

The FOREWORD

Amidst life's changes the old must ever give way to the new. As memories fade and recollections grow dim, the Central spirit, old yet ever new, remains fundamentally the same. ~ May this panorama of the past year help carry on that spirit and recall pleasantly, "With that olden, golden glory, the days gone by."

*WHAT a wonderful school 'tis ours to love,
With its ups and its downs and its joys,
What a wonderful banner the Purple
and Gold,
As it floats o'er our girls and boys.*

*And this wonderful School that I love the best,
Has a wonderful "rep" so high.
So you've heard of the school that's true as blue
Oh, that wonderful school, Central High!*

Senior Activities

DETAILED account of the activities of the Senior Class would not only be difficult to give, but would undoubtedly prove tiresome to the reader. Therefore, an effort has been made to recall by little more than a bare mention, only the most outstanding incidents of the senior year at Central.

At the suggestion of the senior English teachers, the seniors sponsored a series of luncheons, which were for the purpose of providing a way for more seniors to become better acquainted with each other. The luncheons were held in the gymnasium, where a long table was arranged with approximately an average of seventy-five covers.

These luncheons, which proved to be very enjoyable affairs, lasted for almost a week on account of the large number of seniors who attended. The plans were worked out by committees, which were composed of representatives from all English classes. Each day several members of the faculty were invited to the luncheons. This was a delightful addition, for the faculty members joined in with the students in their conversation and fun. One day for the program the students had to read slips of paper on which were written the name of a characteristic a senior should have.

Another unique idea was displayed when the Senior Class gave a program in chapel. The program consisted of a short play in which the best liked characters of the freshmen's favorite books were portrayed in costume. Some of those taking part were: Emily Ann Hudson, George McCarty, Louise Thornton, Charles Jackson, Edna Myers, Sanford Gibson, Herman Maxwell.

Though the Dixie Interscholastic Press Association was not exclusively a senior activity, it might be mentioned here, as it has an important bearing on the school year. To Mrs. John A. Shelton is due the credit for having conceived and worked out successfully plans for organizing a Southern association for school journalists. The convention met at the University of Chattanooga, December seventh and eighth. Seniors who attended the convention were those from the school staffs and representatives from classes.

Undoubtedly one of the outstanding events of the entire year was the senior play, which was Shakespeare's Midsummer Night's Dream. The play was presented to an appreciative audience on the night of December seventh.

The cast was headed by Wilma Planzer, Whelan Palmer, Maude Smith, and Ford Peters. Emily Hudson took the part of Puck, while Charles Jackson and Louise Thornton were the fairy king and queen. A group of fairies added to the scenic effects. Delegates to the Press Convention were honor guests.

The humorous part of the play was afforded by the players, Edward Morgan, Lowell Bean, Sanford Gibson, Lloyd Pease, Thomas Bolden, and Roy Starmer. The play, which was the first Miss Epperson directed, was a decided success.

Through the spring time events crowded rapidly one on the other until Class Day. This day, when the historian, the poet, and reader of the will held sway, will always stand out vividly in our minds. The fun we had need not be recalled—we can remember. The girls will never forget their pretty dresses, hats, and corsages. It was a rare day in June!

Graduation! Our goal! What a thrill that march gave us! Nearly three hundred were seated on the auditorium stage in graduation gowns, and slowly one by one received diplomas.

All these once happy realities are now but pleasant memories. Among these recollections are things always to be remembered. Shall we ever forget our friends and what they have meant to us during our short and pleasant years at Central?

*We might forget some knowledge,
And we might forget some book,
We might forget some classes,
And the way things used to look;
We might forget activities
That seemed to have no end,
But can we say we shall forget
Our teacher or our friend?*

Senior Class History

OUR years, all too short, have passed! How indelibly are stamped on our memories those days when in 1925 a Freshman Class entered Central's portals and gaped and stared in amazement at everything. We were green—we admit it—but does it not seem impossible that we dignified seniors could ever have been so bewildered and overawed as every "Fish" is about new and unaccustomed things?

In spite of awe and timidity, which were soon overcome, when the time came for the election of class officers friendships had been formed and acquaintances made with classmates, until we were no longer strangers. In looking about us for a leader, George McCarty, who was later elected president, seemed to be the outstanding figure.

That year sped by all too rapidly, for soon we realized that we were no longer "Fish," but sophisticated sophomores. Our freshman-sophomore party was a bright spot in the year. Frank Bradford, who was elected president that year, entered into his work so wholeheartedly that we could not fail to expect great things of him. He did not disappoint us, for he proved himself an excellent leader as well as a vital part of the powerful football team which beat City 19-0 in the annual classic, thus deciding the city championship for Central.

The first thing that entered the minds of the jolly juniors when we returned in September, 1928, was the carnival. With the indispensable co-operation of the class officers, Frank Bradford, George McCarty, Maude Smith, and Dorothea Hart, our carnival ended an eventful day with a victory over Baylor's football team.

Again in the great annual event of the City-Central game we supported the team and watched Petersen's Purple Plowmen pulverize the undefeated "iron men" of City High, 7-0. It was thrilling to get another city championship! The next thing was our annual play. We chose You and I, which really was a delightful production, featuring the unusual acting ability of Dorothea Hart, Vann Meador, Flora Taylor, and Ford Peters.

To end this successful year we had the annual banquet at the Read House for the seniors. We worked hard through these last days, and were ready for a well deserved vacation.

September again! This seemed too good to be true! At the election, Frank Bradford was unanimously chosen Senior Class president. Other officers were: George McCarty, Maude Smith, and Hugh Conner. Whelan Palmer was elected editor-in-chief of the Champion, while Vann Meador was the class' choice for business manager.

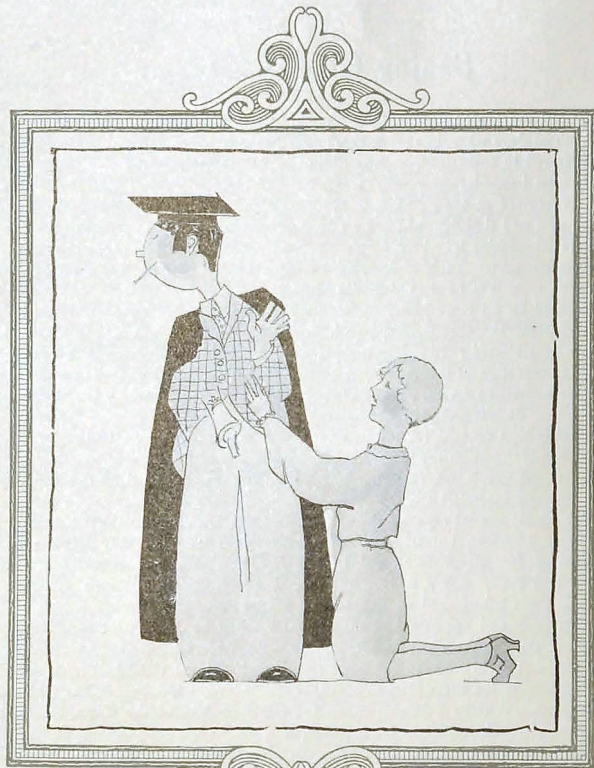

Midsummer Night's Dream, the Shakespearean play presented by the class, was an unusual success. The leading roles were taken by Wilma Planzer, Whelan Palmer, Maude Smith, Ford Peters, Emily Ann Hudson, John Harris, Troy Killingsworth.

The athletic record for the senior year has not been a disappointment. The scenes of many great victories linger with our men who have followed through many struggles. Not least among these was that great triumph over City with a score of 19-0.

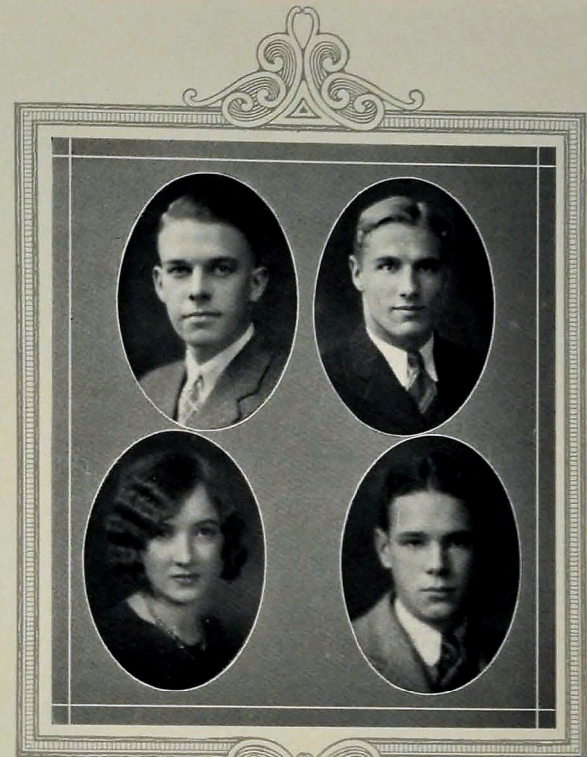

The rest of the year was packed, with work interspersed with fun and happy associations. With regret we left our Alma Mater, who gave to us so much in her high ideals and splendid spirit, which, like a priceless torch, we have carried on into the world that is ours.

*No matter where we are,
No matter what we do,
Our school will be our guiding star,
To it we will be true.
As we leave our books and studies,
And school days for us have gone,
As we leave classes and our "buddies,"
May we ever strive to "carry on."*

JUNIOR CLASS HISTORY

CARRY ON! Carry on! Three years ago the Class of 1930 first heard this cry and obeyed it.

Early in the fall of 1926, a large group of Freshmen met for the first time in the old study hall, where the boys and girls who were to be classmates for four years listened to the welcoming words of Mr. S. E. Nelson, principal of the high school. The annex to the building was added that autumn and the students attended school only half time. Despite this handicap, however, officers were elected and the class started on the road that leads to the senior year. His classmates chose Wilbur Petersen, a product of East Side Junior High School, to lead them on their march. Wilbur's assistants were John Starr, vice-president; Ernest Horton, secretary; and Buford McGhee, treasurer.

The first social event of the high school career was the party given annually by the Sophomores in honor of the Freshmen. At this entertainment, the officers of the Freshman Class were initiated in a most unique way by their hosts.

The Freshman girls excelled in athletics that year and carried off the silver loving cup given to the best all-around class in gymnastic work. Certain of the first-year students also showed promise in music, athletics, dramatics and writing.

The second year, when the one-time Freshmen returned to school as full-fledged Sophomores, Robert Baker was elected president with Wilbur Petersen, John Martin and Hortense Byrd as his fellow officers. By this time, there were so many Sophomores that they were forced to give the usual Freshman-Sophomore party without any Freshmen—a fact regretted by all concerned. Members of the class continued to show skill in the various activities of the school. During the year, there were Sophomores on the athletic teams, in the Glee Club, in the plays and on the school paper.

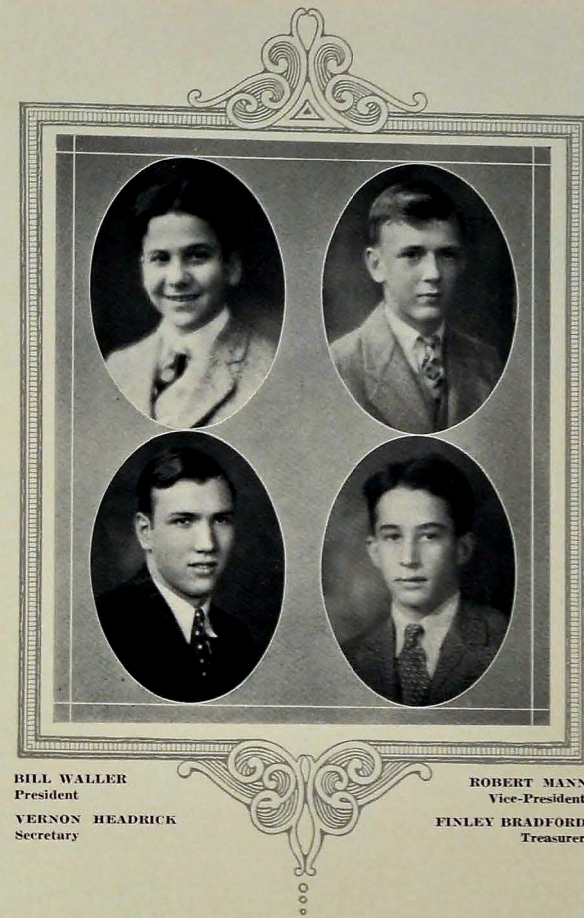

The next year, as Juniors, the class again chose Robert Baker president and Wilbur Petersen vice-president, with Gladys Roberts secretary and Harold Bennett treasurer. As usual, many of those who had enrolled in 1926 dropped out in the course of the years, and a few entered from other schools.

The Class of 1930 did not have the traditional Junior Carnival. After careful thought and heated discussion, it was decided that the student body had become too unwieldy for such an entertainment. The Junior Play was given, however. A Letter-girls Club was formed in 1928 and all charter members were Juniors. Juniors starred that year in almost every type of work. The year ended with the Junior-Senior banquet which left the class looking forward anxiously to the senior year at Central.

Sophomore Class History

MONG the histories of classes from Central High School, no doubt that of the Class of 1931 will go down as one worthy of mention.

Although only two years of age, according to the Central reckoning, we already feel much older, for these two years have been filled to overflowing with happy surprises, grave disappointments, and rich though sometimes bitter experiences.

Among these experiences, none has been more valuable than that of learning to place a proper estimate on ourselves. In the year previous, as eighth graders in the grammar schools, we had come to feel too much our importance among those of the lower grades. What a change we faced when we found ourselves suddenly removed from this place of self-importance to one of such evident insignificance.

After we had somewhat recovered from that dazed period, stunned by various knocks, we began to find ourselves, when one day it was announced that there was to be a class meeting. It hardly seemed possible for order to come out of such a state of confusion as was this body of freshmen assembled in the auditorium. The result was wonderful, for soon out of this chaos of about four hundred freshmen came an organized body with Bill Waller as president; Brown Blakely as vice-president; Ida Wee Mabry, secretary; Corrine Mayer, treasurer. With these at the helm, our first year was fairly successful.

This class was active and won representation on athletic teams, in the Glee Club, Orchestra, and other school organizations.

As with a "hop, skip, and jump," the freshman year passed. Almost before the class realized it, not only had commencement taken place, but vacation had come and gone, and here we were in Central again, and now sophomores. We had lost some members, but on the other hand had been reinforced with some good material from the junior high schools.

This year our class met with more system and enthusiasm. We were soon organized again, with the election of Bill Waller as president for a second time; Robert Mann, vice-president; Finley Bradford, treasurer; Vernon Headrick, secretary.

During the past year the Class of '31, without any particular outburst of brilliance, has taken its part steadily and in increasing numbers in all school activities. With the flight of another year this class will be the Junior Class. The outlook for the two coming years is bright. May we with renewed loyalty and increasing enthusiasm uphold the high standards of the school we love.

WILLIAM McCARTY.

Freshman Class History

ON THE seventh of September, 1928, about three hundred timid boys and girls gazed bashfully about as they crossed the threshold of Central High School.

The spirit of superiority brought with us from our grammar school graduation was soon silenced when we met in the hall sedate juniors and dignified seniors.

We very soon realized that our record was yet to be made, and that the only possible way of "gaining recognition" was through honest, conscientious work.

The first weeks were hard ones. We had to adjust ourselves to surroundings with both people and studies new and different. Soon after discouragements of the first few weeks were overcome we began to enter into many organizations and to discover the leaders among our class.

W. T. Bales, a prominent young student, although the smallest boy of the class, defeated several other fellow students in a race for class president. John Slack was elected vice-president. Other officers elected were: Malvin Garmany, secretary; Mattie Evelyn Peart, treasurer; Alvin Bankston and Henry Bouse, cheer leaders.

Talent in the class was not slow in displaying itself. Some found opportunity to show their ability in dramatic art, when one morning an English class gave in chapel a dramatization of a part of Silas Marner. Very soon other rather unexpected ability became noticeable when our class woke up one morning to find some of her members taking places on the Digest and Champion staffs—places heretofore not filled by freshmen.

Those interested in editing work were James Irvine, Frank Gardner, Alvin Bankston, W. T. Bales.

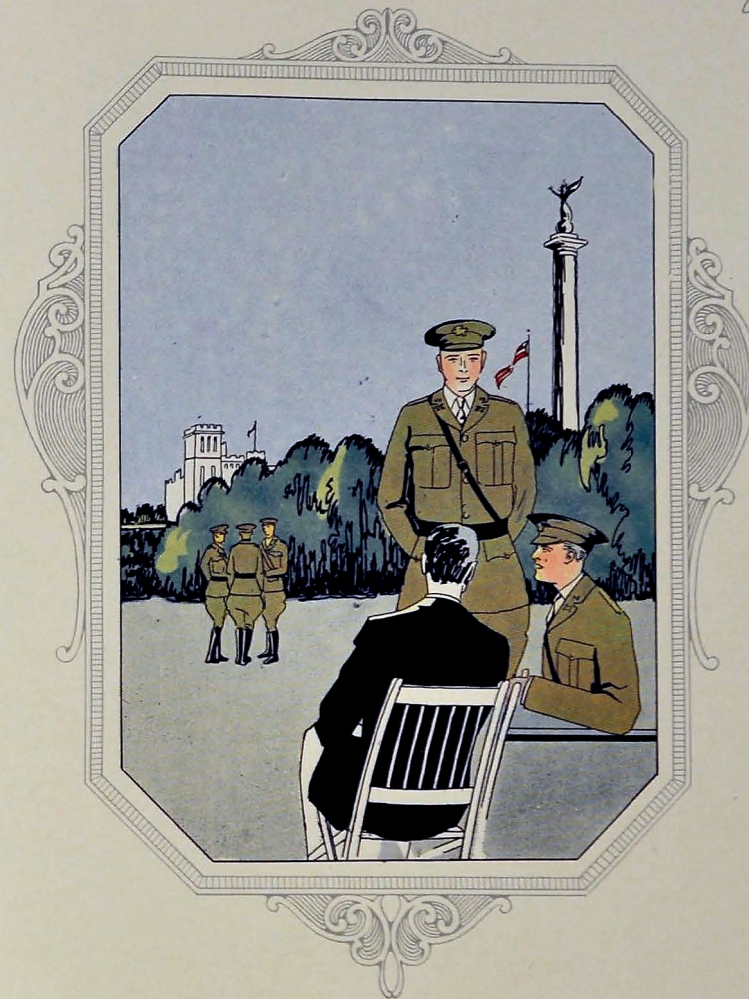

Freshman boys and girls have shown unusual interest in athletics. A freshman team has been organized by the boys most interested in football, with the hope that they will be good football players in later years. The girls made a splendid record in volley ball.

As a Freshman Class it is our purpose not only to live up to the high standards set by former classes, but to take a step ahead and win new laurels for our Alma Mater.

MARY IRWIN.

CAPTAIN HOMER KEY.....Halfback

"Satchel" Weight, 140 pounds.
No better or more respected leader could have been found to march at the head of a victorious Central team, than "Satchel" Key. He has won the honor of being chosen on the All-City team for three years. Key's fame as the finest of football men has spread abroad.

EX-CAPTAIN HERMAN UNDERWOOD.....Center

"Jug" Weight, 185 pounds.
Nothing too good can be said about "Jug." This was his second year on the All-City team. As he leaves Central the respect and appreciation of his Alma Mater follow him.

WILBUR PETERSEN.....Fullback

"Lydia" Weight, 155 pounds.
Peterson's playing is a joy to the coaches. This was "Lydia's" first year on the All-City, but second year on the Central team. In the next two years brilliant playing is expected of him.

FRANK BRADFORD.....End

"Wind." Weight, 156 pounds.
Bradford was one of the outstanding players on this year's team. He was not only one of the best ends Central has ever had, but is also one of the best liked boys in Central. As this is Bradford's last year Central will miss this "All-City" player very much next season.

ALTERNATE CAPTAIN DONALD JONES.....Tackle

"Bully Boy" Weight, 180 pounds.
Jones is not "just another man." He is in a class all his own. He is outstanding for his faithfulness. This was "Bully Boy's" second year on the All-City team. Through his graduation this year, Central loses one of her cleanest and most popular players.

JOHNIE WALLER.....Quarterback

"Jap-Head" Weight, 156 pounds.
Waller's accomplishments speak more convincingly for him than any discourses on his ability. He has done much toward making Central's team a winning one.

H. SMITH

HOWARD SMITH.....Halfback

"Izzy" Weight, 158 pounds.
Cool thinking has been characteristic of "Izzy's" splendid performances. Smith is a favorite in almost any game. His power is waxing and will be needed another season.

JOHN SEAGLE.....Guard

"Tramp" Weight, 158 pounds.
Seagle has served well and in a pinch has never been found missing. "Tramp" has been on the bottom in plays where his best work was done with no eyes to reward him. The place he leaves will be hard to fill.

OWEN BARNES.....Tackle

"Emma" Weight, 160 pounds.
This year found Barnes just as good as ever. To know Barnes is to like him. In his quiet way he has done much toward helping Central win her laurels.

CHESTER UNDERWOOD.....End

"C" Weight, 155 pounds.
It was the past year that brought Underwood to the real test and proved his power as an end man. Central has not only had the good fortune to have him on her team this year, but she has a brighter outlook for next year from the fact that he is to return.

VERNON HEADRICK.....Guard

"Lady's Man" Weight, 180 pounds.
Headrick was one of that mighty line, who gave everything he had every minute he was in the game. Central looks forward to another great year for him.

HOWARD HAMMOND.....Guard

"Didley" Weight, 152 pounds.
In every hard, tough game fought this year "Didley" has been there giving his best, like many others whose work is done beneath the surface. This is Hammond's last year and Central regrets the loss of such a valuable man.

HEADRICK

R. SMITH

CLINGAN

McCLANAHAN

FRENCH McCLANAHAN.....Guard
"Mac"

Mac is a man who was ready when the call came. When a substitute was needed in the center of the line, Coach knew that he could use McCLANAHAN and not weaken the line in the least. McCLANAHAN leaves a yawning gap in Central's line.

BONDS GARMANY.....Halfback
"Red"

Garmany is a man who deserves much credit for his work on the team. Variety of attack netted for Central steady gains at his hands, while, whenever yardage was needed, "Red" supplied it. Since "Red" is one of the fastest football men in the city his absence from the team for the 1929 season will be keenly felt.

LAWRENCE CLINGAN.....Center
Weight, 165 pounds

When the veteran "Jug" needed rest Clingan was there to give his best for the Purple. Clingan has proved to be a good fighter and Central will welcome his return in the fall.

JAMES McCLURE.....Back
"Jiggs"

McClure, like Smith, was awarded his letter for faithfulness. "Jiggs" McClure was one of Coach Bales' grass-cutter stars for four years.

RICHARD SMITH.....Back
"Little Izzy"

"Little Izzy" was awarded his letter for his faithfulness. He has not missed a practice session in four years, which is an unusual record. Smith was a valuable substitute.

RALPH OLINGER.....Tackle
"Ollie"

This was "Ollie's" first year on the team. Olinger with his ability and willingness has furnished strong backing for the team. He lacks only experience which Central can give in due time.

GARMANY

CARL HAMMOND

"BILL" WALLER.....Water-boy
Bill was the "water-boy" for the team and he played an important part at every game.

MITCHELL AUSTIN.....Manager
Mitchell was manager of the "Central Eleven." He was an ever-ready man and served the boys well. A good team needs a good manager, so Mitchell and the fighting Purple team were well-matched. This is his last year at Central and the team wishes that his experience here will serve him well as he passes out into life.

CHARLES JACKSON.....Cheer Leader
Charles Jackson, as cheer leader at Central for the past three years has meant much to the team as well as the student body.

CHARLES ENGERS.....End
Weight, 140 pounds

Charlie was one of the smallest men on the team and is a hard fighter and sure tackler. Great things are expected of him next year.

HARRISON WEEKS.....Quarterback
"Weak Spot"

Although Weeks hails from Baylor, he now possesses that Central spirit. He is a good signal caller. To the Coaches' delight, Weeks has two more years on the team.

LEWIS KELLY.....Fullback
"Side-arm"

Kelly was not a regular this year, but when he entered the game he always had that Central spirit. Kelly will be back next season. Kelly was in most of the games.

CARL HAMMOND.....End
"Mut"

"Mut" was a regular until he hurt his hip and was out of practice for three weeks. Hammond was one of the best pass receivers on the team. In giving up Hammond, Central will lose a hard and scrappy fighter.

Review of the Season

Another banner year in Central's football history! For the third consecutive year she has won the city championship. During the past season the team was never defeated and was tied only once. From Central's squad five men were chosen for the All-City Team, Key, H. Underwood, Jones, Bradford, and Petersen.

During the entire season there has been shown a splendid spirit of clean sportsmanship and excellent co-operation among players and coaches.

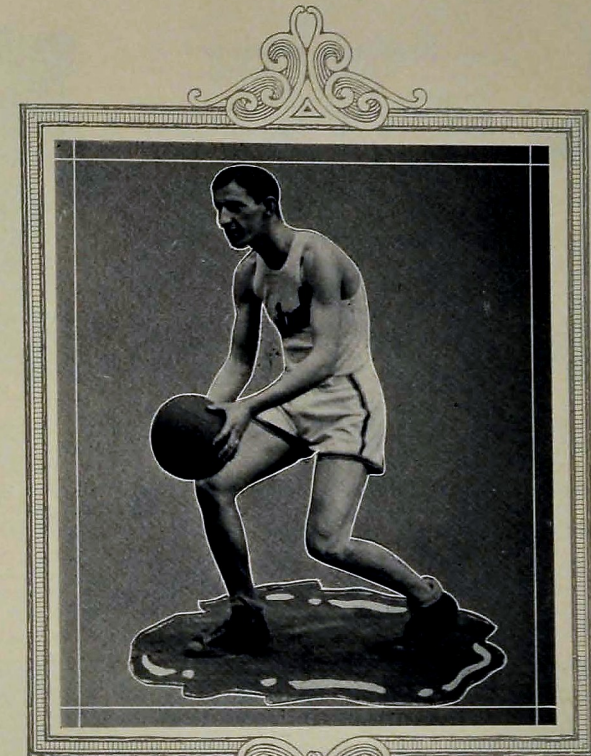

Homer Key, captain of the team, is a football man of distinction. His record in the Central backfield is an enviable one. No one man has more star plays to his credit than Key. Donald Jones, alternate captain, has been a tower of strength in Central's line.

No account relating to Central's athletics is complete without an appreciation of her splendid coaching staff. Coaches Petersen, Bales and Lewis are all men with excellent records in athletics. They have proved their ability as trainers in the teams that they have sent out. No prep school in the South can boast of three more efficient coaches.

Season's Review

BRADFORD

Central needs no herald to sound her glories abroad. Her trophy case, filled almost to the limit of its capacity, together with unsurpassed records of the students speaks more eloquently than words for a school that wins.

Among the trophies added during the year of 1928-'29, there is one which took a unique place—the first of its kind ever won by a Chattanooga school.

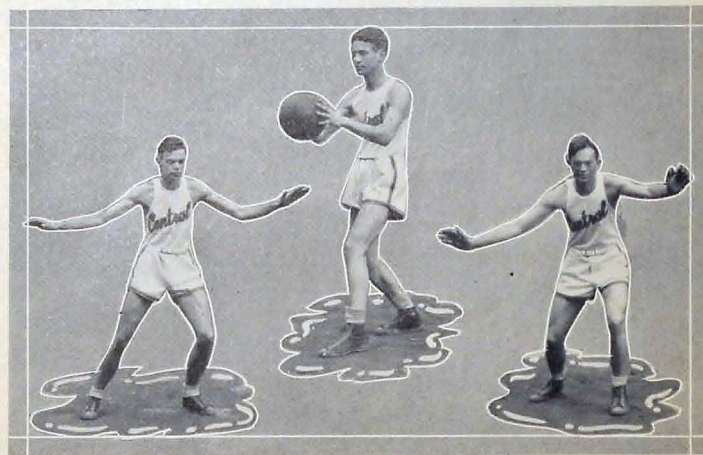

From February the twenty-eighth to March the third there was held in Chattanooga for the second time, the Dixie Interscholastic Tournament. Never in the history of basketball in Chattanooga has any team so crowned herself with glory as did the Central cagers to whom was awarded the distinction of being the best basketball team in the South. "Each man in his place and every man on his job" brought out of this tournament one of the most spectacular victories that any team has ever won for the Purple and Gold. As the final contest drew to a close, basketball enthusiasts gave expression to the wildest excitement when the scoreboard told the tale of 52-35 in favor of Central over Riverside Military Academy.

This team of 1929 has already gone down in Central's hall of fame. The record of this splendid group was not won in a single night. The topmost rounds of the ladder, where the team ascended were not reached by a single bound, but were mounted round by round. Through many weeks of strenuous training and hard practice this team attained a skill in the game unsurpassed by any competitor.

This line-up with Carl Hammond, captain; Howard Hammond, guard; Frank Bradford, forward; Ralph Olinger, center; Harold Bennett, forward; constitutes a team on whom, no doubt, many schools of the South cast envious eyes. At the beginning of the second semester Central lost a strong man in Homer Key, who entered the University of Chattanooga. Donald Jones, who proved himself a valuable asset to the team, entered too late for his picture to be included in the group.

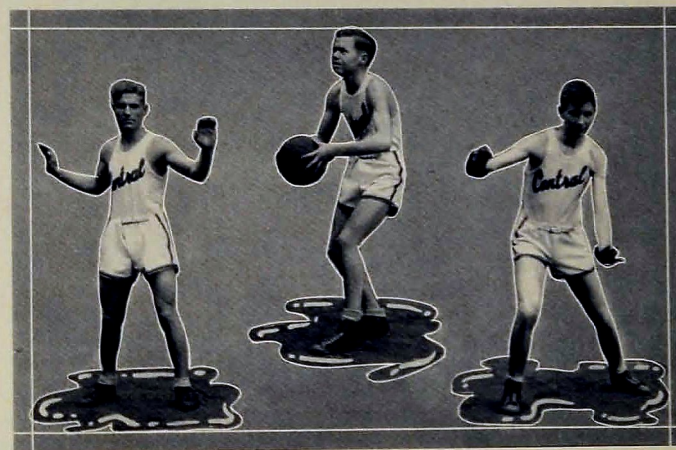

Aside from the fact that Central's five took first place, three members, Carl Hammond, Howard Hammond and Frank Bradford, were given the additional recognition of places on the All-Dixie team. Again Central surpassed, since no other school had as many as two men chosen for this selected team. Besides these honors, which are of the highest rank, five of Central's men were given places on the All-City team. These were as follows: Frank Bradford, forward; Harold Bennett, forward; Ralph Olinger, center; Howard Hammond, guard; Carl Hammond, guard.

To no one individual but to the excellent co-operation of the team and the superior training of Coach Bales is due the credit for this exceptional record.

Central won the Tennessee Interscholastic Basketball Tournament held at Nashville during the week of March 4. This makes three championships for the Purple and Gold Hurricane this season: Chattanooga Prep, Tennessee Interscholastic, and Dixie.

HOME ECONOMIC CLASSES

Central's Home Economics Department

HE school of today, so different from that of former times, is the place where the boy or girl is given an opportunity to fit himself for life. If this is true, certainly no school is complete without that department which trains her girls to be skillful home-makers.

Since it has become an accepted fact that home-making is not merely a responsibility but an art, more attention has been given to this department of our schools.

Central's Home Economics Department, with its splendid equipment and efficient faculty, is her pride.

The course offered here tends to give not only a real appreciation of the problems involved in making and regulating a home, but also offers solutions to these problems. Here the girls are taught selection, preparation, and serving of foods. They study textiles, selection and making of clothing, home furnishings, child care, home nursing, community welfare, and the principles of home management.

In order to give the public some idea of what the girls have accomplished in this department, a display of the work is made at the exhibitions given at the end of each semester.

Every year the girls are allowed to enter their work at the fair to compete for prizes. Each time Central has won her share of the awards. For two successive years Central has received over half the prizes given for work done in the Home Economics departments of the county schools.

It might be of interest to recall the names of some of the girls who had special recognition during the past year.

At the Hamilton County Fair first places were taken by the following girls: Irene Marshall, wholewheat bread; Frances Martin, raisin bread; Louise Thornton, wholewheat muffins; Addie Meroney, beaten biscuits; Maude Smith, baking powder biscuits; Nancy Taylor, sponge cake; Lydia Cartland, angel cake; Josephine Davidson, nut candy; Ethelyn Harris, embroidered handkerchief and applique handkerchief; Velvo Graham, kimono, infant's dress; Minnie Yarbrough, cotton dress; Leona Park, nightgown.

On field day, for the best made dress, Maude Smith won first place; Catherine Flegal, second, while Marguerite Whitaker took third place.

The recognition of this department has not been confined to cooking and sewing alone, for when the Young Furniture Company offered a prize for the best essay on the Kitchen Maid Cabinet, the first prize was awarded to Anita Barnes.

Operetta

HE CRIMSON STAR," the annual musical production of Varsity Glee Club, assisted by a chorus, reflected exceptional credit upon the amateurs.

Lascenia, the setting for the operetta, is a mystical Irish kingdom in which there is much dissension. The intriguing plot is woven around the fact that King Frederick promises the kingship to whoever is able to find his daughter, who for eighteen years he has thought to have been drowned, but he has just learned she is still alive.

Borah, the villainous nephew of the king, in an effort to block Leo's chance of the kingship, remembers that Greta, the foster daughter of Delia, resembles the last daughter of the king. With the aid of his sister, Gilly, he resolves to pass Greta off as the princess. O'Toole, an American gun slot salesman, complicates the plot when Borah's spies understand him to say "gun shot" machine, and places them around the square to quell any riot.

However, when Greta is presented at the king's ball, it is a failure, and Leo tries to tell the king that he is being tricked, but the king proves that she is the last daughter when he lifts the lace and reveals a "Crimson Star" on her shoulder.

Borah then conspires with one of the underlings to abduct Greta. His scheme is to throw the blame on Leo and O'Toole. Greta disappears; Borah seditiously sends a letter to the king, saying that she will be returned if Leo is forced to marry Gilly. Leo, in a last attempt, makes a last search for Greta, but return in vain to marry Gilly.

Suddenly, in the midst of the wedding ceremony, Gilly is snatched from Leo's arm, the rightful Greta takes her place, and the marriage proceeds happily.

Leading roles were taken by Flora Mae Pack, Wilma Planzer, Charlyne Rains, Whelan Palmer, Edward Morgan, Ford Peters, Vann Meador, and Mabelle Stinson.

Minstrel

The fourteenth annual Central High School minstrel was presented on Friday night, February the eighth, under the direction of Mr. Hunt and Miss Rupp.

The setting was cleverly worked out by using the gray drop curtain as a background.

When the curtain rose, a chorus of forty appeared on the stage. The opening song was, Look Who's Here. The latest hits in popular music were sung by the chorus, soloists, and the male quartet. The music was interspersed with good minstrel jokes. The part of interlocutor was taken by Vann Meador. The end men were George McCarty, Howard Smith, Philip Lickenstetter, Troy Killingsworth, Frank Smith, Ford Peters, Whelan Palmer, and Edward Morgan, the latter four being members of the quartet as well.

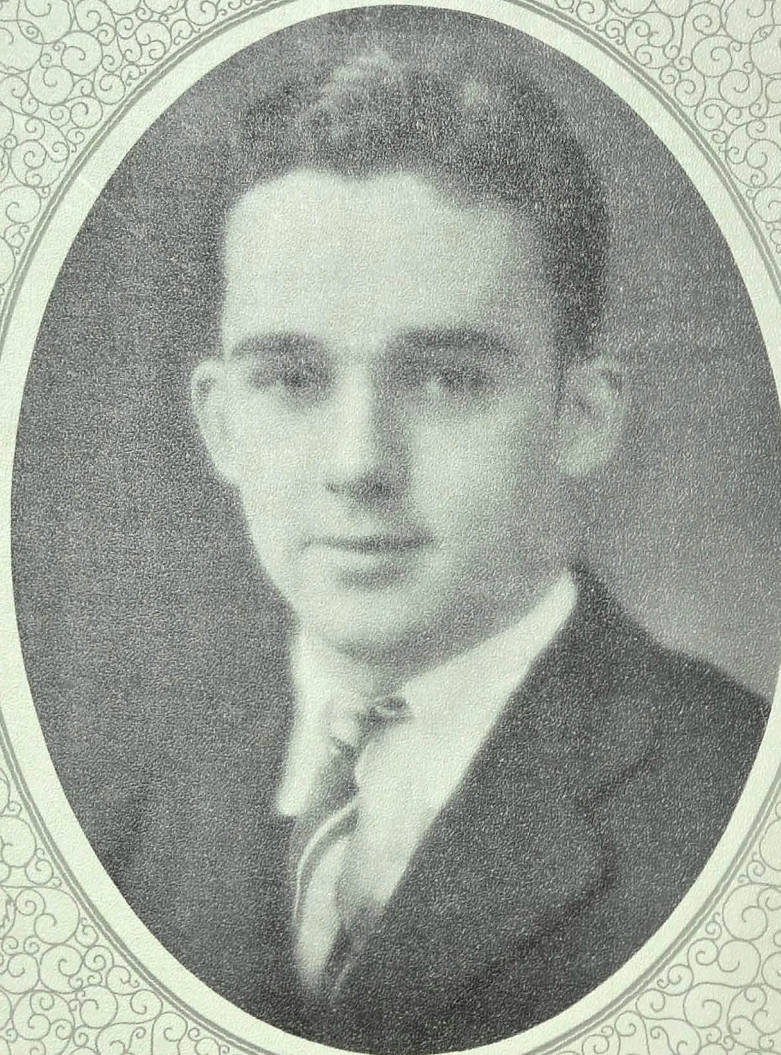

An added attraction was the Campus Cats Jazz Orchestra, composed of twelve members. The orchestra remained on the stage all during the evening, along with twenty chorus girls, who formed a semicircle between the end men and the interlocutor.

After the minstrel came a good afterpiece and vaudeville acts, including a group of girls of the gym classes.

This minstrel was one of the biggest successes ever known at Central. It showed expertness in management and unusual ability.

The New Library

The new library is an addition which answers a long felt need in Central High School. It is not only a retreat for the student who seeks companionship in books, but it is an aid to him in his various studies.

The first library at Central was located in the present office of the principal. Later it was removed to the small room at the south end of the second-floor corridor. There it remained until the year of 1928-'29. At that time the old study hall was remodeled into a library which is a credit to Central.

The furnishings of the new library were personally selected by Mrs. H. R. Lacey, chairman of the Board of Education of Hamilton County. She has chosen wisely for the color scheme is very beautiful and effective. The walls, the book-cases, the tables, and the chairs are a golden oak, while the floor is covered with battleship gray linoleum.

The old library contained reference books for the different departments of studies with a few books of fiction. Our present library contains a choice selection of books, numbering almost three thousand.

The organization of the library has been skillfully worked out by the librarian, Miss Mary Wene Atkinson. The Dewey Decimal System of classification is used.

The student body has given evidence of a genuine gratitude and appreciation for this library by an almost constant use of it since its opening day.

"In essentials, unity; in non-essentials, liberty; in all things, charity."

The Central High School Parent Teacher Association was organized March 5, 1927.

Its objects are: to study problems of child welfare; to promote training for parenthood; to advance the interest of education; to bring into closer relation the home and the school; to develop co-operation between teachers and parents.

It is a volunteer organization in which parents and teachers learn to work together in a relationship of equality. The development of an informed public opinion regarding education requires a democratic form of organization, free from control or domination, by an individual or group.

MRS. GEORGE L. ROUS,
President

FOUR THINGS

*Four things a man must learn to do
If he would make a record true:
To think without confusion clearly;
To love his fellow men sincerely;
To act with honest motives purely;
To trust in God and Heaven securely.*
