During the Central-Pounder fans join theers in a yell for theers.

As the doors of Central High were once again opened, the flood of students poured in, eager to begin the year. It was to be a year of changes. This was proved as a freshman class was added to the student body. Another expansion took place in the areas of the administration and faculty. Because of the increased enrollment, seventeen new teachers and one guidance counselor were added. Classes were added and floating teachers became necessary. Also, a third lunch period was needed to meet the needs of the enlarged student body. As these changes and others were made, sitting as well as standing room became available.

STILL ROOM TO BREATHE

The first few weeks of school proved to be a time of learning schedules, joining new teams, and getting to know fellow classmates. As the first bell sounded, empty halls were once again filled with activity. Seniors and juniors had no difficulty getting back in "the swing of things," but it would be a while before the sophomores and freshmen would be able to maneuver with confidence around circular buildings known as Central High. Long lines became an accustomed sight at the bookstore, bank, and in the lunchroom as things started to settle down into routine.

EXPANSION UNDERWAY

Filled with excitement and anticipation, the studentry of CHS were anxious as to what the year would bring. Central spirit seemed to overflow as even the smaller clubs began to take an active part in expressing their love for the school. By the end of each week, signs could be seen everywhere, encouraging the teams to "Bomb the Bears" and "Trample the Rams," to name just a few. Each Friday before a football game, classes were dismissed thirty minutes early to allow time for a pep meeting. At this time the students and faculty would assemble in the football stadium. This was a change from years past when pep meetings were held in the agora. But with the increase of students this too was revised to give more room for expansion.

ORGANIZED CROWDS

As the first few weeks of school sped swiftly by, life calmed down into what some might call organized chaos. Class leaders emerged from the masses of students, and teachers became accustomed to having sometimes three SUSANS in one class. Crowded halls were still a problem, but students learned quickly the best times to attempt a trip to their lockers. Schedules were finally worked out and the students, as well as teachers, could get down to some serious work. Despite the crowds, it seemed as if there might eventually be room for one more.

WELCOME WEEKENDS

Looking forward to the weekend to break the routine of school days, Centralites participated in several activities. Much time was devoted to leisurely activities, whether it was playing football with a group of friends, or resting up for the stress and strain of the following week of school. Some, however, found it enjoyable to participate in competitive or community service events, such as the weekly moto-cross hill climb sponsored by WGOW, or the annual Walkathon sponsored by WFLI for St. Jude Children's Research Hospital. Still, other students worked at a regular job to earn money for necessities or luxury items.

After a hard day's work at Central High, the main thought in the minds of students was to escape. There was a mad scramble to the lockers; then, a rush to waiting cars and busses. These mad rushes, that usually resulted in congested traffic, were seen during the first few weeks of school. With the added freshmen, even more traffic evolved from parents arriving to pick up those not riding a bus. After the school routine began to settle down, the problem began to diminish. Club meetings were held after school, along with the team sports and performing arts' practices so that Central's traffic continued, though uncongested, well into the afternoon.

MEAL-TIME MANIA

Long lunch lines fifth period challenged hungry Centralites to finish their meal before the final bell rang. Frustrations such as waiting in the wrong line for fifteen minutes, or having one's chair stolen made it difficult for some to enjoy their meals. Thus, some students chose to escape the noisy confusion of the lunchroom by sitting outside in the agora or in front of the school on warmer days, or sitting inside on the circular benches on cold, December days. Almost daily, students used the lunch period to study in the library, or to make important phone calls.

SCHOOL SPIRIT GRADE A

School spirit was something that true Centralites conveyed during the pep rallies on Friday afternoons. These rallies were not only a way of relieving tension, but also of showing the football team the faith held in their ability to play. New cheerleaders and their cheers raised already soaring spirits. With five male additions to the squad, the male population of Central saw that cheering and singing the "Alma Mater" were not for girls only. Despite slightly overcrowded conditions, sophomores and freshmen learned that Central was not a cold and frightening school, but a school of compatible people having fun while learning together.

FOOTBALL FEVER

Long before the football season opened, the Central squad could be seen out on the practice field preparing for the months to come. The gridmen worked intensely in hopes of making the season a success. Added student support helped to encourage the team to victory. Big, furry blankets, Central cushions, shakers, and confetti were a few of the accustomed sights. Many a cold Friday night was spent huddled under a blanket as the fans cheered their team on. Their support helped the Pounders end the season with an improved record of 3-7.

Opening Central's football season, the Purple fought McGavock's Cougars but lost by a score of 30-0.

In the opening quarter, McGavock's Kevin Gray jaunted four yards to score their first touchdown.

Fourth quarter, Tony Waddell of McGavock intercepted a pass from Central's Rod Croft, which gave McGavock their final touchdown.

Sophomore Tommy Cope rushed 65 yards in 13 carries for the Purple Pounders.

A fighting Central team went down in defeat as they lost to Bradley 21-7.

On the first play of Bradley's second possession, the Bears' quarterback fired a fifty-seven yard touchdown pass.

When Central received the ball at the Bradley thirty-eight yard line, the Pounders capitalized as Warnie Shaw sprinted twenty-six yards for the final touchdown.

SEPTEMBER SCOREBOARDS

With a fine performance the Purple Pounders upset Hixson 12-7.

Hixson scored first on a fifty-nine yard run. Central came back after an interception with a score on a thirty-two yard play ending with Warnie Shaw hitting Bubba Joynes for the touchdown.

Central's final score came after Bruce Conrad hit Mike Wilson for twenty-four yards and then Conrad muscled in from one yard out.

The Pounders stifling defense was led by seniors Ken Lusk, Mark Lawrence, and Jon Garrett.

Central showed new hope for the season as they stomped Tyner 28-0.

In the opening period, Jon Garrett recovered a Tyner fumble at the Ram 24. After four attempts, Paul Forgey reached paydirt.

In the second period, Central received the ball at their own 29. The Pounders marched 71 yards for their second touchdown.

Warnie Shaw moved the Pounders to the Ram seven after a blast of 50 yards. Forgey scored again.

Following an interception, the Pounders went on to complete a 21-yard pass play. Then Conrad hit Joynes for another touchdown.

Central's final score came when Shaw rushed in over left tackle.

The Central Pounders met the Rebels of Brainerd at the Brainerd field in a game that proved disappointing for the Pounders as the game ended with a 7-0 score.

The Rebels took the opening kickoff and marched seventy-three yards for what turned out to be the winning touchdown.

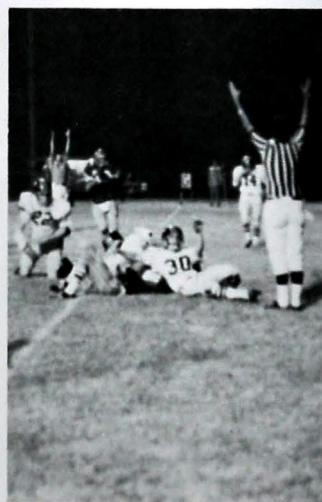

Twice Central was on the Brainerd one-yard line, but fumbles kept the Pounders from scoring.

Central put together one more drive to the Brainerd twenty-four yard line, but the Rebel defense stiffened and the Pounders had to turn the ball over on the fourth down.

Outstanding offensive players were Bubba Joyner and Mike Wilson, while Jon Garrett and Alan Pressley led the defense.

OCTOBER OBJECTIVES

Fumbles and interceptions took their toll when the Pounders met the Lions at Red Bank.

Red Bank won the toss and here began what seemed to be an unstoppable force. In the first minutes of play the Lions went in for the start of a string of touchdowns.

After the half it looked like the Pounders might have a chance. Junior Danny Crosland took the ball in for the touchdown and Warnie Shaw followed with the two-point conversion. Bad luck again fell on the Pounders and the Lions had control of the ball most of the remainder of the game. The final score was 39-8.

Led by sterling defensive play, the Pounders romped to a 42-28 Homecoming victory over Soddy-Daisy.

Bubba Joynes, whose play earned him the state Player of the Week Award, was especially outstanding. His five interceptions were thought to be a state record. Offensively, he scored on one touchdown pass and kicked our extra points. Other offensive gems were Danny Crossland, with two scores, and Wannie Shaw.

Central's defense did not allow the Trojans to score during the first half. Soddy-Daisy's only scores came late in the game against substitutes.

Most people were just walking in when Pioneer speedster Gary Simmons returned the opening kickoff ninety yards for a touchdown.

In the second quarter Central and East Ridge both registered tallies. Central's score came on a six-yard pass from Rod Croft to Bubba Joynes. After receiving the ball on the ensuing kickoff, the Pounders sped down the field for the second score of the quarter.

In the final half, Central fumbled the kickoff on the thirty-one yard line. The Pounders quickly took advantage of this by marching in for the score.

Central scored again on a pass from Wannie Shaw to Joynes, making the final score East Ridge 28, Central 14.

NOVEMBER NOTICES

With an array of Central supporters that ranged from Central alumni to future Centralites, the Pounders fought their arch rival City to a 24-0 defeat.

After City fumbled on the second play from scrimmage, it looked as though the Pounders had gained an advantage. But City fought back with four touchdowns en route to their win.

In the first half both teams' offenses had failed them.

City's James Thomas was in the second-half spotlight as he scored on runs of 72, 29, and 6 yards. Central's bright spot was the play of juniors Alan Pressley, Bubba Joynes, and Port Raulston.

Although Central had hopes of ending the season with win, Overton won the final game.

Overton was led by Charles Johnson. He ran for 177 yards and scored four times.

The Pounder's lone scoring drive came late in the fourth quarter and ended with a twenty-yard pass from Bruce Conrad to Bubba Joynes to make the final score 42-6.

Mock political assemblies and elections kept eight rising seniors busy for one week of summer vacation at the annual Volunteer State Conventions. In October one of the eight also attended the annual Bellamy Award Presentation.

Boys State was held at Tennessee Tech this year and delegates from Central attending were Randy Schonhoff, Jim Dedmon, Walter Law, Edward Wheatley and Marlin Keller. They were elected to various government offices, with the highest office being mayor, won by Jim.

Middle Tennessee State University hosted Girls State 1974. Donna Gay, Jan Corwin, and Lori Jurczak represented Central there. They, too, became legislators and government officials for a week.

Jim Dedmon spent a week in October at Los Alamos High in New Mexico attending the Bellamy Award ceremonies there. The delegates, all representatives from high schools who had previously won the award, toured the state and Jim found the trip an interesting and educational experience. At the end of the week the actual presentation was made and the program was broadcast live on local television.

HOMECOMING HIGHLIGHTS

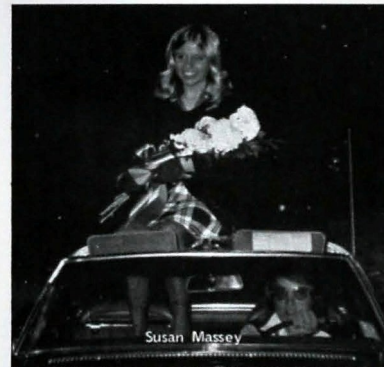

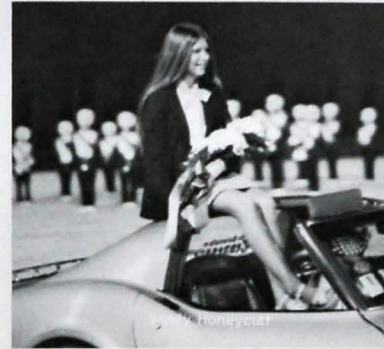

Homecoming once again proved to be one of the true highlights of the school year. The halftime activities, including the presentation of Sandy Honeycutt, Susan Massey, Annie Owen, Pam Roy, and Jackie Scruggs as candidates and Annie's crowning as homecoming queen, were only part of the exciting night. Adding to the exuberant feeling of those present was Central's masterful victory over Soddy-Daisy. Following the game, the Student Council sponsored a dance in the Commons with music provided by the band, Bachus. The combined efforts of all those who had a part in the game, the victory, the decorations, and the music resulted in a memorable evening for those who attended.

COED CHEERLEADERS

Changes and adjustments were evident in the 1974-75 Cheerleading Squad. For the first time since 1970, Pounder yells were led by a coed squad as five guys, ten girls, and a new sponsor, Mrs. Priscilla Turnbo, were selected last May.

During August 19-23 the squad attended a cheerleading clinic at the University of Tennessee at Knoxville. In preparation the cheerleaders reported to the agora for practice at 6:00 a.m. every weekday two weeks before camp. Their hard work paid off as they were awarded one excellent and three superior ribbons. They were also voted the recipient of the Spark Plug by the squads attending the workshop. This award is the third consecutive that Central squads have received at summer clinics.

A busy year prevailed as the fifteen Centralites worked to boost spirit during all sports seasons.

FIFTIES FRENZY, HOLIDAY HAPPENINGS

The spirit of Central was still raging long after the traditional Spirit Week which preceded the City-Central game. Activities for Spirit Week began on Monday with the Sophomores' Purple and Gold Day and included a Purple and Gold Day for the Freshmen, Juniors, and Seniors, a Bonfire, a Sock-Hop, Silence Day, a before-school breakfast, and Fifties Day. Club participation was outstanding as exemplified by the many club-sponsored projects, activities, and signs which covered the walls and windows of the school. The faculty also took part in building spirit by painting signs and arriving at school on Friday in their "fifties finest." Climaxing the week was the pep rally Friday, the crowning of Lindy Henley and Becky Robbins as Mr. and Miss Spirit, and the honoring of Mrs. J.C. Robbins as the Most Spirited Teacher.

Spirit did not evaporate from Central then, however, as the Student Council soon began work on their annual Christmas Prom. With the big day approaching and the eternal questions of date forms, tickets, dresses, and pictures looming ahead, the student body also joined in the holiday spirit. The members of the Student Council nominated Diana Bryant, Cindy Byers, Lori Jurczak, and Susan Massey for Christmas Prom queen and Jim Dedmon, Reid Hughes, Gary Pickering and Randy Schonhoff for Christmas Prom king. Those attending the dance selected Cindy Byers and Reid Hughes to reign over the festivities. Thus, Central found that a spirit of unity and love of one's school does not have to disappear with the passing of Spirit Week.

SPIRIT IN SPORTS

Addition of the ninth graders also brought about the introduction of an additional set of cheerleaders. Two seniors, two juniors, five sophomores, and two freshmen comprised the Junior Varsity Cheerleading Squad.

In their third year as an organization, the Spirit Squad has again shown their love for the Pounder men.

Supported by these spirit organizations, the wrestling team proved to be one of the toughest in town. Led by Captain Al Brown, Co-Captain Jeff Pair, and Co-Captain Freddie Stansell, the team won all five of their first matches. Other wrestlers with outstanding records were Kevin Thedford, Earl Walker, Bubba Joyner, Jeff Hertzog, and Gary Holder.

TAKE-DOWN RECORDS

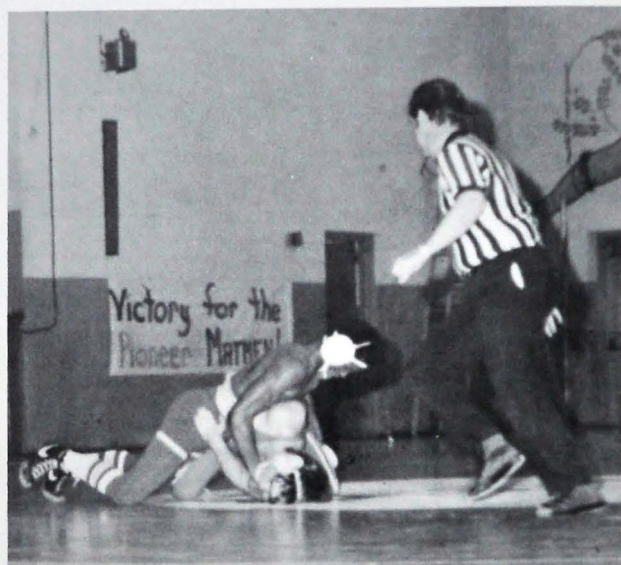

Holding on to the pre-season prediction, Central wrestlers ended the season with an improved 12-5 record. Due to a vacancy on the coaching staff, Gordon Mason was acquired as assistant coach. Moreover, added student support gave the wrestlers an incentive to put forth their best. These efforts proved beneficial as, among other victories, the matmen blanked Rossville 58-0. Also, in tournament competition, Central placed fourth in both the Central Invitational and the Ryan Invitational, and fifth in the District Tournament. As a result of this fifth placement, five of the varsity wrestlers were eligible to compete in the Regional Tournament. They were Al Brown, Jeff Hertz, Jeff Pair, Kevin Thedford, and Earl Walker.

HCL RUNNER-UP

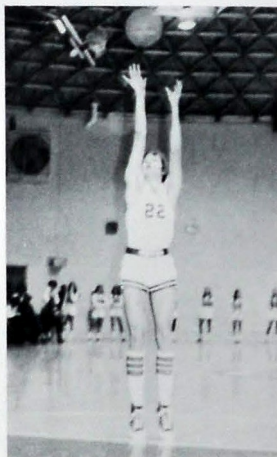

Led by a starting five consisting of Captain Gary Conner, David Merriman, Wes Johnson, Delta Brogden, and Tim Chavis, the Pounder Basketball Team was a winner. But the team's winning was not due to just the efforts of these five. Several times during the season substitutes Butch Wallis, Jimmy Garren, and Mike Kimble came off the bench to ignite rallies with their last-minute heroics. Coached by two first-year Central coaches, Larry Payne and Mike Ricketts, the Central cagers enjoyed one of the most successful seasons since the school moved to Harrison.

BASKETBALL GAINS

Plagued by inexperience, the freshmen team, brought into existence when Central added a ninth grade, ended the season with a 4-10 record. Bright spots were wins over league leaders Soddy-Daisy and East Ridge. Two outstanding freshmen players were Bobby Moyer and Eddie Hickey. Moyer was first in the county in scoring, and Hickey was fourth.

With a season's record of 5-12, the B-team was actually better than the record showed. Several games were lost by one or two points. The highlight of the year came when they defeated East Ridge 76-73 in double overtimes. Kirby Scott, Wayne Winston, Andre Sharp, Jimmy Webb, and Rodney Earls were consistent players throughout the year.

After a disappointing loss to East Ridge, the varsity finished the season as a runner-up in the HCL.

Chosen All-County were Gary Conner, David Merriman, and Delta Brogden. Senior lettermen were Merriman, Conner, Wes Johnson, and Mike Kimble. Junior lettermen were Tim Chavis, Delta Brogden, Jimmy Garren, and Butch Wallis.

After losing their final three games, the Pounders' record was 12-9. After being fourth-seeded in the District Tournament, the Pounders finished second. Since the top two teams from each district advanced to the region, the team traveled to Motlow State College to play in the Region 3-L Tournament. After a first-round win over Cookeville the Central cagers bowed to Riverside in the semi-finals.

Under the leadership of Sgt. Warren Luttrell, the eight members of the 1974 golf squad ended their season with an 8-4 record. With Kenny Bales as the top golfer, the squad placed fourth in the District Tournament.

Trained by Coach Steve Highlander, Central's Cross-Country team, consisting of ten runners, also had a winning season with a record of 10-9. Sophomores Steve Smith and Ronny Durham became Central's two best runners in the meets held at Chickamauga Dam.

Along with golf and cross country, the 1974 track team had a winning season of 6-4, with Willie Chestnutt and Delta Brogden finishing as the two top runners.

ATHLETICS IN ACTION

With starters Billy Geren, Joe Billy McDaniel, Delta Brogden, Jimmy Garren, and Lebron Dill returning, the Central Baseball Team could prove to be a contender for league honors. Last year an inexperienced Pounder team posted an 8-9 record.

Another team with athletes returning was the girls' volleyball team. Led by Captain Jackie Scruggs and Co-Captain Lori Jurczak the team was laden with talent. Mrs. Margaret Hammack, coach, stated that with a larger than usual number of sophomores the prospects for future teams were promising. Also, with new uniforms the team felt a greater sense of pride.

While perhaps not as talented as the volleyball team, the boys' gym classes participated in volleyball and other sports as they learned the physical aspect of education.

FUN AND FITNESS

Girls physical education experienced some changing of its own. It no longer was required of junior girls to take p.e. because of the addition of the ninth-grade class.

Thus, it was the sophomore and freshmen girls who received instruction on the basic tools and techniques of sports such as basketball, volleyball, and softball. Many of these activities would soon evolve into favorite pastimes and hobbies.

Other favorite pastimes were not necessarily learned at school. The mountains, the rivers, and the ocean lured Centralites to pursue their interests.

Canoeing, horse racing, and hill climbing were just a few of all the thrilling adventures in which Central students participated in their leisure time.

CORONATION OF MR. AND MISS CENTRAL

On Friday, March 7, the entire student body and faculty attended the forty-second annual Senior Day held in the gymnasium. The festivities began at 10:00 a.m. with the highlight of the event being the presentation and crowning of Mr. Central, Gary Conner and Miss Central, Anne Owen.

Seniors, along with the underclassmen, faculty, and guests, were surrounded in pastels of yellow and green. "Goodbye Yellow Brick Road" was an appropriate theme for the beginning of the activities which would close out the seniors' high school years. As the court, attendants, and Mr. and Miss Central stepped across the yellow bridge onto the stage, many seniors realized their future lay beyond the yellow brick road.

YEARBOOK DEDICATORY

Members of the Senior Class chose Mrs. Janette Crawley as the 1975 Dedicatory. Along with this title went the responsibility of preparing and delivering a speech directed to the graduating class on Senior Day. She chose as her topic, "Character in Leadership."

Mrs. Crawley exemplified the qualities about which she spoke in her many activities. She is a Central graduate and earned a B.S. degree from the University of Chattanooga. She is a member of Alpha Delta Pi social sorority. Her present activities at Central include sponsor of the Y-Teens and secretary and treasurer of the Central High Alumni Association. Mrs. Crawley is a member of both the National and Tennessee Education Associations. The Chattanooga Area Home Economics Association voted her president of the organization for 1975-1976.

HOE-DOWN

With calls of "Yea-Haw!" and "Howdy!" ringing through the halls, Centralites ushered in Red Neck Day and celebrated it in an unparalleled fashion. Students and faculty members alike appeared at school sporting such items of fashion as overalls, white socks, bandanas, and hundreds of painted freckles.

The Student Council joined in the spirit by sponsoring the Sadie Hawkins Dance and choosing the candidates for King of Dogpatch. Everyone attending the dance was resplendent in their Sadie Hawkins dress and ready for a real hoe-down. They were not disappointed as the evening turned into a truly enjoyable affair and a warm memory for all present.

NATIONAL, STATE, LOCAL, SCHOOL HONOREES

Many Centralites were awarded for their achievements and abilities during the 1975 school year. Class Day speakers were chosen by seniors in a class meeting on February 20. In being selected, these four accepted the responsibility of making one of the last of the year's activities for seniors a memorable one. Prophet, poet, historian, and reader-of-the-will combined facts and imagination resulting in a presentation of the past, present, and future of the Class of '75.

As Seniors were honored by their peers, other Centralites were recognized on a national, state, and local basis. Several students were named as outstanding in such areas as scholarship, athletics, music, and pageantry.

GRADUATION FEVER

As the year flew past, the seniors suddenly found themselves facing the last few months of high school and the prospect of the Commencement ceremony. Preparations were begun and the hundreds of details which must be worked out were tackled by those involved. Both the ordering of announcements and the measuring for caps and gowns symbolized to the seniors the rapidly approaching day when they would walk across the stage and receive their diplomas just as previous classes had done. Commencement speakers named were Jon Garrett, valedictorian; Carroll McFall, salutatorian; Gary Conner, class representative; and Marlin Keller, faculty representative. The four were honored as the representatives of their class at its last organized function.

Creative expression was added to the drama curriculum this year by Mrs. Priscilla Turnbo. This class was designed to improve the poise and confidence of those students involved in public speaking.

Photojournalism I and II or Journalism I and II were offered to students interested in working on the Champion or Digest Staffs, respectively. Each staff strove to equal or surpass the quality of their previous publications.

The English Department continued to expand with the acquisition of the ninth grade. Each class busied itself with term papers or books reviews, and the library became a crowded center filled with searching students. Also, ROMEO AND JULIET, JULIUS CAESAR, the RED BADGE OF COURAGE, and MACBETH were studied by the 9th, 10th, 11th, and 12th grade levels, respectively.

ACCOLADES FOR YEARBOOK STAFF

Receiving the Medalist, awarded by the Columbia Press Association, made all the yearbook layouts, copy, captions, and headlines worthwhile. It was the first time in sixty-three years that the CHAMPION had been recognized with the outstanding award.

The '74 book also received recognition for Exceptional Work in the Field of Journalism awarded at Camp Bonclarken. But the many awards didn't make the staff "slack off" as the layout form for the '75 yearbook was awarded Best Organized at Camp Bonclarken. Plans for the 1975 yearbook were put into effect as soon as school began. Each staff member held responsibilities for various sections of the book. Also, three photographers provided the visual background for the editorial pages. They joined, along with the business staff, to produce another meritorious yearbook.

TWO CLUBS, TWO STAFFS CREATIVE

Members of the Digest Staff, Publicity Staff, Art Club, and Drama Club almost had to be creative and imaginative, or else their services would have been nil. They have proven their qualities well.

Serving on the Digest Staff, with the help of sponsor, Mrs. Sarah Turner, were twenty-two students who spent much of their time writing and printing articles for the school paper. Editor Edward Wheatley stated, "We tried to make the paper more appealing to students." Associate Editor Eunice Belew added, "We progressed more toward the magazine style in the physical aspects of our paper." Several members attended journalism clinics in Knoxville where the Tennessee High School Press Association gave the paper an excellent rating.

Duties of the Publicity Staff consisted of finding out student achievements inside and outside the school. The 1975 Scrapbook, displayed in the library, was the result of the staff's work.

Selling screen printed T-shirts and calendars were two projects undertaken by the Art Club. They were also responsible for the beautiful Senior Day decorations.

Participating in contests, attending theatrical plays, and putting together skits were only a few activities of the Drama Club. They presented a masque called "Spring's Glory" to the English classes.

Four busy clubs and staffs certainly offered much service to Central.

SALVE LATIN I, ART NOUVEAU,

Latin I joined the Foreign Language Department this year, and twenty-six students enrolled in the course. With emphasis on Roman culture and mythology, the class presented a Latin play.

Movies were made of skits in the new French III class. Cafes, post offices, and a puppet show were filmed to be shown to French I and II students. Also, a Road

Rally with French directions was held with various car dealers providing foreign cars to participate in the race about the city.

Mexico was the goal for the Spanish students, as various trips were discussed and preliminary plans made. Third-year students demonstrated their experience and knowledge of Spanish culture to the first and second-year students.

Under the direction of Professor Roger Wolfe, two new bands were added. In addition to the Varsity and ROTC Bands, Beginning and Intermediate Band classes gave students the opportunity to improve and perfect their musical skills. Sessions consisted of learning new techniques and drills, as well as practicing for concerts and performances.

Other musical developments occurred in the choral groups. A Male Choir was added, calling themselves the "Singing Pounders." Along with the other choirs, they practiced continuously, learning various renditions of songs. A musical opera, L'IL ABNER, was performed with members of the chorus classes assigned the leading parts.

Easels, sculpture stands, potter's wheel, and a kiln were among the equipment acquired for the Art Department. Students used these new materials in the four restructured art classes. OLD ACTIVITIES, ADDED ATTRACTIONS

Both the French and Spanish Clubs again worked jointly on the Pan-American Day. But each club still strived in separate activities.

A Road Rally was an added attraction for French Club members and their parents. Unsure parents chauffeured members across town by directions translated into French. The club's other activities included selling Bright of America products and enjoying special French dinners.

Making Christmas baskets was a project taken on by Spanish Club members before the holidays. A visit to a Mexican restaurant, Los Charros, accented the year.

YEAR OF TRANSITION FOR CENTRAL SOUNDERS

Changes came with the school year as the Central Sound of Chattanooga welcomed a new band director, Mr. Roger Wolfe. Also, the previous trend of female drum majors was broken by Dennis Stephens. Supplementary flags, majorettes and rifles were added to the usual numbers of previous years. Selling tumblers was a money-raising project for the complete band, while they combined efforts with the choral department to sell candles. All of these changes and activities lent to the variegation from the regular routine sounded out by the Central High School Band.

SPOTLIGHT ON HIGHLIGHTS

Throughout the summer months and during the seventh period all fall, the color guard and majorettes practiced steadily on new routines.

Working diligently, the color guard attended Camp Cassavant at Cumberland College and received the award as being "Happiest Group."

Busy activities were always on the calendar during the year for the majorettes. Raising money for new uniforms came in odd ways, such as tasting Krystal hamburgers and sponsoring a flea market.

With their work and extraordinary talents, the two groups were highlights for the half-time shows.

FULL SCHEDULE FOR PERFORMING GROUPS

Whether it was marching on a football field or singing in a concert, the flag girls and Chorus, respectively, added to the traditional spirit of the school. Long hours of rehearsals and hard work went into both of their endeavors.

Sixteen flags waved high with Central's Band this year. During the summer, they donated much time and energy into practices, hoping to be ready for the coming year. After football season, their services did not cease, for they began making plans to put together Christmas baskets for a children's home.

Providing services in song, the Chorus performed at the PTA Open House, Eastgate Shopping Center, Bayside Baptist Church, and Oakwood Baptist Church. The Choral Christmas Concert was held the night of December 17. Members trying out for All-State practiced daily after school. Aside from the regular activities, the Chorus was very spirited, being awarded the Spirit Stick at one of the pep rallies.

FULL CALENDAR FOR CHORUS

Month after month, engagements were filled by the Chorus in Hamilton County and in other parts of the state. During the month of February, the CHS Chorus performed at Bryan College and at the Red Bank High School Music Festival. Instead of presenting only the customary Spring Concert, they presented additional concerts for the Christmas season and winter. In March, Chorus members participated in the All-State auditions at Knoxville, performed at Senior Day and observed the National Week for Music in the Schools. Also, excitement soared when Mrs. Judy Rich, director, announced the approval of a musical, L'IL ABNER, to be presented the first week in May. Roles were opened to the entire student body and auditions began in February. Mrs. Priscilla Turnbo, drama teacher, and Mr. Roger Wolfe, band director, lent their talents to the production of the well-known musical.

SERVICE — RENDERING ORGANIZATIONS

Members of the FTA/SAE, CCY, and the Audio-Visual and Library Staffs aided both faculty and students.

Members of the Library Staff rendered service by stamping books, straightening shelves, aiding confused students, and by running errands for the librarians.

Members of the Audio-Visual Staff, along with Mrs. Elizabeth Morton, helped in the running of the many types of machinery that can be found in the Audio-Visual Room. They also showed films for various classes.

FTA and SAE, a combined organization, attended a regional meeting at UTC in November.

Money earned by the club was used for Teacher Appreciation Day.

Members of the CCY held meetings to discuss ways to get other teenagers involved in Christ. Also, they sold doughnuts for their sales project.

U.S. HISTORY FOR HIGH SCHOOLS was the recently adopted text used in the American history classes. Much of the class time was spent by exploring the new, blue book and acquainting students with updated information. With plans made and committees formed, students worked on the Freedoms Foundation project.

Panels held group discussions in the economics and world history classes. Speakers appeared throughout the year to inform students of governmental and community affairs.

The sociology and psychology classes also worked on Freedoms

Foundation projects and studied from the new textbook, SOCIOLOGY: THE STUDY OF HUMAN RELATIONSHIPS.

Lively debates were held in Bible class as students discussed controversial issues concerning the BIBLE. Maps further aided in pinpointing Biblical settings.

TWO ORGANIZATIONS IN CONTACT

Keeping in contact with people was the major concern for Central's Student Council and Student Advisory Committee. Listening to student problems and trying to solve them was a function of the two organizations.

Allowing students to express their ideas, the Student Council held a responsible position in the coordination of school events. Many projects were sponsored by the group such as dances and selling buttons for Spirit Week. For the first time at Central, the Student Council was named Most Spirited Club during Spirit Week and the club sponsor, Mrs. J.C. Robbins, was named Most Spirited Teacher.

Bringing problems to Dr. Hobart Millsaps, the Student Advisory Committee worked with him on issues such as having an open campus at Central.

ACTIVE ORGANIZATIONS AT CHS

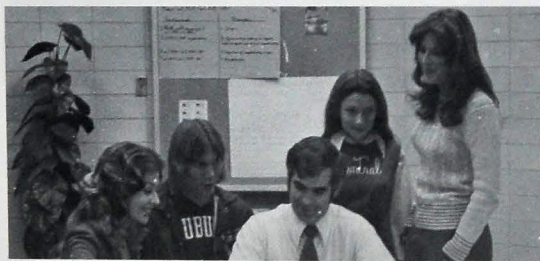

Central's Guidance Staff and Senate worked hard this year for the benefit of the school and their organization.

Members of the Senate sold Central High School banners, took a trip to the Tennessee State Senate in Nashville, and held a mock election, along with school-wide debates.

Service wise, the Guidance Staff provided help to Central. Members of the staff helped Mrs. Margaret Hammack in the concession stand during wrestling matches and basketball games. They also filed college test results, and frequently, they decorated the bulletin board in front of the guidance office. They also provided service by running errands for the counselors.

SERVICE GIVEN BY TWO

Rendering service to the school were the Usher Staff and Y-Teens' main purpose. Both organizations seemed to enjoy working for Central's faculty and student body.

Ushering on the inside of pods and during the change of classes was the Usher Staff's duty. They further gave aid in some classes when teachers were called away.

The Y-Teens also provided service to others. They had many activities and projects, such as the annual potato chip sale, monthly supper meetings, and most importantly selecting who they thought should become the bachelors of ugliness.

TRI-HI-Y TRADITIONALLY SPIRITED

Tri-Hi-Y remained one of the most spirited clubs at Central for the fifth year in a row.

Along with the Hi-Y, Tri-Hi-Y made another annual visit to the Good Shepherd Fold Center and added joyful Christmas spirit to the children's lives as they provided them with a party.

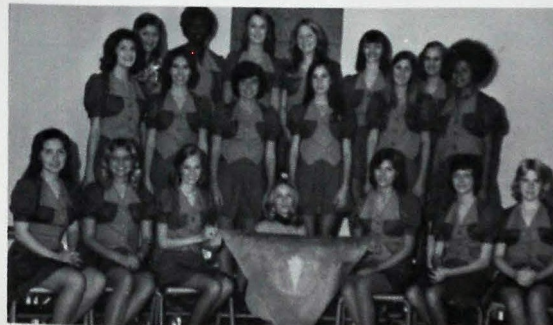

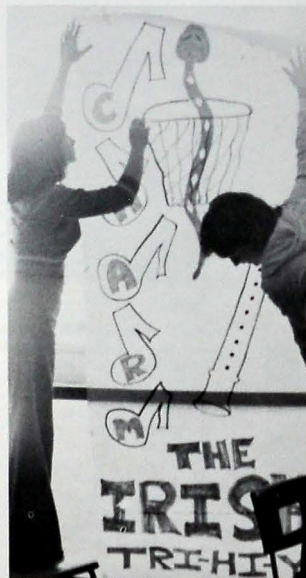

Also with the Hi-Y, the members worked on a float for Spirit Week, which helped Tri-Hi-Y receive the Most Spirited Club of the Week Award during Spirit Week. Tri-Hi-Y also planned a skit called, "Cream City," and threw candy footballs at the pep rally.

Too, as in the past, members attended various churches of Tri-Hi-Y members to learn more about different faiths.

In April, the club members attended the twenty-second annual YMCA Youth Legislature, which was held at the Capitol building in Nashville.

BUSY YEAR FOR TWO MALE CLUBS

Two male clubs that had a very busy year were the Key Club and Hi-Y. Both of the clubs are known for their service at Central and around the community.

Hi-Y, along with Tri-Hi-Y, made a float in the shape of a football for Spirit Week. They also were engaged with the choosing of club sweethearts, and the collecting of toys, which they gave to the children at Good Shepherd's Fold.

Another active organization was the Key Club. After making some difficult choices for calendar girls, they finished work on the calendar, which they sponsor annually. Ushering at Travelogues was another Key Club activity.

INCREASE IN KEY CLUB SWEETHEARTS

Each year the Key Club chooses twelve senior girls to represent one month of the year in their traditional calendar plus a sweetheart from each class. Due to the addition of another class there was a supplementary girl chosen to represent the freshman class. Designing the costume for the calendar picture was left up to each girl.

Attending Key Club luncheons plus selling ads and calendars were important responsibilities to both the calendar girls and the sweethearts.

SCIENCE AND MATH UP-TO-DATE

In order to modernize the science and mathematic departments, many changes were made in both. The changes involved implementing new courses, inviting guest speakers, and using many types of visual aids.

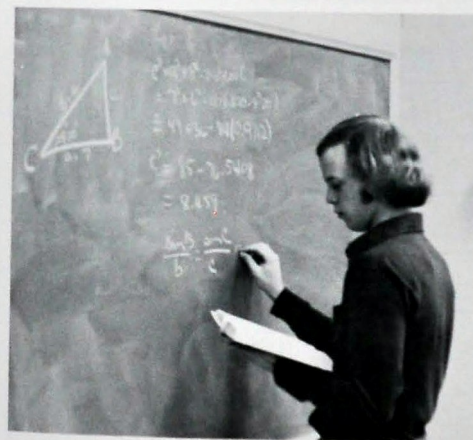

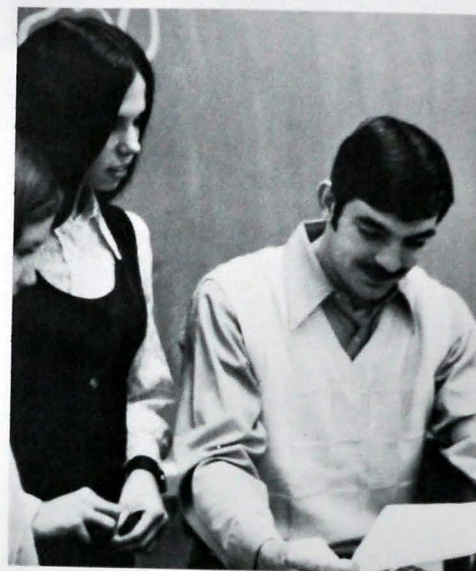

An added course was introduced in the science department. The course was sub-divided into one semester of practical chemistry and one semester of practical physics, a concept of vocational education which is starting in high schools across the country. This is the first such course offered in Central's Science Department.

The math classes, too, were modernized. Each class had special speakers to discuss possible job opportunities involving mathematics. Also, film strips and other visual aids were used in teaching.

FULL YEAR FOR TWO CLUBS

Under the leadership of President Cheryl Clark, the Math Club has had one of its most active years. Consisting of twenty-nine math students, the club met every other Monday before school.

Accomplished projects included a successful car wash, a pleasure trip to Fall Creek Falls, the painting of signs for football games, and a trip to Oak Ridge.

Another active organization was the 21-membered Chess Club who matched other schools at Notre Dame every Monday night.

With Walter Law serving as president, the club earned $103.00 by sponsoring a flea market with TOEC. Along with other money-raising projects, they did a skit for Spirit Week.

FAR RIGHT: Using a planing machine to smooth the wood, Ted Broyles concentrates on eliminating any flaws from the board.

Making use of various tools to aid learning, students interested in the world of business and trade prepared to meet the demands of these vocations.

Rulers, presses, drills, and engines were necessary tools for workers in the industrial arts. Mechanical drawing students used pencils and rulers to complete drawing assignments. Printing and woodshop students endured the deafening noise of presses and saws while using type and sandpaper to create the finished products. Wrenches and bolts were common tools to students repairing cars in auto mechanics.

Tools for business were employed by those interested in the business world. Typewriters, dictaphones, duplicating and adding machines were operated by students who wished to develop business skills for the future.

VARIED DUTIES FOR TWO STAFFS

Many duties for two staffs were of vital importance to the school.

Aside from selling supplies, the Bank Staff also sold tickets to some of the school functions. They took orders for yearbooks, class rings, and other items. They cashiered at lunch, as well as taking in fees and writing receipts for them.

Duties of the Office Staff ranged from delivering the announcement sheets to showing visitors around the school. Also, they provided the service of running off tests for teachers. Moreover, they answered the school phone and relayed messages.

Being on the Office or Bank Staff was not all work, for they both held Christmas parties, and their annual banquets were at the end of the year.

FBLA, TOEC ACTIVE

Making calendars for the faculty turned out to be a joint effort between the members of the FBLA and TOEC. But both clubs still strived for success in individual projects.

Sold by the FBLA, the Tom-Wat kits, full of various articles, rendered selling experience for the participants and, at the same time, granted students a chance to purchase gifts and useful objects.

TOEC members got involved in activities such as a paper drive, Spirit Week and a flea market held with the Chess Club. Doing odd jobs for the faculty during TOEC Emphasis Week gave members a valuable learning experience.

P.E. HELPERS

Calling roll, setting up volleyball nets and demonstrating tumbling were only a few of the responsibilities executed by the Gym Staff members.

Orders for the yellow mum corsages with purple trimmings were taken by staffers before the Homecoming Dance. As a tradition, the Gym Staff members sold the football stickers before each game.

Several suppers were held throughout the year. In addition, a Christmas banquet was held at Morrison's Cafeteria.

COED INTEREST

For the first time at Central girls seemed to have an interest in joining FCA meetings. Also, for the first time the home ec. department has opened its doors for the boys through the bachelor survival course.

With the customary advice and encouragement from their sponsor, Central's athletes benefited greatly by their membership in the FCA.

Quality of character was an important factor to the guys in FCA. Their most important goal was to strive to display Christian character, not only in athletics, but also in other school events.

Aside from their meetings at school, the FCA members attended bi-monthly banquets held at Provident.

The bachelor survival course was steered to help young men prepare themselves for the life of a bachelor.

Sewing, cooking, and home management were just a few of the studies offered in the course.

CHANGE IN FHA

For years, FHA meetings had been held similar to other club meetings--after school. But the tradition was changed. Meetings were held once a month during home economics classes. The change in procedure prompted participation in more activities taken on by the Future Homemakers of America. Among the activities were a Spirit Week Breakfast given to the football team, a "Best-Looking Legs" contest, a spring fashion show, a visit to UT at Knoxville and the sale of two-year calendars. They also received Most Spirited Club of the Week. Each of the endeavors contributed to a successful year.

52nd YEAR FOR MILITARY TEAMS

In 1916, an experimental ROTC program was set up at Central; on December 29, 1919, this program was officially commissioned by Congress. The chain of command instituted in 1916 has been followed up to the present time.

Although most decision-making was guided by ROTC instructors, the brigade staff was responsible for the efficient management of Central's brigade.

Three battalion staffs carried these decisions down to the battalions, where individual officers made the decision known to companies and special teams, such as the military band, color guard, and rifle team.

Organized in 1923, the military band has performed in the Presentation of Sponsors each year since that time.

The color guard was set up in 1924 as the drum and bugle corps and was not referred to as the color guard until 1929, and has participated in the Presentation of Sponsors yearly.

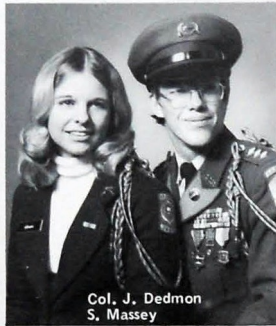

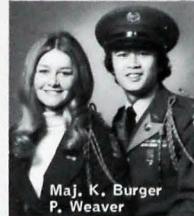

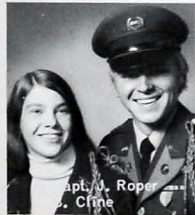

In 1923, the rifle team was set up as a preparatory drill team for cadets who might enter W.W.I. Competition has since been set up, pitting Central against other schools with ROTC rifle teams. In 1974, firing became a varsity sport.

An Officer's Club was organized in 1928, and though sponsors had existed since 1921, they were not made a part of the club until 1933. In 1945, the club was chartered as the Disc and Diamond Club. The membership requirements have remained the same, as has the function of the club. It is responsible for planning the Military Ball or Banquet.

Central's ROTC brigade was headed by twenty-eight officers and sponsors with Jim Dedmon as cadet colonel. Already chosen from the previous year, the colonel, three lieutenant colonels, and four majors formed the higher ranks. With the help of eight captains and twelve lieutenants, the six companies, color guard and military band were drilled continuously for such ceremonies as the Presentation of Sponsors. On November 6, the officers' sponsors were presented in front of the student body, setting the first of the military programs off to a good start.

MOVEMENT OF COMPANIES INTO BATTALIONS

The ROTC brigade formed its six companies into two battalions. Along with such special units as the color guard and band, the groups made up the brigade for the school year.

Every year, three classes—the Sophomores, Juniors, and Seniors—are taught separately by their respective instructors but come together to form the brigade. The seniors occupy the officer positions in the brigade. Some juniors function as non-commissioned officers while the remainder of the juniors and sophomores formed the basis of their units.

TOP BRASS AT MILITARY BALL

To highlight the year, the military department held its annual dance and crowned the military queen. Following the well-established tradition of providing all ROTC students with an opportunity to attend a dance at no cost, the various committees set as their goal transforming the commons into a bicentennial-celebration scene and an appropriate place for the announcing of the military department's honorees.

During the dance the military court consisting of Eunice Belew, Rhonda Kyle, Susan Massey, Gayla Rominger, and Pam Weaver was presented, and Pam Roy was honored as the military queen and ruler of the festivities.

SPARE TIME FOR HOBBIES AND CLUBS

When students were not working on their hobbies, they may have been found working on some project for their club.

During weekends and vacations, unique hobbies, which could have become vocations were developed.

Scuba diving and refinishing antiques were such activities. These pastimes could become vocations if enough time and effort were put into them. However, for the present, students were willing to limit the hobbies to their leisure time.

While some students were involved with hobbies, others were involved in club projects.

For a fund-raising project, members of the Honor Platoon directed traffic at the football games.

In benefit of the school, they helped build the sidewalk adjacent to the C Pod. They also helped in covering up some of the paint that vandals used on the school building and sign. By doing such things that improved the school, Honor Platoon members showed their true love for Central.

ADMINISTRATIVE REFLECTIONS

Voicing the opinion of the rest of the administration, as well as that of Coach Stanley Farmer, the sign in his office relieves the tension of problems brought there for counsel.

As Coach Farmer's duties include overseeing maintenance needs and problems, he frequently finds it necessary to assist Mr. Wardell Lettis in the upkeep of the building.

Coach Stanley Farmer

In preparing Central to receive students in September, the administration found the enrollment unstable. This was due to the yet unanswered question of annexation of areas in which many Centralites resided. These students enrolled at Central, but many of them were told, after attending here for two weeks, that they were ineligible to attend Central.

Before 1974, Central had never closed its doors to any student. But in 1974, a ruling was made by the Hamilton County School Board that students zoned for city schools could not attend Central. Against this ruling, Dr. W. Hobart Millsaps spoke to the school board on September 12, arguing in favor of the students. The ruling, however, remained, with a few changes.

That the instability of the enrollment and the addition of a freshman class had not evoked other related problems pleased Dr. Millsaps and Coach Stanley Farmer, who commended the faculty-student rapport.

SPECIAL SERVICES

Where could students come with all kinds of problems, hoping they could be solved? The answer was in Pod A. This area contains the guidance offices, the library, the infirmary, the bank, and bookstore.

In the guidance office, Mrs. Mirvine Okrasinski, Mrs. Betty Smith, and Mr. Wallace McGill assisted students in arranging schedules, in achievement tests, and in choosing the right career for the future.

Head of the business education department, Mrs. Virginia Summerour, also managed the school bank and bookstore where necessary supplies were sold.

Keeping school records in order, Mrs. Thelma Alleyn, school secretary; and Mrs. Pauline Ellis, registrar; also assisted those with questions about the school's credit requirements.

Central's librarians, Mrs. Pansy Allison, Mrs. Nancy Oldham, and Mrs. Liz Morton kept students informed as books arrived and Mrs. Morton co-ordinated audio-visuals.

Helping students with dismissals and lost and found articles, Mrs. Dara Gouge, R. N., was a help especially to those who were ailing and needed medical attention.

In the bank, Mrs. Summerour and Mrs. Wyse check the clerical supplies.

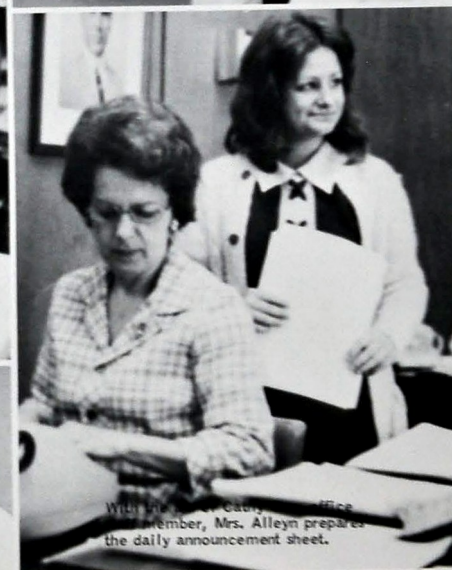

Perusing the reader task sheets is Mr. McGill.

New arrivals of classical books for the language arts department are reviewed by Mrs. Allison and Mrs. Oldham.

Validating dismissals and making sure students receive the one of the many jobs of Mrs. Gouge.

With Miss Gouge in the office member, Mrs. Alleyn prepares the daily announcement sheet.

LANGUAGE ARTS

Mrs. Ogle

Miss Chauncey

Mrs. Clark

Languages, journalism, and dramatics were the subjects taught in Pod B. Most students had classes in the area at least twice a day.

The English department, headed by Miss Marjorie Ogle, who taught English 12 along with Mrs. J. C. Robbins; was located in the area. Eleventh grade English classes were instructed by Ms. Kate Gerbitz and Mrs. Sarah Turner. Teaching the tenth graders English were Mrs. Maxine Williams, Mrs. Priscilla Turnbo, and Mr. Steve Highlander. With the addition of the ninth grade, English 9 teachers were needed. These positions were filled by Mrs. Barbara Clark, Miss Janis Johnson, and Mrs. Susan Simmons.

Many teachers served double purposes at Central. Teaching classes of journalism and photo-journalism were Mrs. Turner and Mrs. Williams, respectively. A creative expression class was taught by Mrs. Turnbo as well as a speech and drama class. Mrs. Simmons also instructed classes of English 11, along with Miss Brenda Chauncey who mainly taught French. The Spanish instructor was Mrs. Candace Holt, and in addition to ninth grade English, Miss Johnson began Latin classes, each hoping to broaden the students' understanding of a language different from their own.

Lucia Muillo, a student from Colombia, South America, often converses in her native language with Mrs. Holt, the Spanish teacher.

MATH, SOCIAL SCIENCE

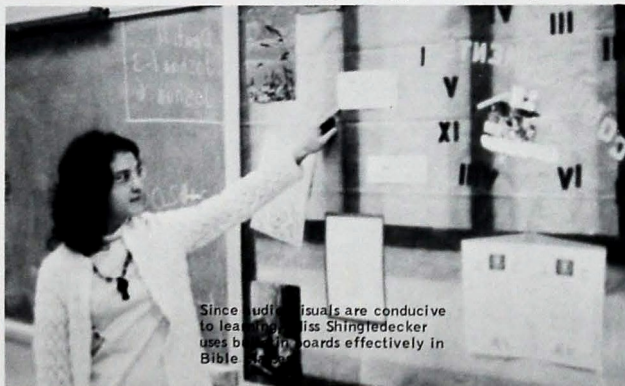

As in many other departments, the number of faculty members in the math department grew. Analytics, Algebra II, geometry, and Algebra I classes were guided by Mrs. Brenda Johnson. Mrs. Sally Akins, Mrs. Vicki Dunn, and Mrs. Wanda Taintor were geometry and Algebra I; geometry and Algebra II; and general math and Algebra I educators, respectively.

Additions to the social science department included Miss Lois Shingledecker, Bible instructor, and Coach Larry Payne, who instructed civics and economics. Mrs. Gwendolyn Dargan also taught economics, as well as world history.

Head of the department, Mr. Sam Stoner, and Coach Wayne Huling related American history to juniors and seniors, while Mrs. Dorothy Stone taught psychology and sociology.

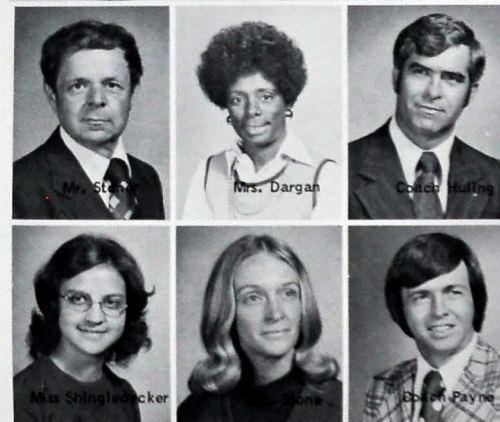

Students in Mrs. Taintor's class rarely see her use the blackboard since an overhead projector is available.

Since audiovisuals are conducive to learning, Miss Shingledecker uses blackboards effectively in Bible class.

By painting signs to represent faculty spirit, Mrs. Stone and Mrs. Williamson boost school spirit and team morale.

ART, BUSINESS AND INDUSTRIAL ARTS

Business education, industrial arts, and art were the areas of instruction in Pod D. Mrs. Campbell, art teacher, instructed her students in the fundamentals of sketching and drawing.

Typing, a subject which was helpful for other subjects, was practiced in the classes of Mrs. Louise Caudle and Mrs. Catharine Roberson. Mrs. Caudle was one of the shorthand instructors, along with Miss Marian Sanders, who also was the VOE teacher. Teaching accounting and business law was Mrs. Clarone Hughes' position. In the subjects of general business and general record keeping, Miss Rose Ann Conner was the teacher.

In mechanical drawing were Mr. Ed Hoover and Mr. Gordon Mason, who was also the woodshop teacher. Both the mechanical drawing and the woodshop courses applied math to the various learning activities. In the classes of Mr. Wayne Dockery and Mr. Hilman Mayfield, students studied auto mechanics and printing, respectively.

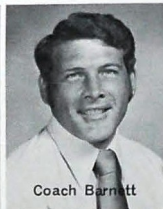

Installation of freshmen lockers in Pod C supervised by Mrs. Hammack.

Looks of anguish and worry from Coach Runyon before departing with a usually inexperienced driver are jests often used to help student drivers.

SFC Luttrell

SFC Warren

Totally engrossed in the sound produced by the band, Mr. Wolfe seems oblivious to the action occurring on the field.

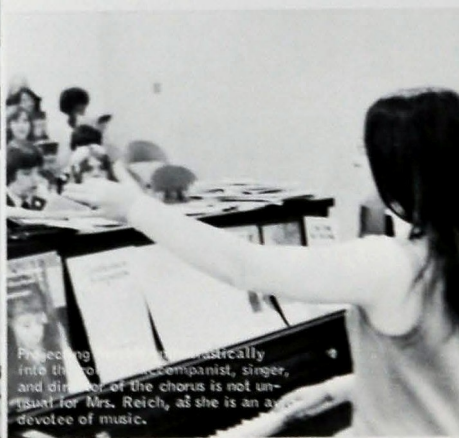

During September and October, SFC's Luttrell and Warren spend most of their conference periods organizing plans for the November presentation of sponsors.

Lt. Col. Ben Thompson headed the ROTC department, in which SGM Robert Hall instructed ROTC III classes; SFC Augustus Warren, ROTC II; and SFC Warren Luttrell, ROTC I.

Also in G Pod, Mr. Roger Wolfe, band director, instructed beginning, intermediate, ROTC, and varsity bands, and taught band organization. Mrs. Judy Reich, head of Central's music department, led the male, varsity, and girls' chorus, advanced choir, and taught theory and voice.

Because the rooms previously used by them in C Pod were needed for social science classes, Coach Tommy Runyon, driver's education instructor, and Coach Paul Barnett, health and boys' physical education instructor, held their classes in G Pod. Coach Mike Ricketts also taught driver's education as well as boys' p.e.

Head of the p.e. department, Mrs. Margaret Hammack, and Mrs. Gloria Grier were girls' p.e. and health instructors.

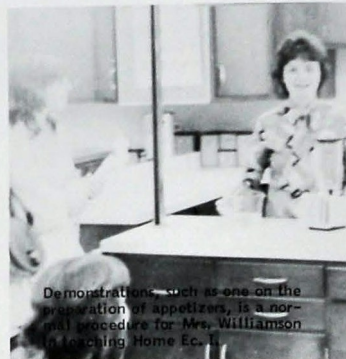

Projecting into the room, Mrs. Reich, pianist, singer, and director of the chorus is not unusual for Mrs. Reich, as she is an avid devotee of music.

HOME ECONOMICS, SCIENCE

Because of an increase in school enrollment, Mrs. Alice Davis became a much-needed addition to the home economics department. Mrs. Davis trained students in Home Ec. I and advanced textiles classes. Mrs. Patsy Williamson, head of the home economics department, was the instructor of Home Ec. I and III, while Mrs. Janette Crawley directed Home Ec. II students. Mrs. Crawley also introduced male students to the domestic arts in bachelor survival, a course offered for the first time at Central.

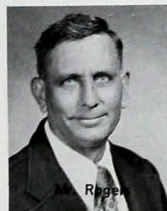

The increase in the number of students at Central also affected the science department, of which Mr. James Rogers was head, and taught practical chemistry, chemistry, and physics. Students under the tutelage of Mr. Walter Blanks, Miss Janet Stanfield, and Coach Paul Barnett learned the basics of science in general science classes. Coach Jim Shaeffer taught general biology, as did Mrs. Darby Marable, who also directed the advanced biology class.

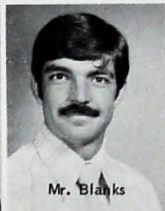

Demonstrations, such as one on the preparation of appetizers, is a normal procedure for Mrs. Williamson in teaching Home Ec. I.

RETIREEES

Anticipating the opponent's next play, Coach Seaton contemplates a counter play.

To simplify explanations, Coach Smith computes the same problems he assigned his students.

Coach Jacob Seaton was at Central from 1945 until his retirement last year. He served as woodwork and mechanical drawing instructor here after having previously taught those courses at Soddy-Daisy. Coach Seaton was a football coach for twenty-nine years, and an assistant basketball and track coach for two years. He was honored as the Hi-Y Teacher of the Year in 1973. When asked which activities he enjoyed most during his retirement, he replied, "Doing as little as I can, and relaxing at my cabin on Watts Bar Lake."

Coach Gordon Smith came to Central in 1949 as head of the diversified occupations department. In 1950, he began coaching girls' basketball, which he continued until 1953, when he became head coach for the varsity basketball team. In 1961, he became a member of the math department faculty, which he headed from 1963 until his retirement last year. In 1964 he was honored as the DIGEST dedicatory. Coach Smith now enjoys hunting and gardening.

CENTRAL SCHOLARS

Starting the year with only fifteen members, the National Honor Society was one of smallest organizations at Central. However, this situation was soon changed by the induction of twenty-nine new members at the induction ceremony held before the student body.

When 3.5 honor students were announced by Dr. W. Hobart Milisaps, the members learned that all twenty-nine were also members of the National Honor Society.

All in all, the year proved to be a satisfying and rewarding one for members as they were recognized as the top scholars at Central.

DEPARTMENTAL HONORS,

Twenty-four seniors chosen by the senior class, and twenty-two seniors chosen by the faculty were honored as senior superlatives and departmental honor students. Early in December, members of the senior class voted for the senior superlatives. Votes were counted by members of the Champion Staff, and the honored persons were informed of their place in the Senior Hall of Fame by Dr. W. Hobart Millsaps. Results of the voting were printed in the DIGEST.

Later in the year, during the second semester, heads of the various departments announced the departmental honor students. Twenty-two seniors were selected as honor students because of superior work in their course of study.

TOP: Honor students in the arts are Willie Atkins, Lori Jurczak, Annie Owen, Sandra Gribble, Sharon Payne, and Karen Moon, excelling in music-vocal, band-instrumental, band-service, art, English, and Spanish, respectively. Not pictured is Gary Conner, French. MIDDLE: Proficient in physical skills are Jim Dedmon, Bruce Conrad, Shirley Perkinson, and Sterling Jetton, honored in ROTC, athletics, girls physical education, and boys physical education, respectively.

SENIOR HALL OF FAME

LEFT: Attaining the highest grade-point averages in the Senior Class earn the honor of Scholarship for Jon Garrett and Lauren Duncan.

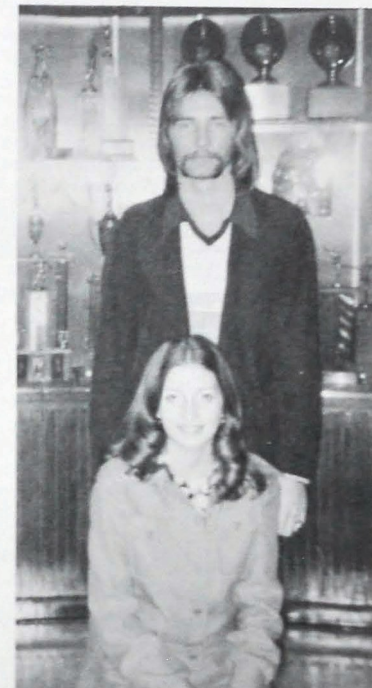

RIGHT: Most Likely to Succeed, Susan Schneider and Walter Law, play a game of chess.
BELOW: Before mealtime, Wes Johnson and Ruth Lane, Most Courteous, demonstrate their good manners.

A DISTANT BELL

Speech and drama has become an active part of Central's curriculum in the past two years. Because of active participation, numerous skits and plays have been performed under the direction of Mrs. Priscilla Turnbo.

For the senior play, the Senior Class presented A DISTANT BELL, a serious play by Katherine Morrill. It concerns a mentally disturbed woman, Lucy Greer, portrayed by Diana Bryant, her three daughters, Barrett, Gloria Colston; Flagg, Suzy Simpson; and Waverley, played by Jan Shacklette; and how Waverley is driven to the brink of insanity. Because this was a melodrama, it required diligent practice and lots of hard work from all seniors that were involved. Other cast members were Martha Belvin, Susie Brandon, Jim Dedmon, Walter Law, Alicia Layton, Gary Pickering, Carolyn Rich, Randy Schonhoff, and Edward Wheatley.

RIGHT: Selling tickets in the English classes, Gloria Colston assures underclassmen that the senior play will be well performed.

LEFT: Discussing plans for the layout of the setting and the placing of the scenery, Mr. Ed Hoover consults Mrs. Priscilla Turnbo and members of the crew.

ABOVE: Practicing a play is hard work and requires much time as these seniors soon realize.

SENIOR CLASS COORDINATORS

Methods of running for a class office remained the same as the previous year's. Those running for an office wrote a petition, which was turned in to their English teachers. A class meeting was held, and all seniors campaigning for an office gave a short speech. Members of the Senior Class then voted. Two of last year's officers remained the same, Lise Smith as secretary, and Lori Jurczak as treasurer. Marlin Keller was chosen as president and Pam Roy as vice-president.

ONE MALE, THREE FEMALES CHOSEN

On September 25th the juniors held a class meeting to elect the juniors they felt they could depend on to lead them throughout the year. Each candidate nervously made his way to the microphone, stated his qualifications and reasons for wanting to be an officer, and sat down with high hopes. Runoffs aroused everyone's curiosity until the final results were announced. They were Joel Smith, president; Cheryl Williams, vice-president; Chloe Booker, secretary; and Suzanne Jones for the second year was voted treasurer. Numerous meetings were in store for the newly elected officers to plan the annual Junior-Senior Candy Sale in preparation for the Junior-Senior Prom, which was to be held at the end of the year.

ACADEMIC INTERESTS OF '76ERS

ABOVE: While Mrs. Mirvine Okrasinski gives the Merit Scholarship Test procedures, Jeannie Mash-bern, Sherri Wright, and Rose Walker listen attentively.

Academically, the Class of '76 had diversified interests. The foreign languages attracted many who liked to travel or were concerned with world-wide affairs. Then, there were always those with mathematical or scientific aptitudes whose future occupation might range from accounting to medicine. However, a great deal specialized in everyday living, making the best of home economics and auto mechanics. Their schedules differed greatly but most of them were alike in one respect—they would strive to meet their own goals.

On Tuesday, October 22, ninety-two juniors took the National Merit Scholarship Test in the library. It, of course, didn't guarantee scholarships to all who took it, but it did prepare them for the tests they would take as seniors.

"Put the candy away!" was a familiar refrain during the Junior-Senior Candy Sale. The sale began on November 8th and lasted for two weeks. As the major project and activity of the Junior Class, it required a lot of student interest and participation. Many monetary prizes were awarded to the top sellers. The more candy sold meant the better the Junior-Senior Prom was going to be, which was the purpose of the money-making project.

SUDDEN OUTBURST FOR SPIRIT OF '76

As sophomores, the Class of '76 attended the pep rallies, assemblies, and other school programs with very little voice. Yet this year, the seniors really had competition, not only from the Class of '76, but also from '77 and '78 as well. The juniors no longer had to be led to say their class yell. They remained standing almost throughout the entire pep rallies, competing enthusiastically with the other classes. It looked as though the "Spirit of '76" had broken loose and was going to be an outstanding class.

BELOW: During Spirit Week, Debbie Hendricks and Donna Hawk volunteer to put up signs for the Spirit Squad.

Being involved was a good description of the majority of the junior class. The Band had their share with forty 11th graders, while the football team had twelve junior players. The two junior cheerleaders, aided by the two B-team members, had a full-time job of keeping the spirit going. Participation was evident in nearly every club and staff as many of their members were juniors. In addition, seven made up the cast of the Junior Class Play. The Class of '76 upheld its duties and responsibilities proudly, and could be found serving their school in every possible way.

JUNIORS CONCERNED ABOUT AMERICA

Elections and inflation had their place in the juniors' lives. Many campaigned for the person they felt was right for the office. Amy Thomas stated, "When a person proves his dependability for a particular office, I feel the public should know about it. That is why I work in campaigns." Suellen Rodgers, who was also active in campaigns, stated, "It helps a qualified person to win an election if he has a lot of people behind him." Amy and Suellen were only two of the many juniors who were concerned for the country's welfare.

CULTURAL LIFE OF CLASS MEMBERS

BELOW: In the Commons, Helen Lowe gives a demonstration of her talent upon request of some interested classmates.

If one were in the Art Club, Band, Chorus, Drama Club, or had a special talent of his own, he was adding to the culture life of our school. There were many gifted students in the Junior Class, and their talents were not confined to school-related activities. For example, Helen Lowe, who has been taking dancing for nine years, began assisting her dance instructor with younger classes. She spent most of her spare time either teaching or performing in various places in Chattanooga. Being an extremely good tap dancer, she also excelled in ballet and jazz. Helen was not the only talented junior at Central, but like many others, she has worked hard and distinguished herself.

FASHION REFLECTIONS

Nostalgia appeared on the fashion scene with styles from the 40's, 50's and 60's making a comeback. Skirts were longer and fuller, and pants had narrower legs. Jeans were still worn, but girls and also boys wore more often clothes that had the neat, tailored look. Many girls lost their long locks in favor of the shorter look that became "in." Eleven girls from Central were on fashion teen boards from the Jo-Ann Shop, Lovemans, Millers, and Penneys.

IN MEMORY OF MIKE

In memory of Mike Shipley, a sophomore, several of his friends wrote the following. Mike was killed early in November in a boating accident. "There are those in this world that after they are gone, leave their mark because of great accomplishments and contributions . . . and there are those that seem to be as a vapor and appear for a moment and then vanish."

Those students who sang with Mike for almost two years will remember what he left behind . . . a smile that warmed your heart, a laugh that touched you, and a love for music that he shared with all."

Central Choral Department

"Although Mike was small in size, his heart was big enough to share love with his many friends. He was truly a beautiful person inside."

Wendy Roy

"Mike was a little guy with a big heart. He had a lot of close friends that will never forget him. He was always smiling and liked to have a good time."

Linda Hatler

3 FEMALES, 1 MALE CLASS LEADERS

On September 26th, the Sophomore Class held its first class meeting. Those students interested in running for an office had previously turned in to their English teachers, petitions, which stated their reasons for running and their qualifications.

At the class meeting, following speeches by the candidates, the sophomores were faced with choosing a person for each office. After the ballots were counted it was necessary to hold run-off elections through the English classes to determine the president and secretary. The offices of president, vice-president, secretary, and treasurer were filled by Doug Williams, Debbie Davis, Sherry Haston, and Terese Hixon, respectively.

An officers meeting soon followed the election where plans were made for the year.

TESTING, NEW COURSES FOR SOPHOMORES

There were two major tests required of the sophomores, the Differential Aptitude Test at the first of the year, and a grammar comprehension test at the end of the fourth quarter.

Also, the Class of '77 had a new requirement that no class before it had. In order for the class members to graduate it was necessary that they accumulate eighteen credits instead of the previously accepted sixteen. Thus, fuller schedules filled the year.

DOUBLE TAKE

Almost everyone at one time or another has probably had the wish to be a twin. The Class of '77 was unusual in the sense that there were four sets of twins in it. They were Myron and Byron Bush, Licia and Linda Carroll, Rhonda and Reggie Spence, and Ann and Jere Daniel.

When asked what it was like to be a twin, each of the individuals would give but one answer to the question. "We all agree being a twin is grotesque! Anyone who wishes this is crazy!"

ACTIVE SOPHOMORES

Sophomores were involved in many activities. Being a member of an athletic team, club, or staff were just a small portion of the many activities in which they engaged. A total of six sophomores served the full year on a staff. Others were initiated during the year. In addition, thirty-six tenth graders were members of an athletic team. Coming to Central for the first time, the freshmen were understandably bewildered. This was the first year Central has had a ninth grade since moving to its Highway 58 location. Fortunately, the class chose good officers. The all-girl group consisted of Yvonne Gulas, president; Carol Ann Barnett, vice-president; Angie Hicks, secretary; and Kim Dryman, treasurer. Class sponsor was Miss Janice Johnson and class parliamentarian was Coach Gordon Mason.

The Student Council welcomes the freshmen and sophomores to their first year at Central.

Veteran Centralites and their clubs took pride in welcoming the ninth grade to Central High. Signs in the commons proclaimed the welcome.

Despite the confusion at first, the adjustment for the faculty and students was suprisingly smooth. Some teachers from J.B. Brown Junior High became additional faculty members because of the increased student load.

Orientation Night, sponsored by the PTA, further acquainted the freshmen and their parents, with the school which would be theirs for four years.

SUPER SUPPORTERS

CENTRAL HIGH ALUMNI ASSOCIATION

To the graduates of the class of 1975

The officers of the Central High School Alumni Association are happy to extend greetings to the graduates of the Class of 1975. They are aware of your attainments and your ambitions. They wish for you success in proportion to your ability, ambition, and application. These are crucial days and we urge you to continue your progress in education by attending the college of your choice.

The Alumni Association seeks to serve Central High School. Our projects are too many to list here. We constantly are looking for ways to improve our school. In order to serve the maximum, we need each graduate to join our association. When you are in a position to assist us, we ask you to join in this cooperative movement for the assistance of our school.

We wish for you the best in the future and we ask you to, at all times, elevate the name of our school, community, and nation.

ROOM FOR ONE MORE

Despite the crowded conditions due to the addition of a ninth grade, there always seemed to be room for one more person and an opportunity for him to achieve in academics, athletics, and activities.

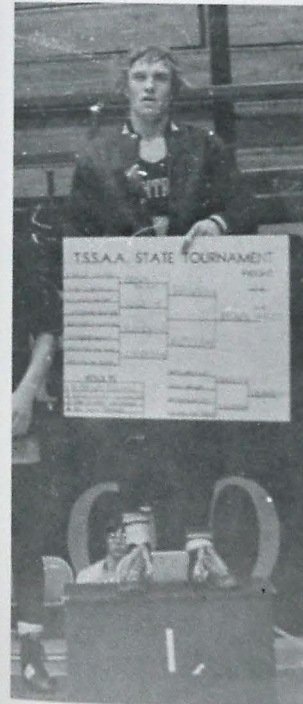

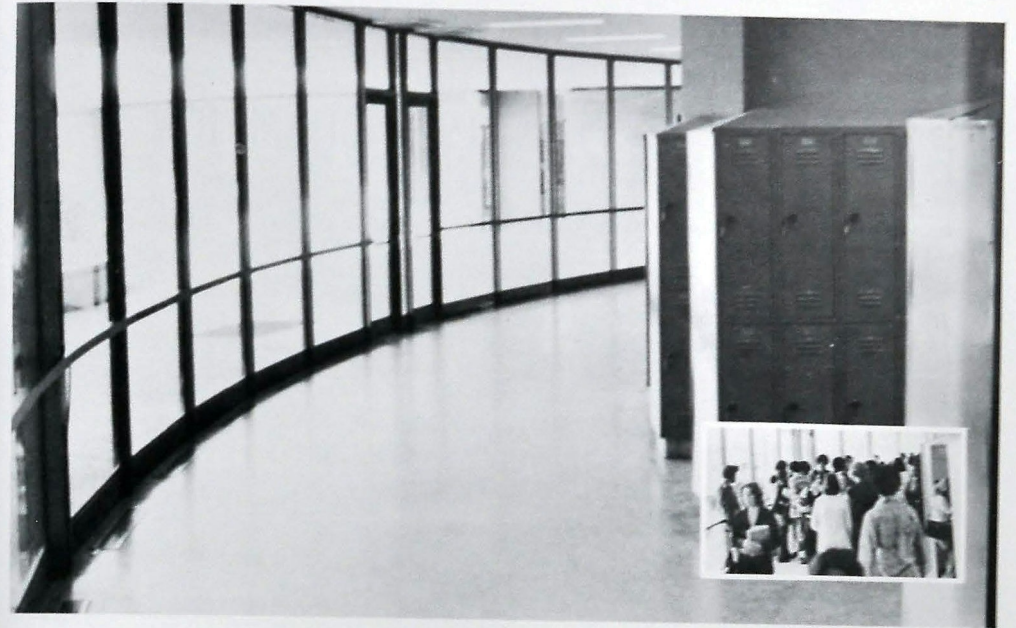

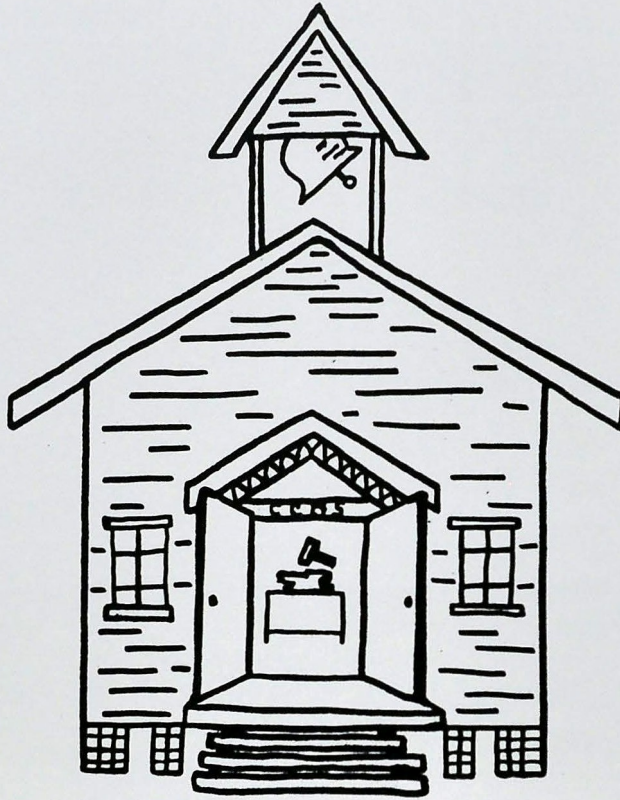

Named as National Merit Scholarship Semi-Finalists, seniors Gloria Colston and Edward Wheatley made a place for themselves in academics.

In various sports events, the Pounders once again earned recognition. The masses of CHS rejoiced together as senior wrestler Al Brown won the state championship in the 132-pound weight class. Junior Jeff Pair placed third in the 119-pound state championship class. Also, much happiness was shared as the basketball team finished second in the HCL. These accomplishments gained for future Pounders a place among the top athletes in the state.

Other activities continued into the summer, which afforded Central students the opportunity for spacious travel into such areas as Mexico, where twenty-three students, along with Mrs. Candace Holt, explored the sights of the neighboring country.

With the expansion of Central in many directions, the year was one of transition. The faculty and students accepted and adjusted to the capacity crowds. Through the efforts of all concerned, Central proved there was always room for one more.

RIGHT: In the crowded stands, Melinda Marable and Candy Russell attempt to make room for Donna Cates.

TOP: Echoes of the crowds can still be heard in the corridors between C and D Pods.

ABOVE: At a meeting of the students making the trip to Mexico, Mrs. Candace Holt tells of the exciting places they will see.
