matlock, hoping he will have even greater success than did I.

We, Corinne Hancock and Marvin Funderburk, after due deliberation, do hereby will and bequeath all our chewing-gum to Dorothy Dickerson and Lillian Blair, desiring that they enjoy it uninterrupted by requests to deposit it in the waste-basket.

We, John Dodds, Raphael Livingston, Ira Knox and Edward Hatcher, do hereby bequeath our scientific knowledge to the Junior Class, believing that with said knowledge some plan may be devised for keeping freshmen from entering the front door. If they should be shocked on entering as severely as we on seeing them enter, they might cause the practice to be discontinued.

We, John King, Dan Stone, Clarence Slaughter and Roy McDonald, do hereby will all our permanent admit tickets, excuses and passes, since we no longer need them, to Otto Boehm, James Lyle, and Robert Allen, hoping that they will be used according to our method, which has been most successful.

We, Annie Short and Nellie Carter, willingly bequeath our ability to talk fast to Louis Nonnemacher, believing that it will enable him to speak more fluently at joy meetings.

We, Frank Eldridge and Alfred Trotter, being almost forced to part with them, do hereby will our cunning ways and smiling faces to Ben Koblentz, earnestly desiring that he prove as popular among the girls as we have proved.

We, Gertrude Trewhitt, Beuna Mowery, Vergie Murray, LeVerte Guthrie, Mary Louise Barnes, Margaret Callaway, and Bertha Bryan, with regret, do will our favorite path to the Ridgedale School to Jeanette James, Alice Keathley and Willie Bowman, desiring that they enjoy loitering along it as much as we have.

I, Annie Pope, do hereby will my ability to keep out of the principal's hands to Ella Martin and Mary O'Rear, thinking that it will take two to be as successful as I have been.

We, Francis Ward, Harry Nelson, Robert Flegal, Eugene Cushman, Curtis Post, and Carl Brown, do bequeath our oratorical ability to Yarnell Barnes and Wayland Ashburn, hoping that their friends will be able to see a great improvement in them by their use of this combination of talent.

I, Irene Peak, with the deepest regret, do bequeath all my love for the football boys to Bessie Mae Hambright, earnestly desiring that her heart will not be broken as many times as mine has been.

I, Dorothy Bachtel, do in all dignity, will my place in the school to Mary Alice Stegall, Amelia Watson, and Marie Bass, believing that it will be necessary for three to fill said place.

We, Bertha Watson, Grace Gentry, Maude LeCroy, Clara Roberts, and Elizabeth Moran, being more generous than the rest, do hereby will and bequeath our stenographic ability to Juliette Fowler and Kathryn Leslie.

We, Bessie Campbell and Geraldine Zaugg, solemnly and thoughtfully will our solitude to Willie Ray Kelso and Rachael Williams, believing that it will prove valuable to them, the world being "too much with them late or soon."

We, Ethel Dailey, Gladys Jones, Elsie Hill, Creed Howard and Herman Lamb, take great pleasure in willing our spectacles to Henry Ellis, James Stinson, and Levron Howard, to be used in helping them to see the charms of Junior girls.

I, Kittie Schoolfield, will the oratorical cup to the tender mercies of those who come after me.

I, Maurine Purser, do will my place in Kittie Schoolfield's heart to some man (some day, but not now).

I, Annie Mae Coster, do will and bequeath my D. S. record to the girls of the Junior Class.

I, Zelma Frazier, do will my ability to do four years' work in three to anyone who is foolish enough to try it.

We, Ethel Ortmeier, Margaret Milburn, Lucile Manning, Erna Davis and Irene Davis, do, with tears in our eyes and regret in our hearts, will our fickle affections for the boys to Clara Bracken, Mildred Shippey and Ruby Duncan, hoping that they will be more steadfast than we have proved.

We, Frieda Waldorf, Helen Gregg, and Helen Merrill, being the most dignified among the Seniors, do hereby will our ladylike ways to Jeanette Dagley and Lora Goforth, who sadly need them.

We, Edith Smith and Virginia Steffner, in a loving manner, bequeath our stickability to Alice Payne and Inez King, advising that they adhere to each other as we have.

We, Leland Strickland and Chester McAlister, tremble in our frames as we will our leather lungs to DeForest Scaggs, demanding that he not let Old Central's yells die.

I, Loretta Duggan, do most intelligently will my knowledge of isosceles triangles to the Junior Class, believing the said knowledge to be large enough to be equally distributed among them.

We, the Military Staff, do will the Drug Store at the corner to George Heron, hoping that the faculty will be as blind next year as they were this year, to the use of the same at the third period.

We, the Senior Class, do hereby will the right to enter the front door to all Juniors, because they have already taken it.

The undersigned, by request of the Seniors, and in their presences, and in the presence of each other, have hereunto written our names as subscribing witnesses, this fifteenth day of May, nineteen hundred and nineteen.

Witnesses:

Joe, ice cream vender.

Dora, crack restaurant cook, and

John Turner, motorman on Central school car.

CLASS POEM

1919

"THE MESSAGE"

WITHIN a corner sat a singer, sere,
Holding his harp upon his trembling knees,
Dim eyes on distance fixed in anguished fear,
A distance flushed with bloom of budding trees.
Around him, bluets covered all the grass;
A cardinal flamed upon a neighboring tree;
With vacant stare he watched the pageant pass —
"Spring of the Year" — and did not seem to see.
Only within him, moved to sudden pain,
An echo of the springtide rose and spoke;
Pleadings for song fell in a shower-like rain,
Or as green leaves push dead ones from the oak.
With faltering fingers, first he sweeps the harp,
Seeking to find the old familiar notes;
Then as his theme's faint outlines grow more sharp,
Louder the music from the harp string floats.
One of your bards, O Central, chanting here.
Only a singer, fired by love of spring,
Only a singer swept by sudden fear
Of parting, echoed in the song he sings.
Hear, then, this message from a single voice,
A muffled chord in spring's great harmony,
Sped by a singer who is left no choice
Except to sing, or, being mute, to die.
Long in your courts the singer dwelt and sung
Low to himself upon one throbbing string;
But ever lowly round him his song hung,
Uncertain of himself, he feared to sing.
And ever his love held he in his heart.
Love for his friends, abiding love for you;
Two things so sacred, and so much apart,
He would not have it that the whole world knew.

Till, knowing he and others soon must go,
 And all unmindful of the eyes that gaze,
 The singer lifts his voice then, in his woe,
 From endless droning of the other days.
 Lightly he touches first the minor strains,
 Weaving the words within them back and forth,
 As pine trees, laden with autumnal rains,
 Make music when the wind sweeps from the North.
 Again like little brooks, all winter-bound,
 Beneath a frozen mantle — crystal cold —
 With cunning fingers draws he forth the sound,
 And, ice sharp, fits it in the waiting mold.
 Spring blossoms from the fingers on the strings,
 And all the haw trees white with feathered bloom;
 But through it all a wailing sadness flings,
 His sunshine shaded by his sorrow's gloom.
 "The time is near when we, of elder birth,
 Must go away, and going we must give
 To waiting hearts our Alma Mater's worth,
 Oh, let them keep it, let that worth still live.
 "For we have loved, and given all our best,
 Not for ourselves, but for a much loved name;
 Only for her, we did not count the rest —
 Only for her, and always for her fame!
 "Oh, keep her colors high, and, floating so,
 Let all the conquered have just cause to say,
 'She is a generous and honest foe,
 Fighting in open and courageous way.'
 "For otherwise we labored all in vain,
 If our achievements at our going die,
 Our hopes for Central, crumbled by the rain
 Of dismal failure, ruined and passed by."
 Then crooned the singer, to his dying string,
 Crooned as a singer does whose song is done;
 Leaving this message then, he went away,
 Seeking another home — a distant one.

DOROTHY BACHTEL.

Scenario of Junior Class

SCENE I — Class of 1920

Up the broad, white walk to the large building comes a group of girls and boys. "The Class of 1920 will show the world." At the entrance they hesitate just a little.

SCENE II — Inside Building

The group meets several teachers who look as big as whales, and little fish has misgivings as to his safety.

SCENE III — Latin Class

Poor fish struggling with Latin I. Mr. Setliffe says sarcastically, "Will there ever be anyone in my class who has any sense?"

SCENE IV — Class Meeting

Following are timidly elected: Luther Simms, President; Tommy Rose Lewis, Vice-President; Viola Tansy, Secretary-Treasurer.

SCENE V — Sophomore Party for Freshmen

Freshmen, all hands and feet until it comes to ice cream cone time, then they are at home.

SCENE VI — Exams. Are Over

"Can you beat it! I passed."

(A Year Passes)

SCENE VII — Sophomores Now

A group of 1920 is as proud as a peacock. They know everything. They own everything. My! how they lord it over the Fish.

SCENE VIII — The Awakening

Second year Algebra class. Mr. Smith shows them how little they know.

SCENE IV — Class Meeting

Fair amount of assurance. Following are elected: George Heron, President; Sam Sims, Vice-President; Viola Tansy, Secretary-Treasurer.

SCENE X — Soph. Party for Freshmen

They forget how they looked when they were freshmen and take great delight in laughing at the Fish.

(A Year Passes)

SCENE XII — Now a Junior

A year older — a year less wise — a year more proud of belonging to Central.

SCENE XIII — Junior Class Meeting

Following are firmly elected: George Heron, President; Ben Koblentz, Vice-President; Henry Reeves, Secretary-Treasurer. Speeches of acceptance are as elaborate as become a Junior.

SCENE XIV — Chapel Joy Meeting

Speeches made with much success by the juniors, for they must uphold their dignity on the platform as they have upheld the school in football, basket-ball, and baseball.

SCENE XV — Wonderful Circus in Gym

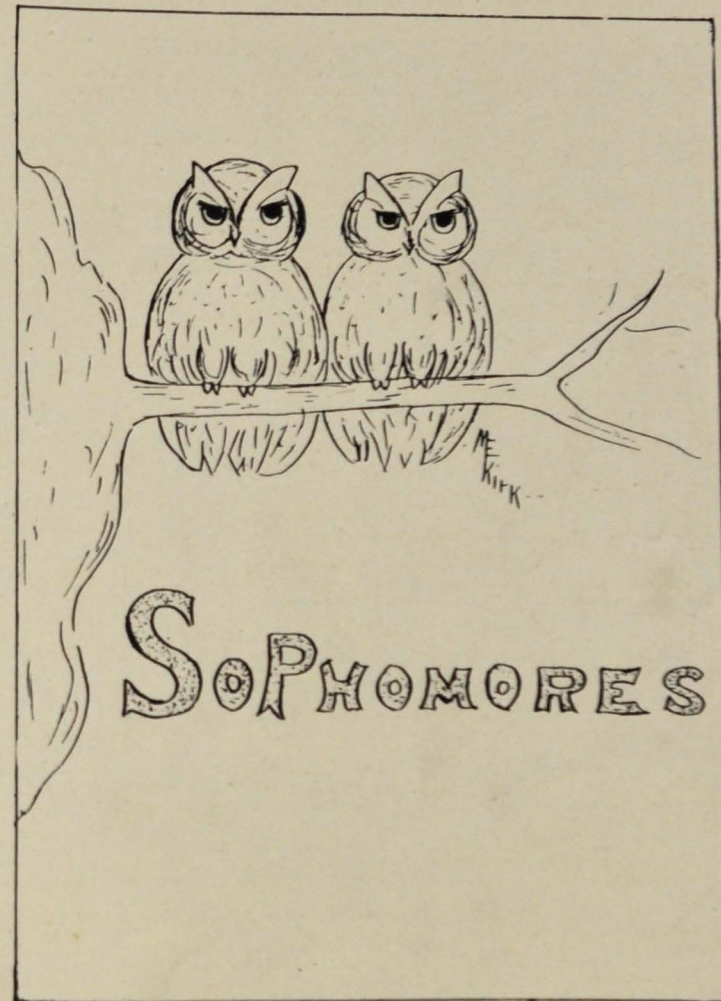

Wildman, fortune teller, and rogue's gallery.

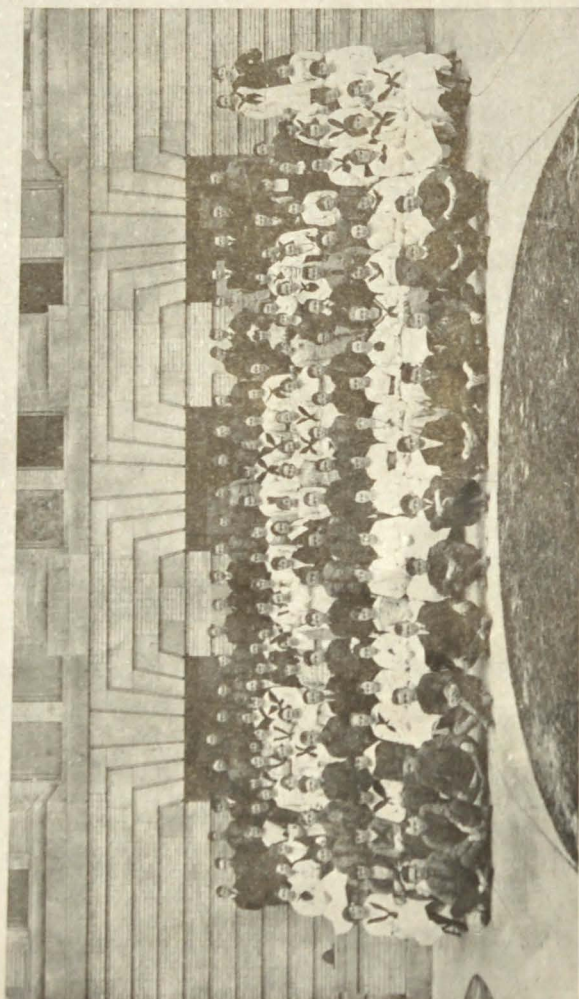

SCENE XVI — Mr. Rankin's Geometry Class

Junior (wailing): "Gave test. Flunked again."

SCENE XVII — May the Fourteenth

Exams over. Juniors assume dignity of Seniors.
Class of 1920 passes to banquet prepared for Class of 1919.
Snap!!! Film broken.

Sophomore Class History

OWL REGION, CENTRAL HIGH SCHOOL
April 1, 1919

DEAR SENIORS,

SINCE entering Central on September 24, 1917, we have found our path Hilley — in fact, we think we have had more than our share of Hills to climb.

It is perhaps our (Miss) Fortune that during our first year you made us control our (mouths) Williams. We do not know how obscure our career might have been had our class president not proved to be our Turner and that he, together with our vice-president, directed our course in an Easter(n)ly direction. It was through their efforts that our class reached the (lime) light in which they featured a party for the sophomores. The year otherwise passed uneventfully, except that near its close the faculty decreed our store of C's might have been Fuller and so withdrew a very threatening Brand.

Now that we have grown a year older,, if not wiser, and even though we still be Young and somewhat Wilde, we have acquired the strength of Sampson and will be Heard.

We hope that you will not feel that we are putting on Ayers when we invite you to get into our class Ford for an imaginary race over the ground hallowed by us in our second year.

The chauffeur is Templeton; his assistant, Petersen. We have also provided a secretary called Hickman. Our Ford Burns the wind, so if you wish you may deposit your valuables with Helen Milligan, who is our efficient treasurer. We have also provided a Barker for guide. (We truthfully inform you that he wears Rose colored glasses.) Hear him as you speed along the shores of our Hudson:

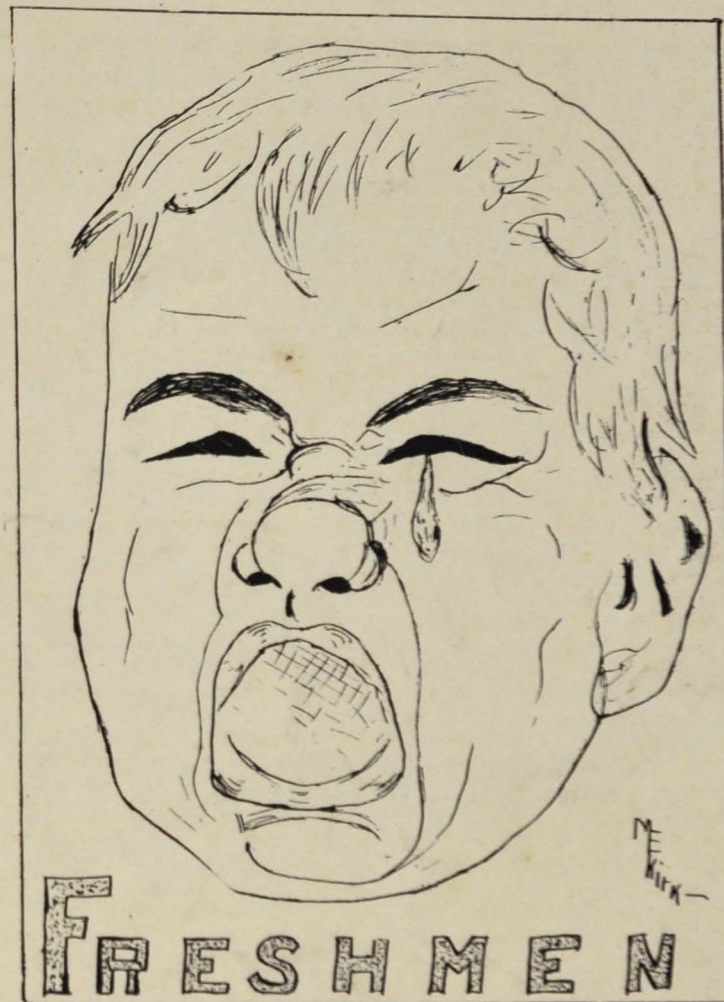

"View this Sprigg of Green, this Reed of Brown! Ah—er, listen to our much prized Bird. Here is our Stonewall (Jackson) behind which (Miss) Hoover, our loyal Farmer, our jolly Miller, our wartime Gardner and energetic Cook have so valiantly stood. Dailey have they stored knowledge, and although our pass(ports) have been buffeted upon high C's they have managed to keep them Strong, and so to keep the Wolfe from our Barnes.

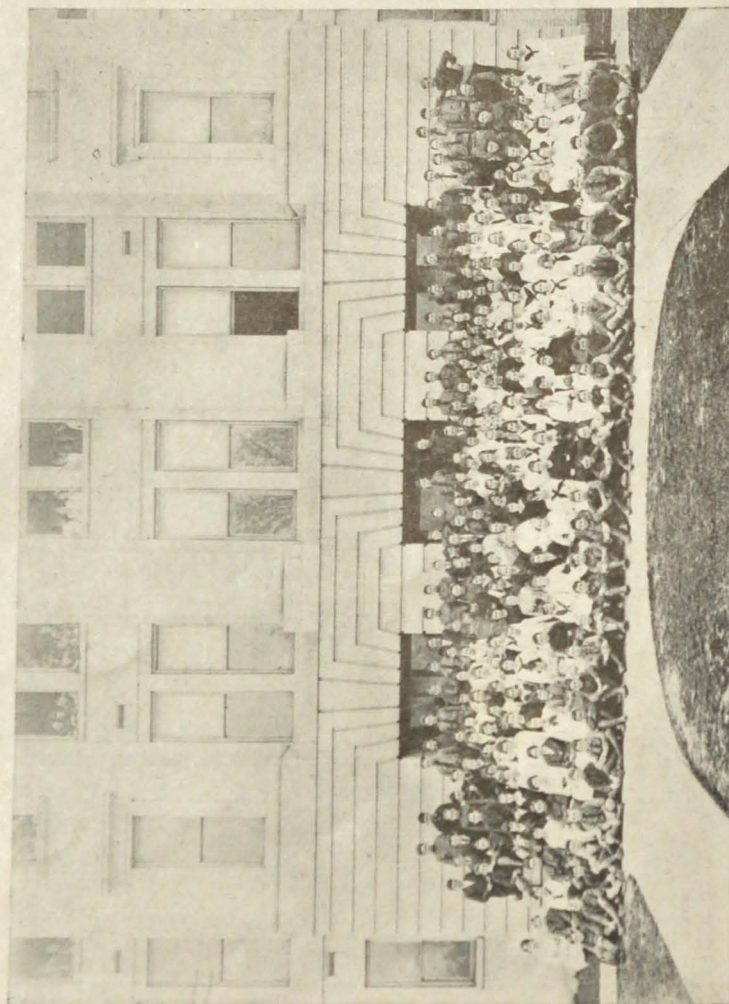

"Great Scott! Out of Gas! Too bad, for we have much Moore to show you, and we assure you that it is Allgood."

It is perhaps well that this imaginary trip has come to this timely end, for dear seniors, we realize that you are about to set forth upon the next lap of a real journey upon Life's way. We wish you much success, and bid you God-speed.

Very faithfully yours,

"THE SOPHOMORES."

FRESHMAN CLASS HISTORY

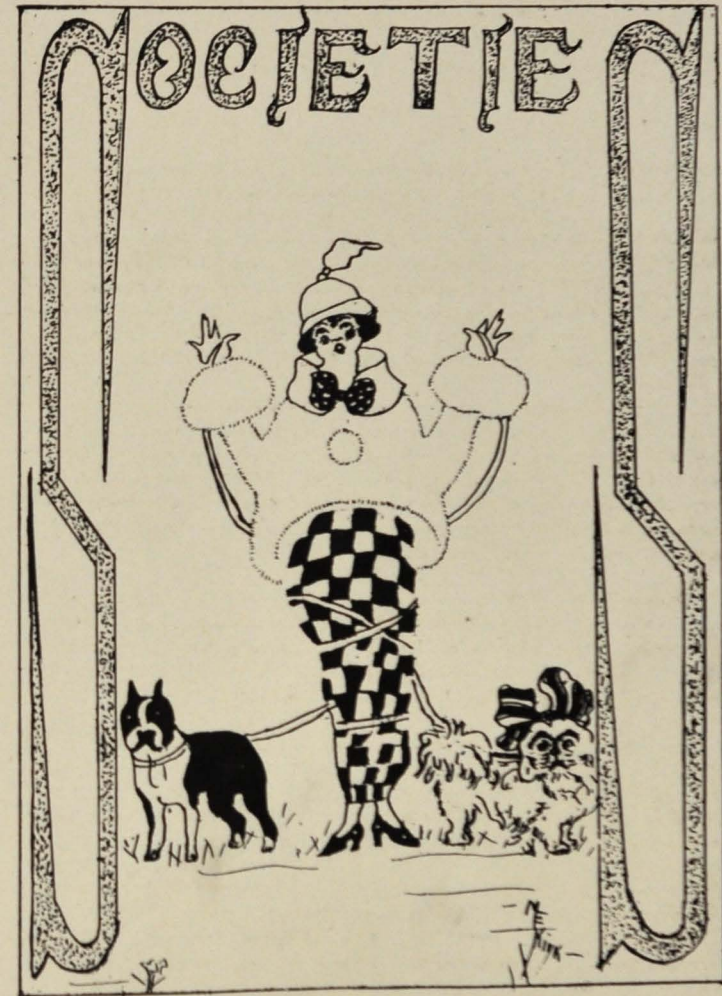

N the third of September, nineteen hundred and eighteen, more than two hundred of those mammals known to Sophomores, Juniors and Seniors as "rats," "fish," etc., entered the doors of Central High School. Some were awed, some were excited, and others were just plain scared. After a little of the green had worn off of the majority of these candidates for higher knowledge, they were called together for the purpose of making them an organized class. The results of the election held during this meeting were as follows: Miss Nancy Dodds, President; Hazen Copp, Vice-President, and Allan Pollard, Secretary-Treasurer.

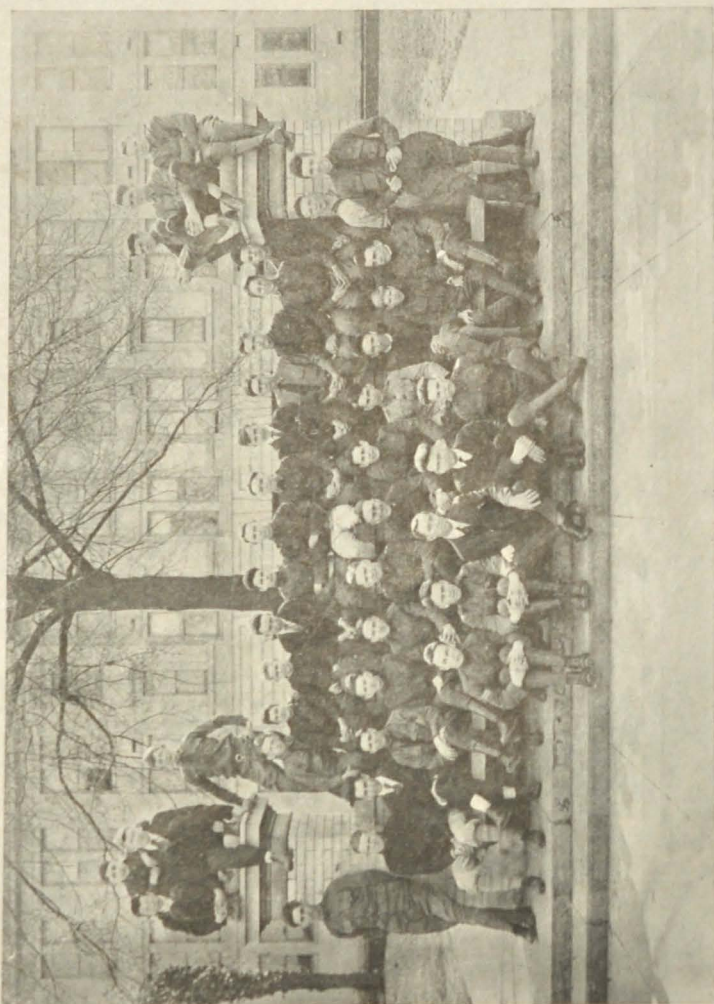

The first big affair, socially speaking, was the Soph.-Fresh. party, given in honor of the freshmen by the sophomores. This was fully enjoyed and appreciated by all the freshmen that attended, and we only hope that our night in honor of the sophomores was enjoyed as much. May an afterthought in the form of a question be added? Why was it, or how did it happen, that so many confirmed bachelors suddenly, on one of these nights, blossomed forth in company with "grande Belle Dames"?

Athletics, one of the principal features of Central, was entered into by nearly all of the boys. One-and-over, baseball and eating ice-cream cones were the principal forms indulged in. To these was added a thorough discussion of all the football and basket-ball players, for the purpose of enlightening their listener as to their knowledge of these important subjects.

The literary societies have played a large part in the class activities for this year. The girls have their own society, named after that illustrious woman, Betsy Ross. The boys have the privilege of becoming members of the Senate, the Henry W. Grady Society, or any society not ruled over by the so-called better half of the human family.

In spite of the obstacles placed in our way, we have at last come to the end of this, our freshman year. During this year, there has been much weeping and wailing and gnashing of teeth; some of us have gone some; some of us have risen, but we all look forward to the time when we may be called, not by that ridiculed cognomen of "Freshie," but by that more dignified "Sophomore."

THE Grady Society has done excellent work this year. They gave a minstrel for the benefit of the Senior Class. This proved a great success. They afterwards gave a performance at the Post for the benefit of the soldiers, also one at Red Bank for the Ladies' Aid Society, and one at Cedar Hill.

Some of the interesting features of the Grady Society's programs have been the debates, which have proved very interesting as well as helpful to the boys.

THE CENTRAL HIGH SCHOOL SENATE was organized in 1915 and has since been carried on just as the United States Senate is, the Senators being governed by "Roberts' Rules of Order."

This year the Senate had two open meetings. The first was held December 16, 1918, at which time the discussion was based on a resolution calling for an amendment to the United States Constitution providing for National Woman Suffrage. The Senators supporting the resolution were: Roy Hickman, Walter Woods, and Henry Ellis. Those in opposition were: Yarnell Barnes, Leland Thompson, and Francis E. Ward. In the open meeting the committee voted for the resolution, but owing to the fact that there was not a quorum present, the vote was taken again and the resolution was lost.

The second open meeting was held February 10, 1919. At this time a bill providing for the Government Ownership and Control of a Merchant Marine was considered. The speakers in support of the bill were: Senators Pauline Bearden, Milledge Murphy, and Jeanette Dagley. Those in opposition to the same were: Senators Dorothy Bachtel, Phillip Ireland, and George Taylor. The bill carried.

THE WELLESLEY SOCIETY has just completed its eighth year of literary work at Central. The Society joined with the other girls' societies this year in the adoption of a French orphan.

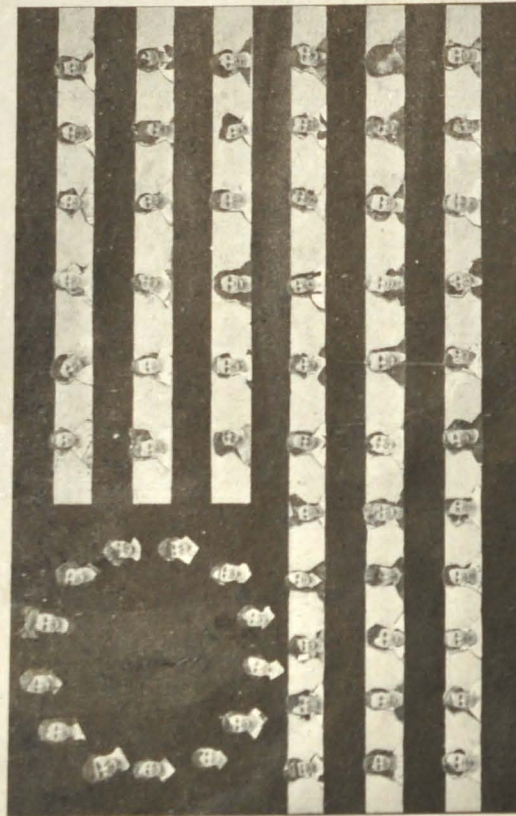

One of the most enjoyable of their programs given before the hall was that given on Thanksgiving. Their weekly programs given on the regular society days have been so good that the room has been crowded with visitors each week.

Betsy Ross Society

THE BETSY ROSS SOCIETY was organized in 1917 for the girls of the Freshman Class and has been a great factor in helping the new girls become acquainted. This year the Society assisted the Wellesley and Dixie Societies in adopting a French orphan. They have given literary programs at each of their weekly meetings, and have many times appeared as entertainers in the Freshman Hall.

French Orphan Adopted by Girls' Societies

(Translation of Letter)

MILLY, Jan. 21, 1919.

MADAME:

I have just received a letter from the Chair of the Social Action of Versailles, in which they tell me that my little Raymond has a charitable Godmother. I thank you very much, Madame, for wishing to help my little Raymond, and I assure you that he is very happy to have a Godmother. She says that she no longer has a papa, that she will write to her Godmother, for she is so nice and sweet. She is very happy to go to school, to make her prayer for her poor papa.

It is terrible to hear a child so young speak of this terrible war, which, alas, has sown terror everywhere. For me, I am left with two children — a little boy of two and one-half years and little Raymond, five years old. Finally, perhaps, God will protect them up to the end and will watch over them and not let them suffer.

Now, dear Madame, I am enclosing the last picture of little Raymond, that you have wished to adopt as your Godchild, that you may judge that she is very nice.

Receive, then, dear madame, all my sincere greetings, with all my thanks, as well as Raymond's.

WIDOW SAUVOND.

FOOTBALL

CENTRAL answered this year's call of the gridiron without Coach Rike, who was doing Y. M. C. A. work at Fort Oglethorpe. Nevertheless, the boys plugged right down to hard practice under the leadership of Captain Heron. Coach Rike, and Boyd and Fenton, Central players of '13, did what they could to help the boys. Notwithstanding the absence of our coach, prospects looked bright for a championship, as several of the old players were back. Among these were Peterson, Murphy, Nonemacher, Heron and Peak.

The first game of the season was played with McCallie. We had never before in the history of our school played McCallie and were very anxious to defeat the Ridgeites. When the whistle blew, the stands were filled with students who were ready to celebrate our first victory; but after a hard fight, in which neither team showed the best of their ability because of the lack of time in which to train, McCallie came out victoriously, defeating us 20 to 0.

The next game was a great victory over Baylor. This game, which was one of the best, was played at Andrews Field. A great joy meeting had been held and the whole school turned out to see the game. This time our boys showed true "pep" and gave Baylor their worst defeat of the season. The score was 18 to 0.

As Thanksgiving drew near, everybody had the football spirit, even the freshmen were talking of the High School-Central game. When the whistle blew, the stand was crowded with rooters from both schools, each trying to make the most noise. After both teams had fought to a scoreless tie for three quarters, it looked as if the game would end in a scoreless tie. But lo! out of the bunch of frenzied players came a Central man running down the field ninety-five yards to our goal line. As he crossed the goal, the Central rooters went wild, because Central had won one of the greatest victories in her history.

Later in the year the student-body awarded each player a small gold football as a token of their appreciation of his playing.

BASKET-BALL

e

AFTER a great celebration over football victories, Central athletes turned their attention to basket-ball, and soon Captain Peterson and his players, Murphy, Ray, Barnes, and Matlock, were in splendid condition.

The first game of the season was played with High School. Central won easily, and was off in a good start for the pennant.

The Baylor game came next and added another victory. The score was 41 to 24.

The next game was with McCallie. Her players could not stand up under the fire of our men and lost to us by a large score.

Central's first defeat of the season came with the next game. After having won the first three games, our boys expected a fourth easy victory, became over-confident and lost to High School by the score of 35 to 15.

After a week's hard practice, Central played McCallie in another easy victory, and it seemed that Central would win the pennant.

Central's hopes for the pennant were somewhat shattered in the next game, for after playing one of the hardest games of the season, we lost to High School for the second time. This game ended the season with Central and High School tied for first honors. Central challenged High School to a post-season game to be played on the following Wednesday night. The challenge was accepted by High School.

On the night of the game the University gymnasium was filled with an excited throng of supporters for both Central and High School. Central started the game with her usual pep. She took the lead in the first few minutes and held it throughout the game. When the whistle blew to end the game, the score stood 39 to 23 in Central's favor.

To the list of victories in football was the prep championship in basket-ball.

BASEBALL AND TRACK

AS this edition of THE CHAMPION goes to press, baseball and track have just started. Nearly all of last year's men are out for practice in baseball. They will have, however, a hard time to make the team, because there is a bunch of freshmen out who seem to be regular ball players. Hill has been elected captain of the team.

A large number of boys are out for the track team, and we expect to win a number of events. William Heron has been elected captain of this team, and we hope for more victories to add to this year's list.

THE MARATHON

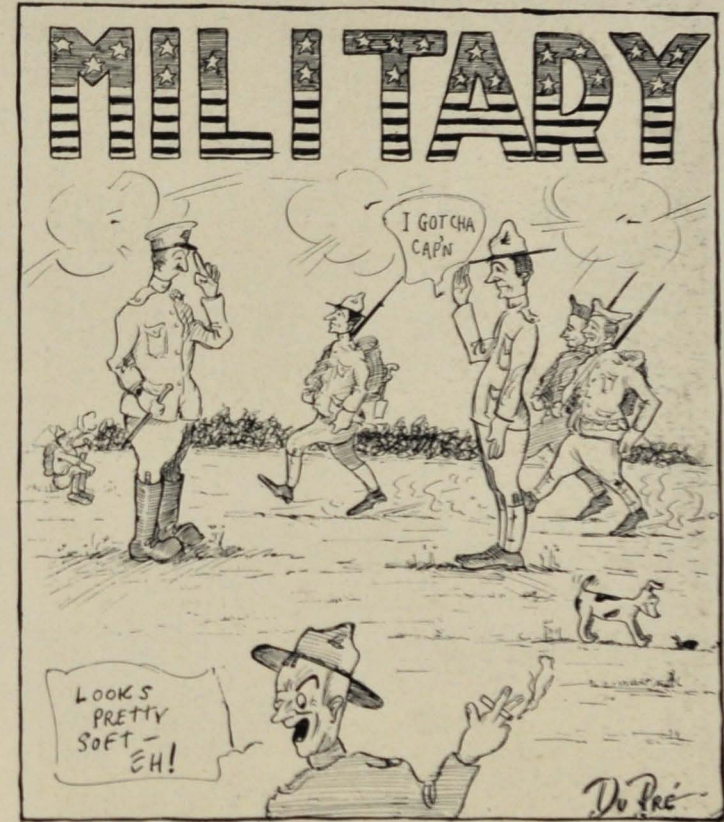

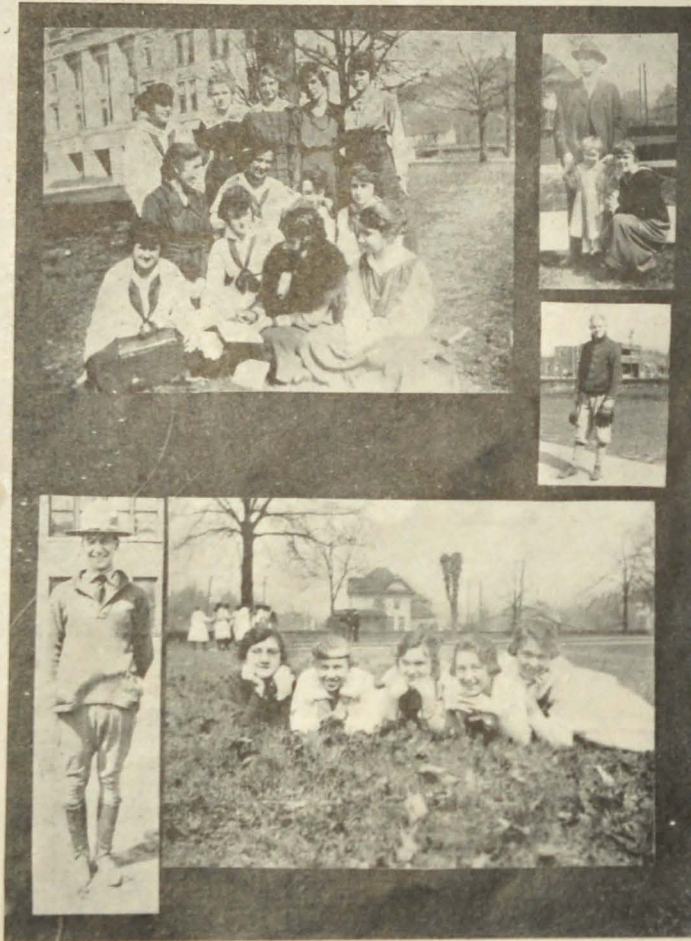

IN the latter part of December, Dr. Wallace, of the Y. M. C. A., visited Central with the purpose of getting some of our boys interested in The Times' annual five-mile run which was to take place on the first day of January.

The rules of the race were that every contestant must train ten days and make a standing of eighty-five in scholarship. All preparatory schools were represented. William Heron and Vollie Gannaway became Central's representatives and finished the race in third and fourth places. Each of these boys received our athletic "C" and the prize awarded by The Times.

Central did not know she had two of the best long-distance runners in the city until this race was run. She feels proud of her showing, and as the Marathon is to be an annual event, Central hopes to make even a better showing next year.

THE MINSTREL

THIS year's Minstrel, which was given under the direction of Professor Arthur L. Rankin, was considered by many to be the best performance of the kind ever offered to the public by Central High School. The position of interlocutor was held by Joe Linde; those of first end men by Randel Luten (Lasses) and Ellis Bathman (Toby).

George Farrell, second end man, better known as "Bones", was the dude of the circle, while Uncle Zeke with his "I's been libin seventy year an' I nebber heard de like o' dat," was well characterized by Edwin Osborne.

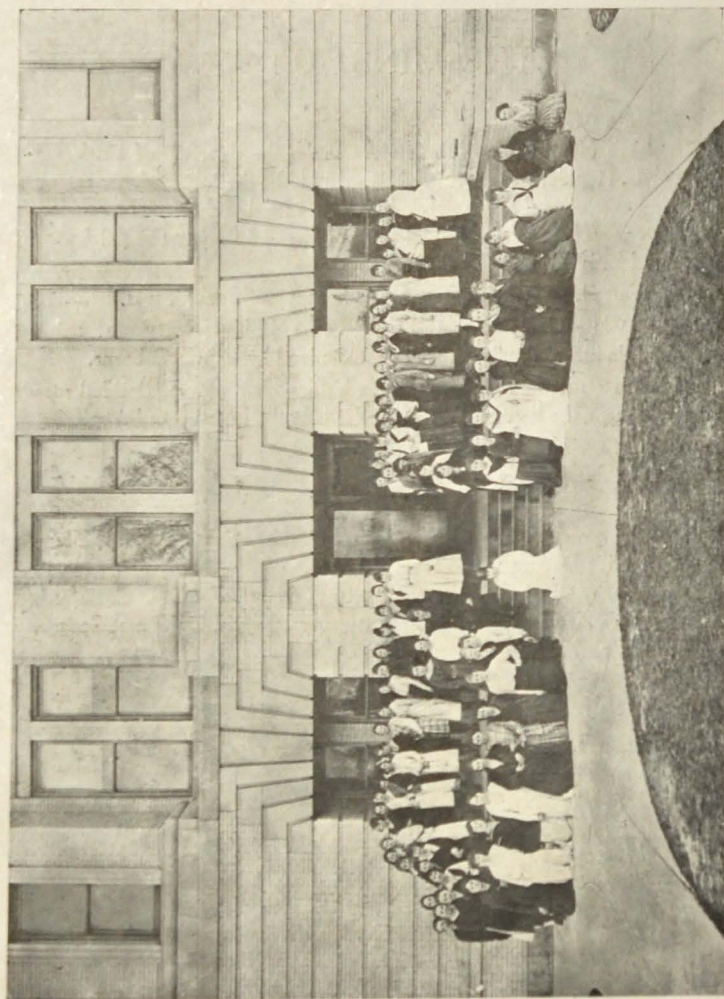

Joe Linde's cornet solo "Smiles" with whistling chorus was a decided success. He also sang the ballad, "When the Bells in the Lighthouse Ring 'Ding Dong.'"

The solo, "Sweet Eyes of Blue," sung by Norman Ferguson, was well rendered.

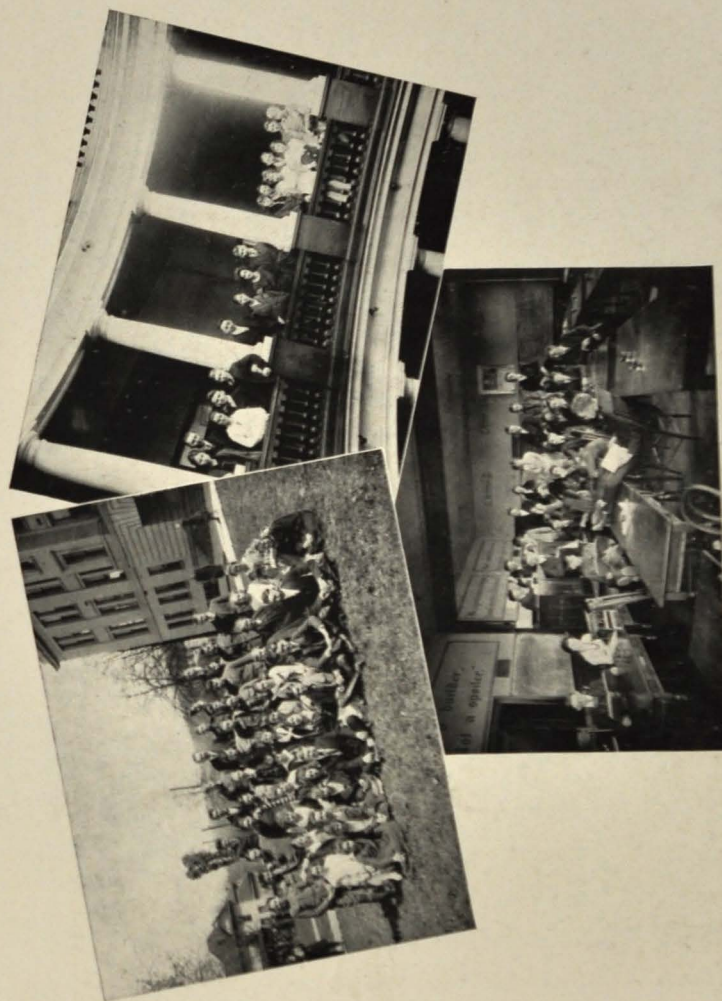

Those singing comical songs were: Lionel Garnier, George Farrell, Thurman Hutson, Ellis Bathman, and Randel Luten.

The chorus, not including the soloists, was composed of R. C. Ward, W. C. Peak, Ira Knox, Edward Hatcher, Harry Hughes, De Forest Scaggs, Ralph Duckett, and Edwin Osborne.

MACHINE SHOP

Manual Training Department

THIS department offers instruction in elementary woodwork, wood-turning, pattern-making, cabinet-making, printing, auto repairing, and a four year's course in mechanical drawing.

This year we have added a very important branch to our Manual Arts Department in auto repairing, which is under the direction of Mr. Otto Hassler. The blacksmith shop and machine shop are valuable assets for this special work. junior and senior students taking the mechanical course are enrolled in this department.

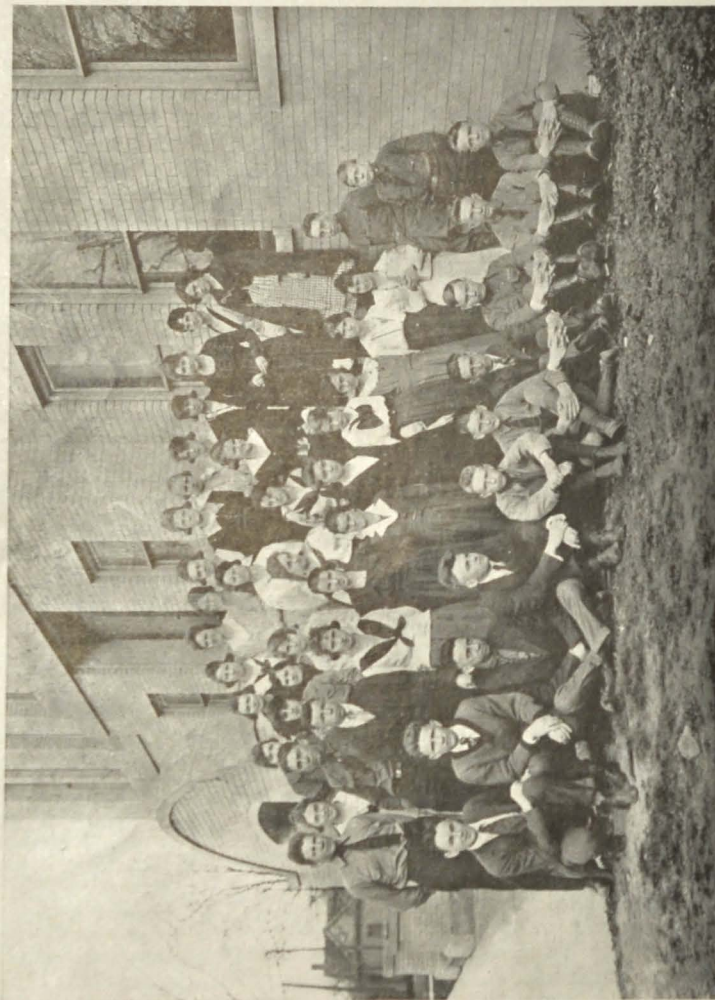

During the past school year, under the direction of Mr. Charles J. Anderson, head of the Manual Arts Department, over forty elementary exercises were made, one hundred and seventy-five pieces of cabinet work, one hundred and eighty pieces in wood turning, seventy-two pieces in pattern-making, besides many of the machines were overhauled and repaired in the machine shop. In addition many repairs were made about the school building. The department made convalescent tables which were donated to the Red Cross Society and also many articles for the Y. M. C. A.

Over one thousand plates were completed in the drawing department.

The printing department has done all the school printing, besides a large amount of outside printing. With the aid of the printing press, we have been able to make the Manual Training Department self-supporting.

Central High School's exhibit at the county fair last fall, in competition with other high schools, was a great success. We received eighty-five per cent of the prizes.

PHYSICAL LABORATORY

ON THE CENTRAL SCHOOL CAR

I rose with great alacrity
To offer her my seat;
'Twas a question whether she or I
Should stand upon my feet.

John King: "Er—aw—what was the denomination of the bill you loaned me?"
E. Murphy: "Episcopalian, I guess; at any rate, it keeps Lent very well."

Miss Aull (in English Literature): "What tragedy have you most recently read?"
Herschel: "My grade in English."

THE SOLUTION

Miss Williams: "John, why is it you misspell so often?"
George Benjamin: "Maybe it's because he pays more attention to the Miss than to the spell."

Ira Knox: "I shall have to go to town this afternoon and get some dummies."
Herman Lamb: "Can't you get plenty of those here at school?"

John King: "Were I a knight of old, I'd battle for your fair hand."
Ethel: "Good knight."

Ella: "Is there a word in the English language which contains all the vowels?"
Miss Sugg: "Unquestionably."

"Then this," asked rejected Herman, "is absolutely final?"
"Quite," was Miss Truett's calm reply. "Shall I return your letters, Herman?"
"Yes, please," answered poor Herman. "There's some good material in them that I can use."

Jessie D.: "Do you know that Tom was wearing my photograph over his heart at the front the other day and it stopped a bullet?"
"Well, dear," answered Nell, looking at Jessie, "I'm not surprised."

GUESS WHO

"Ann," "Big Boy," "Helena," "Miss," "Chick," "Chet," "Uncle Zeke," "Freakie," "Fuzzie," "Deedie," "Wabbly."

Taken from Freshmen's Themes Written on "The Advantages of a Good Education."

"You can obscure a better position quicker."
"Later on you might be asked to hold a physician and it takes an education to do it."
"A farmer has to have an education to make an excess of farming."
"Your physical condition must be feeling good."
"You must sit in a good position and breeze plenty of good, fresh air."

Mrs. Russell: "Write a sentence containing the word 'ferment.'"
Lillian (upon looking in her dictionary, found that "ferment" meant "to work")
then wrote: "The man went to ferment in the garden."

Keeping the Secret.

Marie to Dorothy: "Edna told me that you told her that secret that I told you not to tell her."
Dorothy: "Oh, isn't she a mean thing! Why, I told her not to tell you."
Marie: "I told her I wouldn't tell you she told me, so don't tell her I did."

Who Says?

"Where's your pass?"
"That'll do now."
"Leave the room."
"Well, shut up!"
"You act like a baby."
"Oh, you rascal. I've a good notion to throw you out the window."
"Put up your work now."
"Fix it that-a-way."
"Get quiet."
"I'm from Murfresboro."
"There's too much noise on the back seat."
"No good—sit down."
"Is that right?"
"Didn't you hear the bell?"
"Very well."

Mathematical Explanation.

Estelle: "Wonder what causes indigestion?"

Mary Alice: "Frequently it is caused by the inability of a round stomach to adjust itself to a square meal."

Miss Williams: "What little girl can tell me where the home of the swallow is?"

Nancy D.: "The home of the swallow is in the stomach."

Miss Sugg: "What caused the decay of Roman Britain?"

Answer: "Bad weather and exposure to rain and snow caused the decay of Roman Britain."

Teacher: "Name the five zones."

Curtis: "Temperate, intemperate, war, postal and —"

Teacher: "What!"

Curtis: "Ozone."

Central is a pretty place,
Where all do as they oughter;
Its grass is very fresh and green,
And so is Clarence Slaughter.

Fish Notes.

Algebra — That form of torture directed toward the brain. Some victims go insane, others die.

Bonehead — A second lieutenant.

Buck Private — The fellow who has the best and easiest job on the battalion, a loafer.

Captain — A hollow-eyed, lop-eared, ivory-headed animal who tries to command a company.

Class Room — A torture chamber.

Company — Two platoons of loafers who walk in step one minute and out the remainder of the time.

Corporal — An empty head, whose sole occupation is "cussing" the men in his squad.

Dime — A small silver piece, usually the amount of a cadet's fortune. Central lieutenants wear them on their shoulders.

Drill — Walking around the parade ground in a leisurely manner. Cadets usually walk in groups. They prefer keeping step as it looks nicer.

Guide — A sergeant who walks a crooked line and expects the company to follow him.

Joke — Any cadet officer.

Lieutenant — A bonehead; a pretty boy.

Officer — An animal clad in leather puttees. Cadets usually salute them, as it is very becoming and pleasing.

Sergeant — A blockhead used to guide or "guide at" a company.

Student — One who studies. This species of animal is rare.

Study Hall — A place where loafers go to kill time.

Swell Head — A first sergeant.

—Swiped.

Strickland: "You know I've had something quivering on my lips for the last week."

She: "Yes, I've noticed it; but why don't you shave it off?"

Mrs. Russell: "Give a sentence containing the word capsizes."

Eugene Cushman: "My capsizes is 8 1/2."

Morrell Morris (on the yard): "It's the strangest thing, but the biggest nuts seem to get the finest girls."

Irene Brand: "Oh! you flatterer."

When Visiting Central

FIRST call upon the principal, but do not encroach upon his valuable time lest some unruly "Fish" escape a reprimand.

Next visit all former teachers. Engage each in a lengthy conversation in order that each student may have the much desired opportunity of gossip with his neighbor.

And, lest you forget, be sure to stay until Chapel Period, at which time you may be called upon to make a speech. Concerning this speech, we wish to make these few suggestions:

First, keep the students in suspense as to whether or not your speech is long enough to cause them to escape the grind of a recitation.

Second, if you have a speech of fifteen minutes' duration, do not fool yourself by talking thirty seconds.

Third, do not forget to say that the occasion reminds you of old times.

Fourth, give a harangue about school spirit. (This will elicit a yell or two which, while given to show Central always has the "pep," will cause you to vaguely feel that you are making a great speech.)

Fifth, a sweet smile checked by tender lines of sadness will be effective.

Sixth, be sure to stop when you have finished.

Seventh, expect the usual round of applause. (There are certain rules of high school etiquette which have never been broken; besides during such a demonstration a few more seconds of the impending recitation will elapse.)

Fourth Year Alphabet

A is for All; pertaining to the class, Let us all hope they will everyone pass.
 B is for Bathman, the minstrel star, Who made people laugh from anear and afar.
 C is for Central, the school we all love; To get through this school you must work with a shove.
 D is for Dora, in our Junior play, A real actress is what many say.
 E is for Elsie, with lessons well read, Who's got lots of knowledge now stored in her head.
 F is for Frank, a football hero, Who kept the opponents down close to zero.
 G is for Guthrie, with complexion so light, And also for Gentry, Oh! she's a sight.
 H is for Howard, who plays the piano, Who it is he loves is more than I know.
 I is for Ira, of business fame, We hope his art in it may remain the same.
 J is for Jesse, whose last name is Jones, Who always talks with such lovely bass tones.
 K is for King, who ranks number one, Though outside of military he has lots of fun.
 L is for Loretta, with pretty, black curls, Why doesn't she share them with some other girls?
 M is for Mildred, some cartoons she drew, Excelled by no one and equaled by few.
 N is for Nicholson, Nelson, too; Both very good students, Oh! isn't it true?
 O is for Osborn, our new class attorney, Who reads us our will e'er we start on life's journey.
 P is for Pope, in her chin is a dimple, Why we all like her is certainly simple.
 Q is for questions that we have on a test, that make you think and write your very best.
 R is for Raulston, the captain bold, His hair is the color of shiny, new gold.
 S is for Steffner and stands for Smith, too, Who have a good time at whatever they do.
 T is for Trotter, the boy who is tall, If he should stumble he'd have a long way to fall.
 U is for University, where some of us will be next year, being freshmen again will seem really queer.
 V is for Valdicatorian, I'm thinking of Commencement night, when we're all on the platform — Oh! what a plight.
 W is for Ward, the orator bold; Oh, the orations that he can unfold!
 X is for what, now? Couldn't you guess? I don't know myself, I must confess.
 Y is for You for whom I write this rhyme; to help you remember the class a long time.
 Z is for Ziegler, our principal firm; If we break any rule, he will make us all squirm.

William Waterhouse writes from "Over There" that he has been equipped with shoes weighing not less than twenty-five pounds apiece. Probably he has been selected to kick the Kaiser.

Murphy (in physics): "So this is all we have to remember about lenses, Miss Tribble?"

Miss Tribble: "Yes, if you have this theory in your head, you have it in a nut-shell."

Dorothy B.: "What do you suppose Raphael meant by sending me those flowers?"

Kittie S.: "He probably meant to imply that you were a dead one."

Can You Imagine —

1. Lunch without Joe?
2. Mr. Selcer without "just a few announcements"?
3. A quiet chapel period?
4. The drinking-fountains in the halls all working?
5. Herman Lamb without a grin?
6. A class without "home work"?
7. Enough restaurant buns to go around?
8. Virginia Steffner in a hurry?
9. Mary, Dora, and Gladys separated?
10. A quarrel between Ethel and John?
11. What would happen if the Seniors had a party?
12. Lionel Garnier without chewing-gum?
13. Leland talking sense?
14. Raulston without an excuse.
15. Mr. Conry angry?

FROM A FISH'S DIARY

One of the first things we noticed upon entering Central High School was a huge barrel-shaped animal which was laughing at us. This animal appeared to be more like a monkey with a hair-cut than anything else we could think of. Our curiosity was aroused, for we thought we had surely enrolled in a zoo instead of a high school. About this time the object of our gaze walked over to another ape-like animal with four eyes. He grasped his paw and bellowed, "Hello, Coach!"

Then our curiosity was so excited that we sent a delegation to inquire of a wise fool (Soph.) the characteristics and abode of these animals. They reported that the barrel-like animal was Herschel Massey, and that the ape with four eyes was none other than Coach Jimmy Rike. (We later learned that instead of four eyes, he had the customary, two, protected by a pair of glasses.)

STUDENTS' DIARY

- Aug. 30 — School opens.
- Sept. 3 — Freshmen lost in maze of Central's halls.
- Sept. 6 — S. O. S. for football players flashed over the school.
- Sept. 12 — "Mister" Louis Nonnemacher returns to school after a visit to Lions View, Mexico.
- Sept. 20 — Major John Hopkins King loses something on Bailey Avenue near the home of Miss Ethel Ortmeier. It is conceded that something which Major King lost was either his heart, or, perchance, his way home.
- Sept. 26 — Morning: A grand old joy meeting for a football game with McCallie. Appearance of Jimmy Rike and his favorite expression, "Boys, loosen up on your pocketbooks and buy a season ticket."
Late afternoon: Central gym is changed into a base hospital for broken hearts.
- Oct. 2 — Groans and sighs come from the principal's office. No, it is not "Fuzzy" being handled for cutting class. Mr. Ziegler himself is laboring under the strain of writing admits and dismissals. The "Flu" has made its expected visit.
- Oct. 8 — Central is proud of the number of prizes won at the Hamilton County Fair.
- Oct. 11 — Baylor is buried in the score 21 to 0.
- Oct. 14 — Seniors hold a class meeting at which Francis Ward is placed at their Ford's steering wheel.
- Oct. 15 — Juniors hold a class meeting at which the Heron delegation is elected for another term.
- Oct. 22 — Sophomores elect "Wild and Woolly" Templeton and his buddy, "Lardy" Petersen, President and Vice-President, respectively.
- Nov. 2 — Miss Parker and her death-dealing Algebra take a place among the faculty.
- Nov. 8 — Second six weeks' tests. Freshmen say the teachers test them for the things they do not know, rather than for the things they do know.
- Nov. 10 — All classes renew determination to study.
- Nov. 11 — Armistice is signed. Holiday! Parade.
- Nov. 19 — A rumor that Miss Williams is going to take a penmanship course (?) from Prof. Edmondson spreads over the school.

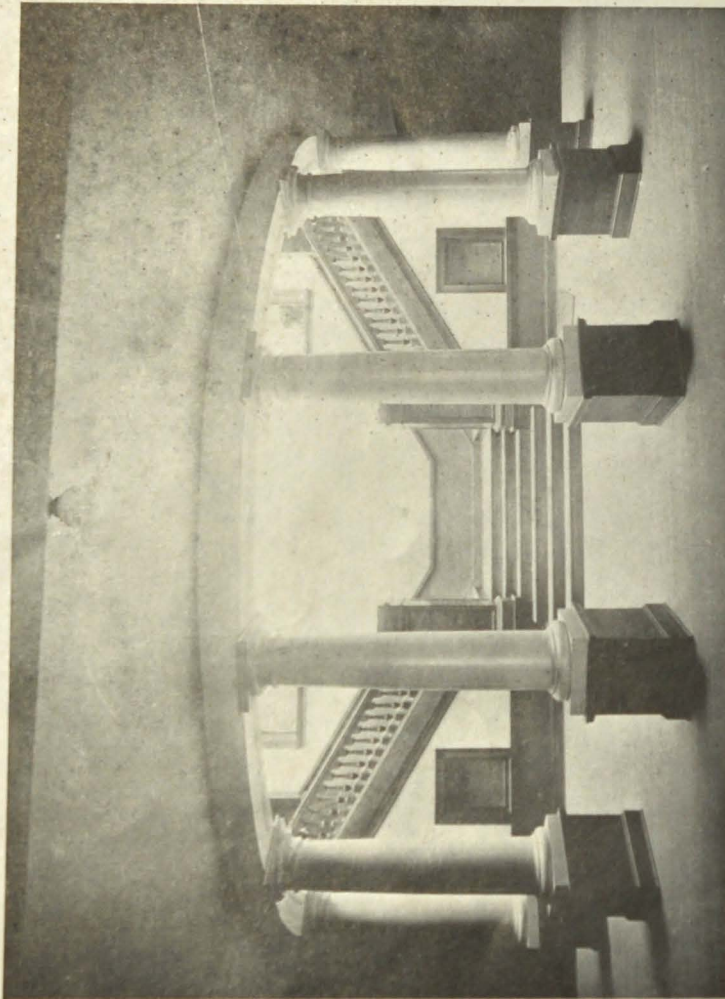

- Nov. 26 — All classes assemble in the lower study hall. Freshmen demonstrate their ability to participate in a Central joy meeting.
- Nov. 27 — Thanksgiving brings a football victory over City High.
- Dec. 3 — Captain "Lardy" Petersen and his "gang" go out for basket-ball. They say they will win the championship.
- Dec. 11 — Lionel Garnier makes his annual visit to a barber shop. (Stage's 15c special). Funds for same were raised by passing around the hat.
- Dec. 10 — Mr. Kimsey introduces "Lil Liza Jane."
- Dec. 19 — Members of the County Board of Education give decision as to the length of our Christmas holidays. Miss Marvin gives them a good "feed." Students entertain them. The decision—a whole week instead of the proposed one day.
- Dec. 30 — School reopens after Christmas holidays. Prof. Setliffe shaves his mustache.
- Jan. 3 — Alumni and Central play annual game. Score: "Moss Backs" 55; Central 9.
- Jan. — Midyear examinations! Great records made. We shall not record them here.
- Jan. 13 — First straw hat makes its appearance, and thus spring is with us three months before her regular coming.
- Feb. 10-14 — Better English Week.
- Feb. 19 — Senior rings are received — by freshmen and sophomore girls.
- Feb. 21 — School presents football boys with miniature gold footballs.
- Feb. 24 — First performance of Central's minstrels.
- Mar. 5 — "Dr." Harry Null pronounces the nervous convulsions of Dorothy Bachtel's tongue incurable.
- Mar. 12 — Students come to school "diked out" in their Sunday best. Photographer does not make appearance.
- Mar. 19 — Basketball team becomes city champions.
- Mar. — Opening baseball game.
- Mar. 28 — Freshmen entertain sophomores.
- April 3 — We welcome home the Thirtieth Division.
- May 14 — Junior-Senior banquet.
- May 15 — Class Day.
- May 16 — Commencement.

THE ROTUNDA

GRAND STAIRCASE

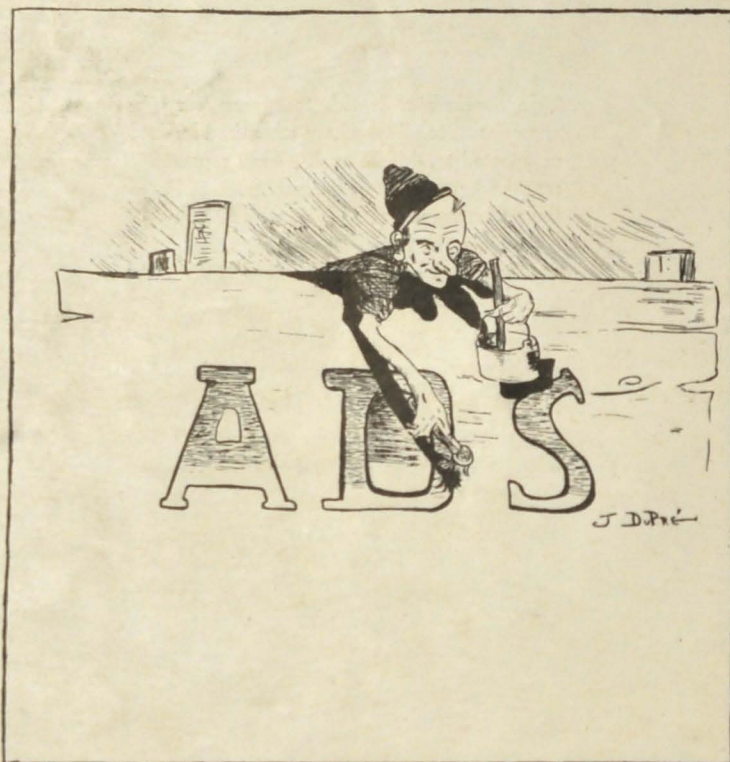

In concluding, I wish to express our appreciation to all who have advertised in, or donated to, this Annual. They represent the better class of business firms and those who are interested in our school. It is therefore due them that we, the students of Central High School, should give them our patronage.

The Henry W. Grady Society deserves special mention and appreciation for their financial aid and influence.

I also wish to thank the staff and all others who have endeavored to make this Annual a success.

The Shoe Doctor

It's the soles of people I keep in view,
For I am the doctor of Boot and Shoe;
And I serve the living and not the dead,
With the best of leather, machines, nails, thread.

A great many patients come to my door,
Worn and run down, besides feeling sore;
Though I don't use poultice, plaster or pill,
I cure all kinds of shoes, no matter how ill.

WADE FARRAR'S MASTER-PIECE

Any time is dancing time wherever there is a
Victrola

Wherever you feel like dancing, when a few friends stop in, when soldier and sailor boys are home on furlough, the Victrola is always ready with the music.

Music so superb as to take the place of an orchestra, and yet so accessible that you can have an impromptu dance at any time.

Everywhere the Victrola and Victor Dance Records are a constant invitation to dance—a source of keen wholesome pleasure.

Come in and let us give you a demonstration, and show you how you can have a Victrola at once by our plan of deferred payments.
