HOMECOMING

Here at Central High there is never a shortage of school spirit. We attend the pep rallies, games, and especially Homecoming. The crowd waits anxiously for the big moment to see who is crowned the new Central High Homecoming Queen. When the moment arrived, the band took the field, the court was introduced, and anxiety was at its peak. Finally, silence fell and Homecoming Queen was announced, Angie Thomas stepped forward, and was recognized and awarded a special spot in Central High History. After halftime, you might expect to find disappointed candidates crying over their loss but instead you saw them congratulating Angie.

"God didn't mean for me to have it, but I am glad that Angie did."

— Stephanie Brown

The Senior Class of 1996 wants to congratulate you Angie on your special honor to be our class Homecoming Queen.

As we, the class of 1996, carried our torches up the hill to Central High School, we endured many challenges. From entering high school, choosing leaders, and making new friends to leaving graduation, leaving our leadership positions, and keeping friends, we have faced every race with mental strength and endurance.

As we started our first lap of the 1600 meter marathon of high school, we needed leaders to guide us. These leaders were Louis Beba as president, Nicole Curry as vice-president, Joy Lawson as secretary, and Colby Rogers as treasurer. Following the example of our leaders, we began to create new friendships through clubs and sports. Our freshmen class had 11 members in PCA, 24 in Student Council, 6 in the Art Club and 6 in the STARS Advisory Council, 5 in FBIA, and an incredible 17 in the French Club.

We also excelled in sports. Twenty freshmen participated on our freshmen football team with Andre Mosley playing variety. We had 1 varsity cheerleader, Kami Hudson, and Cliff Morgan pitched for the varsity baseball team. On the girls' soccer team, we had 4 freshmen on varsity who helped the team place 3rd in the region. There were 8 freshmen on the guys' soccer team. We also had 4 freshmen who played softball and wrestled, and there were 3 on the girls' track team. Summer Jenkins was the only freshman on the varsity basketball and volleyball teams.

We had many other accomplishments during our freshmen year. Scott Duckett, Amy Kilpatrick, and Josh Voles made the UTE Honor's Band. Angie Thomas had the distinction of being selected as Best-All-Round Freshman. We had 17 members on the All County Band, 11 members in Academic Olympics, and 22 freshmen who received academic letters. When we finished the first lap of the race, we had numerous accomplishments that placed us ahead of the competition.

As we began the second lap of the race, new leaders emerged to guide us. Our president was Amy Ankar, vice-president was Angie Thomas, secretary was Joy Lawson, and treasurer was Colby Rogers. Josh Jones was selected for the Superintendent's Student Advisory Council, and Michelle Williamson and Bonnie Ashby attended Tennessee Governor's Schools.

In sports, we had 9 sophomores participate in football, 10 on the guys' soccer team, 7 in softball and basketball, and 3 in wrestling. We had 5 varsity cheerleaders, while Mike Bratcher and Tim Simons ran track.

Kelly McDaniel was a majorette, while Scott Vandergriff sang in All-Earth Choir. Furthermore, there were 6 sophomores girls selected to be in Tri-Hi-Y and Y-Teens. There were 9 members in PCA, 4 in YPLS, and 2 in FBIA. Nicole Curry was in the Art Club, and Brittany Yates and Michael Kelly participated in Mock Trial. We drew our second year to a close by selecting Colby Rogers as Best-All-Round.

As we started the third lap of the 1600 meter marathon, our mental strength and endurance started to show. The leaders of the junior class were Amy Ankar as president, Angie Thomas as vice-president, Joy Lawson as secretary, and Colby Rogers as treasurer. Our delegates to Boy's State were Michael Kelly and Scott Ross with Craig Staton and Josh Jones as alternates. Girl's State delegates included Summer Jenkins and Bonnie Ashby with Tonya Briggs and Joy Fowler as alternates.

Our strength in academics was shown through our 24 members in Beta Club and National Honor Society and 22 in Mu Alpha Theta. There were 8 members in YPLS, 14 in FBIA, and 5 in FBIA. Joy Lawson was the president of PCA while Molly McGill was vice-president.

We had 9 juniors in football, 5 in cheerleading and baseball, and 6 in softball. There were 7 members on the girls' soccer team, while Louis Beba received the Defense Award on the guys' team. Michael Goss wrestled, and Amanda Short played basketball. Corey Morgan helped the golf team place 2nd in the league.

Chip Miller was voted class clown, and Taryn Miller was awarded for her ballet performance in the Beta Club Talent Show. Colby Rogers was selected as Best-All-Round Junior to end our successful year. We now awaited our fourth and final lap of high school.

As we began our final lap of the race, we eagerly waited for the arrival of June 1, the day of graduation. A plethora of obstacles had been conquered, yet there were many more to come. As seniors, we began the last lap with the same strength and endurance that we possessed at the beginning of the race. We elected Dustin Howard to lead us as president with Angie Thomas holding the position of vice-president for the third year, and we re-elected Joy Lawson as secretary and Colby Rogers as treasurer. Besides officers, we also elected eight marshals: Louis Beba, Crystal Bush, Tiffany Harmon, Kacey Helms, Kelly McDaniel, Karyn Staats, Jill Talley, and Shannon Taylor.

Special days for the class of '96 such as Homecoming, Senior Day, and graduation made running the race much more enjoyable. Our homecoming court consisted of Stephanie Brown, Nicole Curry, Ingrid Noerager, and Shannon Taylor with Angie Thomas as our queen. On Senior Day, we chose Mr. Robbs as our Dedicatory and selected Colby Rogers and Nicole Curry as Mr. and Miss Central. Our class' mental strength was proven by our four valedictorians—Bonnie Ashby, Lisa Davis, Summer Jenkins, and Scott Ross, and Joy Fowler was our salutatorian. Bonnie Ashby was a National Merit finalist and a Presidential Scholar semi-finalist.

Other seniors displayed their school spirit and pride as well. For example, Vanessa McDade and Josh Voles were co-drum majors, Scott Ross was the JROTC Battalion Commander, and Scott Feathers was the president of the Discs and Diamonds Officers' Club. Our Military Ball queen and king were Angie Thomas and Joey Applegate.

The class of '96 also had several leaders in sports. Katie Miller and Leslie Wilhoite were captains of the girls' soccer team, while Louis Beba and Colby Rogers led the football team. Tiffany Harmon and Sarah Baker took charge of the basketball team, and while some of the leaders of the softball team included Erica Garrison and Casey Hamilton.

Now as we finish the final lap of the 1600 meter marathon, we can gaze into the future knowing that we have successfully completed one of the many races of life. The education we have received, the friendships we have made, and the experiences we have shared will help us face the many challenges that lie ahead. As we go our different ways, I wish you, the class of nineteen hundred and ninety-six, the best of luck and the ability to run every race with the same endurance that you have just displayed. May God bless you in everything you do.

This reads the History of the Class of 1996.

Leslie Wilhoite
Historian

For 4,386 years... As I was gazing down the fairway of the 17th hole, I was amazed by the beautiful scenery surrounding me. Suddenly I was struck by an errant Titleist by extreme mischance. Visions of the future of my classmates flooded my thoughts as I slipped into unconsciousness...

...Kerry Freed became a rich man after his car wreck with Bill Gates. Zack Gallups shared in this new-found wealth appearing as a professional character witness. Brian Chadwick's hopes of earning a Master's degree were cut short when his professor refused to accept a thesis written on notebook paper two weeks late. Tammy Willford and Karen Partington joined the National Karate Federation (NKF) due to exhibitions by the Pendergast brothers, who inspired them both. With the Jim Rose Break Show in town, Kelly McDaniel's body piercings were a big success. Jeff Carr's "Johnny the Human Torch" routine went rather badly. Joe Mays and Adam Emery were beaten to death inside Golden Glo Tanning Salon by anonymous classmates. They were told on for going to the tanning beds by Tiffany Harris.

...After suffering an ACL injury ending his basketball career, Andrae Mosley became a superstar in his first love, badminton. Kevin Shockey was still a senior. Chip Tardough set a world record for his accomplishment of driving to Soddy Daisy in under five minutes in his muscle car. Craig Staton officially became the sponsor of Avon's fragrance Wild Country. After undergoing experimental pituitary gland surgery, Alan Blackwell never stopped growing and grew to the amazing height of 7'3 1/2 feet and 7 inches. Brain surgeon Ann Brackett performed the difficult operation.

...Central graduates Andy Howell, "Behemoth," and Casey Hamilton, "Thunder," enjoyed flourishing careers as American Gladiators. Frank Lewis received the "Brenner of the Year" award for persuading Chris Moore and Nathan Reed to join the Chattanooga Boy's Choir. After the closing of the Bomb, rumor had it that on Saturday nights one could still hear Tamara Bidwell dancing in the Club. Incidentally, Jennifer Morris opened a chain of such clubs in her own scenic city of Ringgold. Adam Jolley became president of the National Hunky Sack Federation. Daniel and Samantha Hart fought to become the new Hart Foundation. Star Wars 16 pits for the good of the good Yoda. Eric King faces the evil Darth Vader. Josh Voles, in an epic battle. In the NBA controversy raged over Jalen Addeh Al-Sarim's, also known as Michael Daniel, refusal to acknowledge the flag or the national anthem. William Taylor inspired excellence for his contributions to the revival of the male cheerleader. Shelby Farley's child-oriented Llama Land was a huge success thanks to the endorsement of the Walt Disney Company. The children's favorite attractions were, of course, Princess Jasmine and Pocahontas, each played by Amy Ankar. Minutes after graduation Officer Frank Woods enjoyed his first bust as he captured Courtney Wright cruising Central's parking lot playing offensive music. Eric Ross's Top Ten Lists failed to register on any of the nation's Top Ten Lists. Hunting enthusiast Chris Henson met his demise when Reggie Cranford was demonstrating his deer hunting techniques in the woods with a banned automatic assault weapon.

...To this day, Andai Burke, pitching coach for the Atlanta Braves, continues his search for the woman of his dreams in downtown Disney World. Crimeboss Justin Zwing was forced to fire employee Stephen Parker for repeated absences and for failing to show up for a major hit because he, quote, "didn't feel like it." Joy Lawson had to leave her favorite country because of the harsh accent used by the Scottish that she said, "flicked her lips and throat."

...Robert's lifestyle of gambling was ended when he lost all he had in a Paper/Rock/Scissors contest to Michael Kacey Helms. We had to trade in his car to Ms. Helms, but who had him killed by hit woman Shannon Taylor after his car began to smell mysteriously funny. Ron Vail and Kelly Roberson's new restaurant, The Grandma Moses Cafe, was a smashing success due to their delicious hamburgers and chicken nuggets. Colby Rogers and Tim Allen ate the less popular turkey and dressing at the establishment every day. In the year 2009 Summer Olympics, Sarah Baker won the gold medal in the Powerclean weight-lifting competition. Shawn Smith's expensive line of thigh highs was a huge success due to endorsement by supermodel Michelle Gentry. Disaster was barely averted when newly inducted Sugar Moe Kami Hudson brought her flaming batons routine to the UTC Roundhouse during halftime. The Annual Chattanooga Badman Contest was won by Steve Haley for an unprecedented sixth time. Cliff Morgan settled for $2 million a year with the Los Angeles Dodgers to be near the woman he loved more than baseball—Channel One Anchor Lisa Ling. In the year 2009 Summer Olympics, Karyn Staats in the Third Annual National Quiet Game. Shawn Simon became the producer for Comedy Central.

...Rafaela Port was blessed with the expertise of a special man in her country of Brazil when she joined forces with General Shane Tucker, freedom firefighter. Ingrid Noerager became the new Swiss Miss girl. WWC Monday Nitro was interrupted as Billy "the Grim Reaper" Howard showed the world that rookie wrestler Jason Lightfoot, who wore a cape and fangs, was not really a vampire by skipping beating him. Tiffany Harmon attended, as usual.

...The fate of Dustin Howe was uncertain until country music scouts caught his act at the Governor's Lounge. Dustin's new album "My Tribute To Garth Brooks" is expected to go platinum. Touting with Dustin is call-popping superstar Amanda Lacey.

Taryn Miller was hard into food source by delicious soy bean hamburgers after her ballet scholarship fell through. Taryn was inducted into the cafeteria by Joy Fowler officially on Hamburger Day, otherwise known to the rest of us as Wednesday. Daniel Reesche took a piece of America back to Germany with him when he was taught the gentle art of cliff-jumping by wild and crazy jumping guru Amanda Short in the cliff-jumping capital of Birchwood. Summer Jenkins and Scott Ross started off their lives together by creating the newest real-life adaption to Natural Born Killers after Scott dropped out of West Point.

...Bonnie Ashby used most of her academic scholarships to attend Lollapalooza 12, a blatant misuse of her college money.

...Corey Morgan's new engineering masterpiece helped Lake Winnie's popular "Black Hole" to function without paralyzing accident.

...Jason Battie's promising career with the Mattel Toy Company was damaged when he enthusiastically promoted a new toy he dubbed "Baby's First Goggles-Powered Sharp Thing."

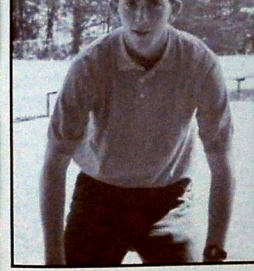

...After graduating with honors from Chattanooga State, business major Louis Beba went on to become the most successful of Central High's Class of '96 by taking a major managerial position at Waffle House. Someone less successful was Josh Self who went on to play pro football for millions of dollars.

...Fortune was less kind to Rob Dugan, who was told on for going to Taco Bell his senior year of college by Brittany Yates. Rob faces six years and forty hours of community service or the optional caning.

...Angie Rudder's hard-nosed tactics led to a promotion in the Blue Denim Dress Code Police Corps. The kindheartedness and good-nature of Angie Thomas landed her a job as a bonicer.

...After his 29th reversion to the rich in his head, Matthew Lyle Morgan left his multiple girlfriends to pursue a simple Indian life of freewater, beads, and Segs.

...Nearly choking to death in the water trap, I awoke to see the smiling face of Ralph Hixon gazing down at me. His apparent slice had nearly sentenced me to death in the fairway. As I asked him about my visions and about what the future holds, he merely smiled at me and told me if I wanted to graduate, I'd better pay my Contemporary Issues fee.

LAST WILL AND TESTAMENT

POEM

REACH WITHIN

Just as a picture is worth a thousand words,
Our school memories could fill many a book.
Each lesson we learned, each memory so dear
Gives hope for a future we need not fear.

Years will pass
and our lives will change,
but there is one thing that remains the same.

The pragmatic past
is only a minute behind.
The minute ahead
to make it thine.

Who we are
we now must look
In the depth of souls
in our mind's nook.

The time has come for the spirit to run free.
Come closer, look closer
Locked inside, you hold the key.

Theme: For one to reach inside oneself and use their potential to fulfill future dreams.

CLASS OF 1996

DEDICATORY 1996 MRS. CATHY ROBBS

Mrs. Cathy Robbs

The class of 1996's dedicatory, Mrs. Cathy Robbs has been a teacher at Central for fifteen years. She went to East Ridge and graduated from UTC. She is also an active member of Ridge-dale Baptist Church.

She first knew she wanted to be a teacher in her third year of college. She chose English be-cause of her passion to read. She started with a major in vocal performances but realized it would not be practical because of her strong family values. Her goal was to have a family and be able to spend time with them.

As a result she finds plenty of time to spend with her two sons, Josh and Jordan. They have the same schedule throughout the year. She attends their sports games and practices, and they all stay active in church. She takes them on trips, to plays, and other activities. She wants them to have a balance from basketball to Broadway. Mrs. Robbs considers her children the most important part of her life because she is responsible for what they become.

As a teacher, literature is most important to her. She loves getting in front of a class and watching the students grasp what she is teaching. She also loves being creative with teaching. Beyond her career she has three passions: reading, traveling, and singing music.

Her church life is also important because not only is it a place for her to spend time with her kids, but it is a place for inspiration, social activity, and where she can participate musically. Also, her family and best friends attend the same church.

Mrs. Robbs' favorite part of teaching is when students return after graduation and always appreciate her high expectations while she taught them. She has advice for all those who think they want to be a teacher. Make sure you can be passionate and throw yourself into your work. You have to love it and not feel like you have to teach because your students will be able to tell first thing.

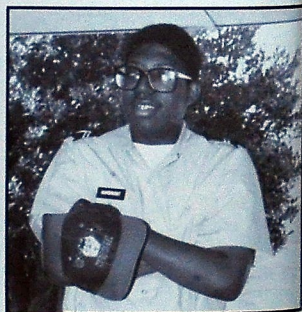

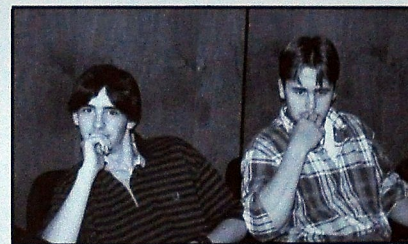

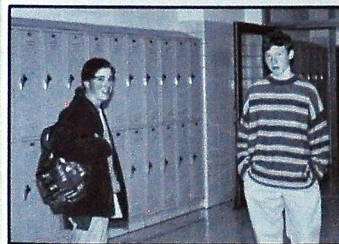

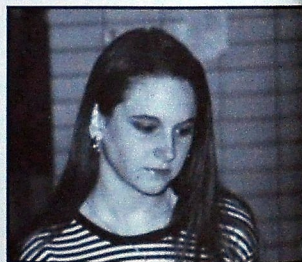

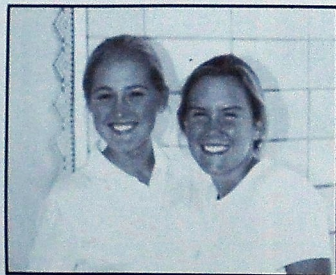

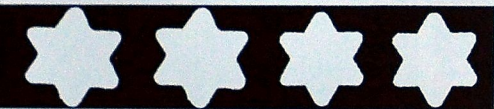

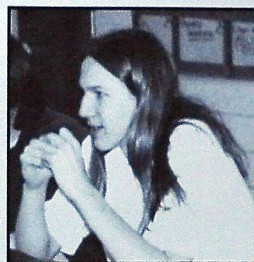

We all know and love Mrs. Robbs for the sweet yet aggressive and caring teacher she is. The class of 1996 could not have made a better choice for dedicatory.

A portion of the speech given by Mrs. Cathy Robbs on Senior Day — May 17, 1996.

— Even though seeking new adventures is exciting, it's also scary, for we must leave the known for the unknown. We can relate to the young eaglet learning to fly. A mother eagle builds a comfortable nest for her young, padding it with her own feathers. One day when the mother believes her baby is ready, she disturbs the twigs of the nest, making it uncomfortable to stay. Then she picks up a perplexed eaglet, soars into the sky, and drops it. The little bird begins to free-fall. Mother quickly swoops underneath and catches the fledgling on one strong wing. This process is repeated until the little bird can spread his wings and fly alone. I encourage you to free-fall, realizing as I have through personal experience that life is full of both triumphs and tragedies, loves and losses. But rest assured that in your fall — family, friends, and faith will be there to catch you and lead you back to safety until one day you too can fly alone. I wish for each of you a fulfilling life of opportunities, treasures, and serendipities. May you always seize the day! Thank you!

MR. PRESTON'S RETIREMENT PARTY

On June 4, 1996 Mr. Preston and Mrs. Shamblin were honored for their years of dedication to Central High School. Mr. Preston served as principal of Central for fifteen years, and Mrs. Shamblin was his secretary for most of these years. Under their guidance, our school was named a National Bellamy School of Excellence and received numerous honors and awards. We thank them both from the bottom of our hearts for their service and for their love of Central High School. We also wish them a happy retirement and years to come.

SCOTT ROSS AND BONNIE ASHBY

All of Central's graduating seniors should be congratulated for all of their accomplishments but two in particular deserve special recognition. These students are Bonnie Ashby and Scott Ross.

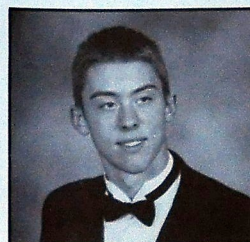

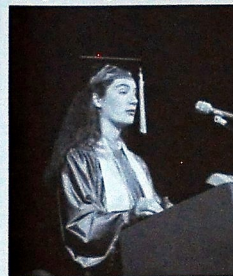

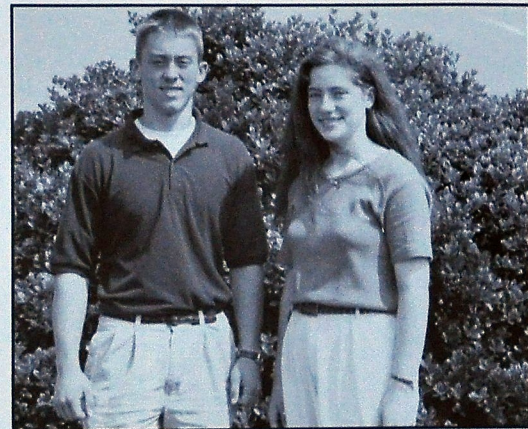

Bonnie was a valedictorian and had a 4.0 GPA. This year Bonnie received two distinguished honors. She was named a Presidential Scholar Semifinalist, which is an honor that is primarily based on ACT and SAT scores. A committee chosen by the President selects 500 semifinalists from schools all across the United States. She also was named a National Merit Scholar based on PSAT and SAT scores. Bonnie said these awards are important to her because "it's nice to be recognized for all the hard work and it is an honor to my school and family."

Bonnie will be attending Brigham Young University this fall on a full scholarship and she will be studying English education. Bonnie credits her faith in God, her family, and her teachers for her success. She plans to teach English and write fiction and eventually raise a family.

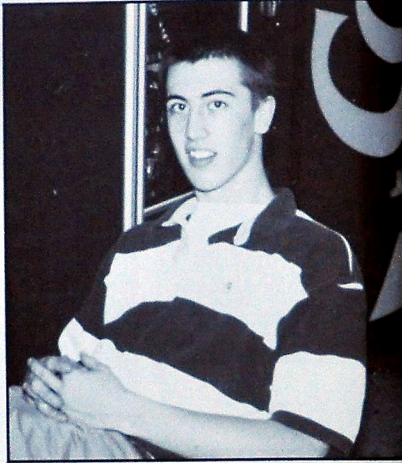

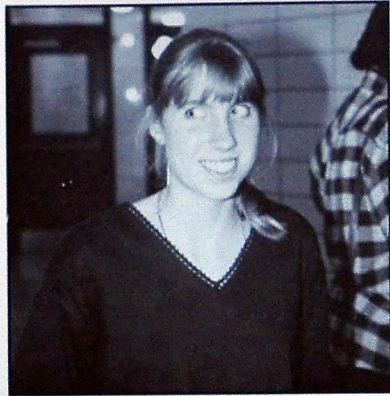

Scott was also a valedictorian and had a 4.0 GPA. Scott was Central High School's JROTC battalion commander this year and was selected to attend West Point. He is to report to the Campus in July. He received a fully-funded four year Federal Government scholarship.

His appointment was made by Congressman Zach Wamp. Each U.S. representative may make five appointments a year. Appointments are based on high school academic record, performance on ACT and SAT, and above average strength, endurance, and agility. Scott says he looks forward to challenging himself and encouraging all graduating seniors to challenge themselves to the fullest.

Congratulations Bonnie and Scott, we are proud of both of you.

Central gets ready to take on the second half.

The 1996 boys soccer season ended with the semi-finals of the district tournament. The teams record was 11-9 and a good showing for such a tough schedule and a rebuilding year after losing 12 seniors.

The team played a total of 11 teams that were ranked in the top ten of the state at one point or another. This tough schedule will season our younger players and improve our competitiveness. We won the Gatlinberg Spring Classic for the second year in a row and were playing strong until injuries and other problems arose. The Junior Varsity ended 4-5 on the season.

Lo común

This Year, the Spanish Club played an active roll in our community and in the events of Central High School. They Attended club functions where they were allowed to experience some Hispanic culture while among friends. Also, one of their major accomplishments this year was their annual collection of food for a needy Spanish family. Through their community service the 1996 Spanish Club has proven themselves to be the most extraordinary group yet.

SPIRIT WEEK

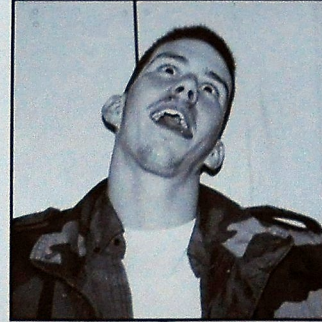

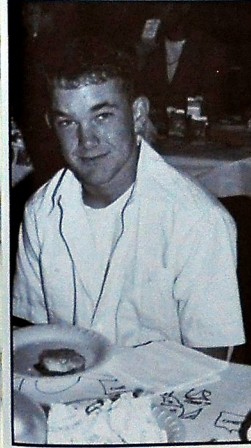

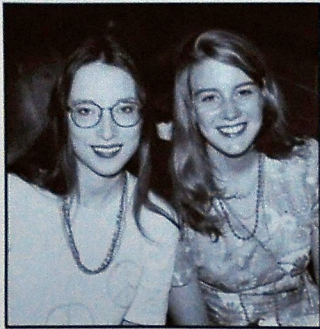

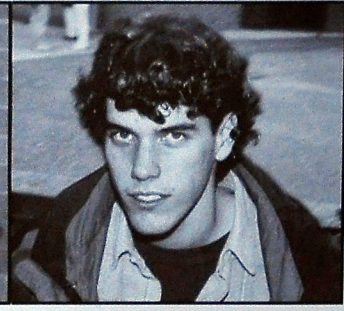

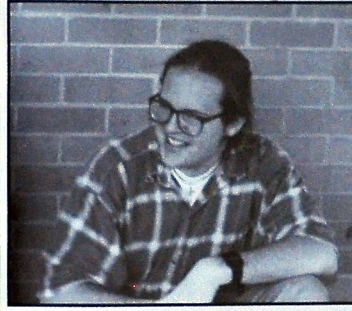

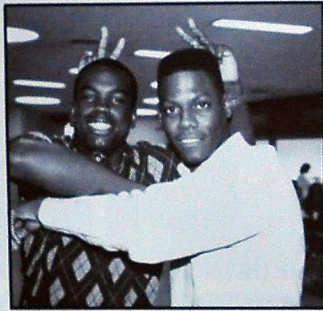

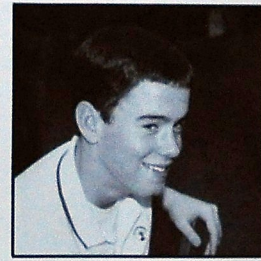

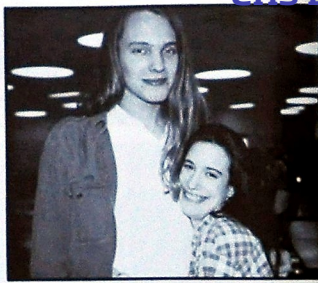

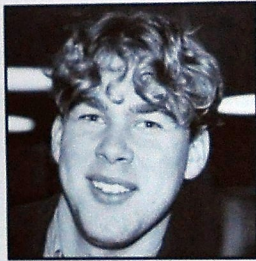

Spirit week is a week for Central students to show their "Purple Pride." Having and showing spirit is more than wearing a college sweatshirt or dressing like a hippie; the most spirit is just there; that "Purple Pride." But, from Marshall's uniforms to the "nine" musketeers, most everybody showed their spirit at least once in the week by dressing up. This year's spirit week went like this: Monday — Hippie Day, Tuesday — Twin Day, Wednesday — College Day, Thursday — Purple and Gold Day, Friday — Class Color Day. The spirit poles are also one way we show our pride. The poles were decorated this year, just as always, and they looked good! The Juniors won for the best pole. There are many ways to show Central's "Purple Pride" and spirit week is a big one!
